With the Council

Student Wives To See Sports Events for $1, SC Proposes

A recommendation that married student's wives or husbands be permitted to attend athletic contests for the same admission as high school students and servicemen ($1 a game) was passed last night by the Student Council.

The recommendation, instigated by Newton Anderson, will be sent to the Athletic council. Anderson said that the current price of a season ticket for married student's wives or husbands, $18, keeps many persons from attending games.

The Council also altered a former recommendation for an athletic holiday after the football game with Kansas university to be only if K-State wins the game. If the Wildcats lose, the council voted the holiday should be added to Christmas vacation.

Anderson also said that traffic immediately south of Anderson hall was getting out of hand and required attention. He said that since Harry Moris had retired, a lack of traffic direction has left both pedestrians and motorists confused.

It was the general opinion of the council, however, that the problem should be forwarded to the traffic control board.

Bill Johnson was elected

Positions Open On SU Group

Applications for positions on four subcommittees of the K-State Union games committee are now being received, Pete Patchin, committee chairman, has announced. He said approximately 10 positions are still vacant on the four subcommittees.

Persons wishing to apply may do so in A 203 anytime before Friday. Interviews will follow next week.

vice-chairman of the council to replace Mackie Murphy, who resigned last night. Murphy will continue to serve the Engineering representative until November 17. Murphy is the fourth member of the council to resign this year. He offered no reasons for his resignation. A request for interpretation of Student Activities Board jurisdiction was sent to the Tribunal by the Council. In a report accepted by the council last week, it was stated that the board had jurisdiction to "periodically review organizations on the campus; to approve new organizations; and to approve special events and fundraising projects."

Betton To Add Seven Players For Sat. Dance

Seven former members of Matt Betton's band will be playing with him Saturday night at the Homecoming ball in addition to his regular band members.

Betton is going to play several special homecoming arrangements by Ray Anthony at the Homecoming ball.

Betton himself wrote a special number called "Tucan" which will be played for the first time at the Homecoming ball.

Also featured at the dance will be a dixie-land group, a small combo featuring a vibraharp, and a vocal trio.

The dance starts at 9 p.m. and closes at 12 midnight and will be in the Ahearn Field House gymnasium.

Highlight of the dance will be presentation of the queen and her attendants. The queen will be crowned by Martin Eby, president of Blue Key, a senior men's honorary, which is sponsoring the Homecoming ball.

Tickets for the dance are $2 a couple and will be on sale Thursday and Friday in Anderson hall and at the door Saturday night.

KS Directories Ready in K 205

The 1955-56 student directories are available today until 4 p.m., and Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in K 105.

Students must show their activity tickets to obtain a directory.

Draft Quiz Deadline Set For Nov. 2

Deadline for applications to take the Selective Service college qualification test to be given November 17 is midnight Wednesday, November 2. A similar test will be given on April 19, 1956.

Test scores will not guarantee draft deferment for a student, but will provide the local boards with evidence of his aptitude for continued college work.

Application material is available only at local draft boards, and the written applications must be submitted by mail to: Selective Service Testing Section of Science Research Associates, Chicago, Illinois.

FROG CLUB members Ann Burton, PEW Sr, Jean Althaus, EEd Soph, and Ann Cook, Bot Soph, practice swimming at the Frog Club meeting in Nichols gym last night.

Board Studies New Union Charge List

By DON KENDALL
Of the Collegian Staff

A revised list of charges for use of the new Union was submitted for the Union Governing Board's consideration last night by Loren Kottner, Union director.

Under the revised plan, Union patrons would be divided into four categories—(1) student and College-affiliated conferences and meetings; (2) students; (3) College-affiliated groups, and (4) outside groups.

Previously, Kottner had suggested only three categories—students, college-affiliated, and outside. But at last week's meeting controversy rose as to which categories various groups would belong.

Under the revised plan any group, whether student, faculty, or off-campus, which has been sent a College invitation may use the Union for a conference or meeting at about one-third of what it would cost under the previous plan.

For example, according to the revised plan, under the heading of "students and College-affiliated conferences and meetings," and student, faculty, or College-invited off-campus group may use the main ballroom for $15 plus a 10-cent-a-person-a-day conference fee.

If a student group, a fraternity for example, wanted to have a dance in the ballroom, it would have to pay a $50 fee since it would come under the No. 2 or "students" category.

If a faculty group wanted to have a dance, it would come under the No. 3 or "College-affiliated" category and would have to pay $60. An outside group—category No. 4—would have to pay $75 to schedule a dance in the main ballroom. The reduced rate would apply only to conferences and meetings.

Kottner said the approximately one-third cut found in the new rate category is possible because of the increased volume of business a reduction in rates would bring. He said K-State's Union could then compete favorably with KU's union and other conference sites in the territory.

German Movie In J 15 Today

"Eroica," second in a series of movies sponsored by the department of modern languages, will be shown today and Wednesday at 4 p.m. in J 15, Manuel D. Ramirez, assistant professor of modern languages, said.

"Eroica" is a 90-minute German film based on Beethoven's life. The film uses his music for background. The dialogue is in German but English sub-titles will be used.

Interviews Show

Queen Finalists Active in Many Campus Groups

By ROYANNE McMULLEN

The five Homecoming queen finalists have a variety of curriculums and show interest in many campus activities.

A short interview with each girl brought out these facts:

MARJORIE BADEKER, a junior from Overland Park, is majoring in home economics with a specialization in household economics. Since her recent pinning, she doesn't know exactly what she plans to do in the future but she definitely wants to finish school. Marjorie is 5 feet, 2 inches with brown hair and eyes. She transferred here last year from the University of Colorado where she was affiliated with the Alpha Phi sorority. Her campus activities include secretary of Chimes, the junior women's honorary, member of Union Governing board, recording secretary of Student Council, Royal Purple business staff, and counselor at Northwest hall.

BECKY CULPEPPER, a 5-foot, 7-inch brunette with hazel eyes, is a representative of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is a sophomore in elementary education. Swimming and golf are her hobbies, and she likes football better than any other group because of the atmosphere at the game. Beck is a Kansas City, Mo., girl, plans to be a kindergarten teacher after graduation. Her campus activities include Future Teachers of America, Panhellenic, English club, and games committee of student union.

JEAN COOPER, a sophomore in medical technology is from Wichita. She is 5 feet, 3 inches with brown hair and brown eyes. She plans to finish college spending her last year at the Kansas university medical center in Kansas City. Her main interests are music and sports, including spectator sports and those she can participate in. She hopes to become an excellent swimmer and tennis player. Jean, representing Pi Beta Phi, is a member of the music, art, and library committee of the student union, a member of the Methodist church group, and a cheerleader.

ALICE SCHULZE, representing Northwest hall, is majoring in home economics and extension. She wants to be a home demonstration agent after graduation. Alice is 5 feet, 2 inches and has blond hair and blue eyes. Her hobbies are sketching and watching music productions. She hopes to go abroad someday to study social studies. She is kept busy representing her church group to Religious Coordinating council, a member of Relations with High Schools and Junior Colleges committee, associated Women's Steering committee, K-State Players, Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship, and a counselor at Northwest hall. She is a senior from Independence.

GAIL COMPTON, the freshman finalist, is representing Southeast hall. She is a speech major with a specialization in radio and TV. Her hometown is Kansas City, Mo. A pledge of Chi Omega, she is 5 feet, 6 inches tall with green eyes and blond hair. She is a member of YWCA and shows her interest in music through a 15-minute singing program aired by KSDB-FM.

Say Murph, That Council Sure Is Greek, Isn't It?

Open letter to Mackie Murphy.

Dear Murph,

Well, you were the fifth fatality of the Student Council this year. Your case was somewhat different than the other four, however. There was no doubt about your scholastic standing, and your other activities weren't interfering too much. It seems to me that because of its own operations, the council lost one of its best members. It sounds like you just got fed up.

You did a swell job when you were acting chairman of a couple of meetings, but then I guess you found out that the old system of student wrangling and inefficiency just couldn't be changed. Well, Murph, it's been that way ever since the "representatives" decided to use the council position as just another activity to tack behind their names.

It was kind of amusing to listen as the council decided who would replace you as vice-chairman. It took about 10 minutes to discuss the candidates' qualifications. These were persons all the council members knew.

It sure was a change from the usual committee appointment method, in which about 30 names are read of persons who ask for the appointment. Here the members don't seem to worry about qualifications other than whose friend, or sorority sister or fraternity brother the candidate is.

In this type of election, the members simply ask to hear the qualification of someone whose name they recognize out of the list. Sounded kind of odd didn't it—about 36 Greeks and 8 independents on the appointments? But then, I guess you found out; in this business it's dog eat dog. This year it was the Betas and Tri Deltas. They had more committee appointment than any other two groups.

Say, Murph, did you ever figure out how so many persons could talk so long about so little without accomplishing much.

Well, Murph, that's about it. Some persons say the Council offers training in organization, although there sure seems to be a lack of it. When you don't know what will happen at a meeting, it's hard to make an intelligent decision in a few minutes. And when you don't know how to accomplish something correctly, it just adds to the confusion. But then, some of them try—I guess.

Sure was sorry to see you go. It'll sure be different without you. The meetings will probably last an hour longer and achieve less.

West Approaches Geneva With Hypocritical View

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Washington—Hypocrisy is an ugly word. Yet it is really the only word that properly describes the Western governments' approach to the Geneva meeting of foreign ministers.

At no time since the Second World War has the gap been so startling between what the statesmen have been saying in public and what they have been saying among themselves. The public line, of course, is to be sweetly optimistic and so to encourage "the spirit of Geneva."

But in these last weeks, large gaggles of British, French, and American policymakers have been laboring to prepare for this meeting of Foreign Ministers, which is supposed to translate the "spirit of Geneva" into practical action. Secretary Dulles, British Foreign Minister MacMillan, and France's Antoine Pinay have met at length in New York. Their staffs have worked still longer and harder.

And what has been the theme of all these busy, almost fevered, conferences? As one highly placed but somewhat cynical conferee is reported to have remarked, the theme has been how to put the best face we can on the setbacks we have to expect.

There are three main points on the agenda of the Anglo-Franco-American negotiation with the Soviets—cultural exchanges between the East and West blocks, reunification of Germany, and disarmament. Cultural exchanges, no doubt, will afford a golden opportunity to show "the spirit of Geneva" at its best.

But on the two really substantive points, the outlook is a bit different. On Germany, for instance, Secretary Dulles recently predicted that the Soviets would be "forced" to let the two parts of the country come together again. At Geneva, the three Western Foreign Ministers are offering the Soviets a European security pact, guaranteed by all, if they will consent to German reunification with no strings attached.

In reality, however, the Soviets already have made it brutally clear that they have no intention whatever of permitting German reunification except with the bitter attached string of German abandonment of NATO.

On the disarmament question, meanwhile, the American policymakers have carried the new Madison Avenue diplomacy to what could prove to be a most dangerous extreme. The country and the world have been led to believe that the American government thinks disarmament will be easy, if only a sound inspection system can be worked out first.

But, in fact, disarmament will not be easy, even if the Soviets accept a copper-riveted inspection system. There is no agreed Anglo-Franco-American disarmament plan. There is not even an agreed American plan. There is a just a high-level study group, named by Harold Stassen, whose members are thrashing around and trying to find a plan.

Furthermore, the country is utterly unprepared for the profound and painful national choices that will have to be made if any serious American disarmament plan is to be offered. Our whole defense design is now built around the nuclear weapons, mainly for reasons of economy.

Any disarmament plan worthy of the name must surely include a prohibition on the use of nuclear weapons. But even if Stassen's high-level types recommend it, is this country really ready to toss Gen. Curtis LeMay into the nearest horse pond and begin the extremely costly job of building a new defense design from the ground up?

British Foreign Office experts have warned the State Department that the Soviets may call our bluff, saying in effect: "OK, we accept in principle your great President's air inspection scheme; so now let's get down to talking about the real object of this exercise, which is not inspection but actual disarmament."

If that happens when we in fact lack an agreed disarmament plan, the embarrassment will not be easy to conceal. Fortunately, it seems probable that the British are being over-apprehensive. But the fact remains that this whole Geneva business—the Summit meeting and its present sequel—begin to resemble nothing so much as the allegedly magical clothes ordered by the silly old king in the nursery story.

There were really no clothes at all. But, because the clothes were supposed to be magical, neither the king nor his couriers dared to say they did not see these glorious garments. So His Majesty went naked, and boasted of the beauty of his imaginary costume, until a child untrained in the ways of courts blurted out: "Why, the king has no clothes on."

Fag Flipping OK'd For All KS Offices

It's now okay to smoke in all campus building offices except wings housing the flour and feed milling department.

President McCain announced yesterday that rules and regulations sent to the Collegian for last Friday's publication should have read "All offices" instead of "all Faculty offices."

Buildings where smoking now is allowed only in offices are Anderson, Calvin, Fairchild, Engineering (old portion), Illustrations, Math, Vet hall, East Waters, Auditorium, Dickens, Shops, Holton, Kedzie, Nichols, Wareham annex, and the old portion of Chem Engineering.

Allowing of smoking in All offices is a good move. Now students may light up a fag without crowding into a Faculty member's office.

Students May Sign Up Today For HS Visits

Students interested in taking part in high school visitations sponsored by Blue Key and Mortar Board, senior honoraries, are to register at a booth in Anderson hall this week or in the Registrar's office, Bill Kennedy, chairman of the Blue Key visitation committee, said today.

During the visitation trips, students will be excused from classes and travel expenses will be paid.

The visitations are a part of the annual program sponsored by K-State and the two college honoraries. Usually two or more faculty and one or two students go on each visitation trip.

Purpose of the trips is to interest high school seniors in attending K-State. An attempt will be made to enable students on the visitation team to visit their own high schools, Kennedy said.

'Player of Week' Award To Rusher, Rainsberger

When asked to name a "Player of the Week," for play against Iowa State last Saturday, Coach Mertes said it would be hard to single out any one man. As a result he picked two men, Jim Rusher and Ellis Rainsberger, for the honor.

"It was the field goal by Rusher that won the game for us, but his play as defensive end and offensive blocker were more outstanding than the field goal," Mertes said.

Prior to the 29-yard field goal by Rusher, he had missed a 20-yard try in the first quarter and the point after touchdown attempt earlier in the third quarter. Jim was somewhat disgusted after the missed conversion, but when the pressure mounted on the Wildcats, he came through to put them ahead with a lead they never relinquished.

"Rainsberger was another Wildcat that played an outstanding game," Mertes said. "He was a continual thorn in the Cyclone attack and played 49 minutes of the game."

Rainsberger, the 205 pound tackle, intercepted one Cyclone pass, and knocked down another that would have gone for a long gain.

The interception came after Bob Whitehead had batted the ball away from a Cyclone receiver. Rainsberger gathered the pigskin in on the Iowa State 34 yard line and returned it to the 7 yard line before he was stopped.

The interception was one of four made by the Wildcats and came with five minutes remaining in the game. The Cyclones were never able to get a sustained drive going after that play.

OU Coach Sheds Tears Before Tilt with K-State

By UNITED PRESS

Oklahoma Football Coach Bud Wilkinson, generally elated about his team's 56-21 landslide victory over Colorado, found it a strain to muster copious tears over Saturdays approaching battle with Kansas State, but he was able to dab at his eyes with the crying towel for effect.

Wilkinson appeared at a meeting of the Oklahoma City Quarterback club to accept the cheers of alumni yesterday.

Wilkinson cast a fleeting shadow over the festivities with his gloomy prediction that the undefeated Sooners would have to continue to improve if they expect to play in the Orange Bowl.

He ventured the opinion that K-State would be "the best team we've seen all season."

Ted Youngling made things appear even worse when he told of his scouting experience at K-State as a "very dangerous" opponent because of aggressive line play and quick offensive thrusts off tackle.

K-Club Meeting Tonight at 7:30

A K-Club meeting has been scheduled for tonight in the K-room of Ahearn gymnasium at 7:30. Prior to the meetings of K-Club members, a meeting of the Scholastic Awards committee will be held at 7:00, Bob Mancuso, K-Club president announced.

Initiation for K-Club members who have not as yet been initiated into the club will be held prior to the 7:30 meeting.

Light Workout For Cat Squad

Coach Bus Mertes let his three top teams off with a light workout yesterday without pads and sent his reserves through a full speed scrimmage against the freshman squad, as the Wildcats started preparations for the Homecoming clash with the Oklahoma Sooners this Saturday.

Jon Walker, sophomore tackle, missed the workouts due to an ankle injury received in the Iowa State game. Jim Furey, Jim Rusher, and Doug Roether were out for practice but were slowed down because of injuries. Furey reinjured his shoulder, Rusher reinjured his right forearm, and Roether received a twisted knee in the Iowa State game. All are expected to be ready for action against Oklahoma, Coach Mertes said.

Funds Allotted; Group Is Gone

An apportionment of $6,300 for the Social and Recreational committee is going begging because the committee no longer exists, according to Gerry Day, chairman of the Apportionment Board.

The mixup began during the spring semester of 54-55 when the Apportionment Board requested $6,300 to pay for the activities of the Social and Recreational committee. The funds were intended to pay for recreational activities during the fall semester of 55-56.

The request was entered in a tentative budget prepared by last year's Apportionment Board for the fall semester of 55-56. Since the Social and Recreational committee was still operating at this time, the budget was approved as it stood.

Sometime during the summer, the Social and Recreational committee was replaced, in function, by the Union Program committee. This is where a problem began to appear since the Union Program committee receives its operating funds from the Union operating fees paid by students as part of their registration fee.

Loren Kottner, Director of the Student Union, had in the meantime prepared his budget for the fall semester of 55-56 from the approved form of the tentative budget prepared by the Apportionment Board. This form of the budget contained the $6,300 item intended for use by an organization that was suffering from a lack of future.

When the budget came up for final approval it was noted that funds were set aside for a non-existent organization. Naturally this item was deleted from the final form of the budget.

'Hawk Walk' To Precede KU Game

"Hawk Walk" will be the name of the next dance sponsored by the Union dance committee, to be held in Nichols gym Friday, November 4.

The committee announced that it will be a "send-off" dance for the game the following day with Kansas university. Decorations will be appropriate to the game.

Tramp Day On Campus This Friday

What will you look like after working on floats and house decorations Thursday night?

The whole campus will know Friday morning because the Homecoming committee is starting a new event called Tramp Day on which the appropriate dress is whatever you wore the night before while laboring on the final touches of house decorations.

Phil Robertson, chairman of the committee, announced that the Friday dress will be in effect all day and for the pep rally and Homecoming Eve dance Friday night.

"Most students will be so busy preparing for the Homecoming victory over Oklahoma, they won't have time to change clothes anyway," Robertson said.

The pep rally starts at 10 p.m. at the student parking lot and the dance will start about 10:30 or right after the rally.

"The dance, in Nichols gym, is a strictly stag affair," Robertson said, "and both boys and girls are encouraged to come without dates."

Another innovation this year is the printing of Homecoming schedules which include times and places for all the weekend activities.

The purple and white schedules are available in the Collegian boxes in Anderson and will be handed out at the game Saturday.

There are several errors on the schedule, however. The time of the student talent show is 8 p.m. rather than 7:30; there will be no student union tours; the Homecoming Ball starts at 9 p.m. instead of 8; and the Sock Hop will be the Homecoming Eve dance, which means no sock-hopping.

Tentative Plans Announced For Homecoming Parade

Scabbard and Blade Picks Honorary Cadet Officers

Scabbard and Blade met last night and selected six coeds for honorary cadet Lieutenant Colonels.

The six chosen were Joyce Rawlins, Alpha Chi Omega, Dixie Brown, Alpha Delta Pi, Marie Price, Chi Omega, Leann Riggs, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Connie Ehler, Pi Beta Phi, and Dottie Newton, Northwest.

Other candidates were Phyllis Evans, Alpha Xi Delta, Pat

Schnell, Clovia, Kathryn Regier, Delta Delta Delta, a Dixie Roberts, Kappa Delta, Helen Lutz, Southeast, Nancy Molter, Waltheim, and Mary Ellen Samuelson, Van Zile.

One of the six honorary cadet Lieutenant Colonels will be chosen as Queen of the Military Ball in the Spring semester. All six girls will be honored at the fall regimental review.

More than 50 entries will be in the Homecoming parade, announced Gene Porch, Hist Jr, chairman of the route and lineup committee. Tentative plans for the parade, which will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, were made known last night by Porch.

William Sikes, K-State's oldest alumni, is honorary parade marshal and Capt. Robert B. Tobias of the R.O.T.C. department is parade marshal.

Riding in a convertible will be Fred Hall, governor of Kansas; James A. McCain, College president; Nate D. Harwood, mayor of Manhattan; Gerry Day, student body president; and the five queen finalists.

Pershing Rifles color guard, fancy drill platoon, and marching drill platoon will lead the procession.

Marching bands from K-State, Manhattan high school, and Ft. Riley will appear. Ft. Riley is also sending two other units which will be announced later.

Twelve fraternities and sororities and Van Zile hall will enter floats. Seventeen campus clubs and organizations are planning to enter the parade. Two church groups—Wesley student foundation and the Lutheran Student's association—will have floats.

Other entries are two novelty cars, an old model and a miniature pontiac make. The Manhattan Round-Up club will have riders in the parade.

Campus pep clubs and cheerleaders will march with the parade as it moves from downtown Manhattan to Aggieville. The parade will organize on Humboldt street and will move from there along Poyntz avenue to Eleventh street. It will follow Moro street through Aggieville and will disband on the campus.

'Name's The Same' in New Student Directory

By LILA ORME
Of the Collegian Staff

Every student getting his new student directory usually checks first to see if the correct information follows his name, and in the 1955-56 directory, 66 people are going to be checking the name of Smith.

The usual great number of Smiths is followed by 62 Johnsons. Other names filling a good part of a page in the directory are Miller (40), and Jones (31).

People going strictly by the name might say there were a lot of birds around the campus. For instance, there is Drake, Falcon, Crain, Peacock, Wren, and three just plain Birds listed in the book.

Well-known names appearing in the book include John Alden, Walt Disney, John Dollar, Jack Dalton and James Stewart. Other well-known names are Godfrey and Goebel, but the first names happen to be Warren and James, rather than Arthur and George.

There are two Abbotts in the book and one Costello. To go with the two Abels, there are two Cains. There is a Converse but no Reverse, three by the name of Day but no Nights, although there is one Goodnight. There are two Doctors, but no Nurses, one Hammer but no Nails, one Guy but no Dolls, one Haymaker but no Harbaugh.

In the way of refreshment there is one Champagne and one Beer, which might be associated with Metz, Miller, Pabst, and Stout.

Anatomy-wise, the book includes such names as Chin, Head, Hair, Foote, Hand, Frame, Beard and Hart.

Students who have last names of a color seem to be numerous. For instance, there are 28 Browns, six Blacks, five Grays, eleven Greens and eight Whites.

There are at least seven U.S. presidents names appearing in the directory. These include Monroe, Jackson, Jefferson, Adams, Harding, Hoover and Wilson.

Along with the birds, there are also a few animals appearing in the book, such as Fish, Herring, Lamb, Trout, Fox, Hare, Seacat, and Salmon.

Occupations appear frequently in the book, such as Farmer, Shoemaker, Merchant, Doctor, Cook, Painter, Porter and Weaver.

Several poet's names appear in the directory, such as Browning, Coleridge and Collins, and the names of U.S. Army generals McArthur and Ridgeway are in the directory.

The directory also includes makes of cars, types of weapons, pieces of money and names of holidays. It's just all in a name.

The Big Question Facing Us— A Willard Hall Weathervane?

To the Editor:

A weathervane has been installed on the roof of Willard Hall. Again, students opinion on the question was not consulted. As a matter of fact, the vane did not even come to our attention until we happened to look up one day while we were walking past Willard Hall.

We are sure that 99 per cent of the majority (Huh?—Ed.) of the students will agree with us that the color and shape of this vane are totally displeasing to the vast majority of the students. But the students were not consulted.

The committee in charge of weathervanes has acted selfishly and undemocratically in choosing a vain merely on the basis of its performance and accuracy, and not even on the basis of esthetic satisfaction.

We, for one, feel that the old-fashioned heavy cast-iron vains were much more pleasing than this modern piece of tin, and although perhaps less accurate than the latter, the old type should have been used.

Furthermore, it should not have been placed in proximity of the whirling blades of the anemometer. (Again, Huh?—Ed.) which merely confuses the picture, and gives us headaches when we try to look at it.

This is another example of gross inefficiency and injustice on the part of a few who arbitrarily set themselves up as rulers, and do not consult the opinion of the students.

Raimo Bakis, Pys Gr.

To the Editor:

The writer who sets himself up as an expert on weathervanes has been sadly mistaken. For even an idiot, who has but an ounce of sense, knows more about the subject than he does. Let us look at the situation in other schools. Most schools have weathervanes. Many of them indicate the direction of the prevailing wind and weather quite well.

On the other hand, there are also students in many other schools, most of whom have some opinion on various subjects. Therefore it is ridiculous that anybody should complain about the Whethervane Committee.

In the third place, it is quite obvious that the writer possesses a complete ignorance of weathervanes, because the vane is not made of zinc, as he maintains, but of an alloy of sodium chloride.

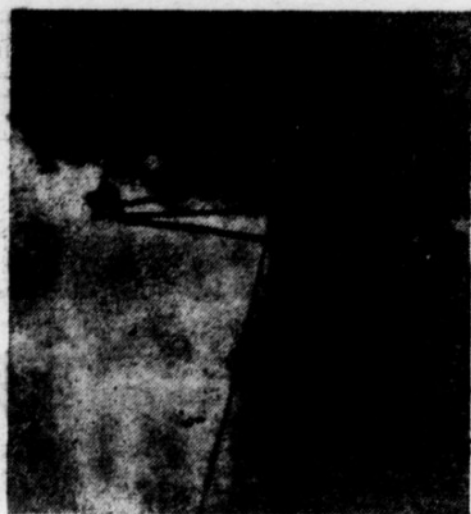

Secondly, it is not true that students opinion was not heard. The Weathervane Committee labored exceedingly hard under the direction of its student representatives to find a vane that would reflect the spirit of the students.

They decided that a vane which points constantly in one direction is not desirable, but that the vane should alter its orientation in the slightest breeze. (Shrewd!—Ed.) Only then could it be truly symbolic of the desires and opinions of the students.

Thirdly, the vane was not installed recently, as the writer seems to implicate, but has been there all the time, probably more than a hundred years.

Considering these facts, it is easy for anybody to see that the author has no business writing about weathervanes.

Morris A. Calsyn Pys Gr.

Honestly—It Does Pay To Advertise

It pays, in some ways, to advertise.

Last Friday, I placed an ad in the Collegian advertising for sale three reserved seats for the Oklahoma game. Since that time, I have received 18 inquiries, the first, and successful, inquiry being a few minutes after the Collegian was off the press.

I have been routed out of bed three different nights by ticket seekers. On top of that, my wife has been mad at me for waking her when I leap out of bed.

But all is not vain because I have $10.50 and a satisfied party has three tickets.

It pays to advertise.

Why Not Start Vacation Early? College Gets Card of Thanks

Dear Editor:

As you can clearly see, we get out for Christmas vacation pretty late this semester. For those who live nearby it is okay but for those like me which would like to spend Christmas Eve in their home and live far away, it is not very pleasing.

More students go home for Christmas than they do for Thanksgiving so why not add any holidays, which we may have, to the Christmas vacation so that we can get out earlier? In that way more students will be benefited, than if it was added to the Thanksgiving vacation, and those who live far away will have more time in which to get home before Christmas Eve.

Why not give some thought to the matter and see if something can be done about it? Some of you might not care when you get the holiday because you may be able to get home very fast, but think about those who can't because they have to do a lot of traveling to get there. So let's give everybody a chance to have a Merry Christmas.

Thank you.

HERBLOCK

"Come On — Let's See Some Action"

KS Students Should Be Allowed To Choose Best Professors

Dear Editor:

I too am very much interested in seeing the names of the teachers listed on the line schedule. Here at K-State I have had some very excellent teachers, but I have also had some extremely poor ones. There is no reason for having instructors who are positive examples of what not to be. I would like to have the opportunity to choose the teachers that I think are best in my curriculum.

I came to Kansas State to get an education. Some students would undoubtedly choose the easy teachers, however, they are the losers, not I. This system of choosing instructors blindly seems to have a few, if any, merits. I am spending my time and parents' money and I and many other students want more to show for it than three hours of credit and a passing grade.

Secondly, by printing the instructors' names some of the teachers would be replaced by better ones and the standards of the school would be raised considerably. When I graduate from K-State I want to feel that the academic rating here is unexcelled and that I am graduated from a truly great school.

Let's work together for better teachers and as a result better students and graduates who are ready to take their place in society, not as a detriment but as beneficial members. We can help to accomplish this by printing the instructors names on the line schedule.

Sincerely,

Darlene Nelson EEd Jr

London Times Says Margaret Out If—

London. (U.P.)—The Times of London said today Princess Margaret would be "irrevocably disqualified" from carrying out her royal duties if she married divorced Peter Townsend.

The influential newspaper ended its long editorial silence with stern comment on Margaret's romance with the handsome RAF captain.

If Margaret and Townsend decided on marriage, it said, "the Princess will be entering into a union which vast numbers of her sister's people, all sincerely anxious for her lifelong happiness, can not in all conscience regard as a marriage."

Opposition of the Church of England to remarriage of divorced persons, even innocent parties to divorce, was reaffirmed by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, who pointed out that "a reasonable church does not change its teaching every few minutes."

The Times said the matter is, "in the last resort, one to be determined solely by Princess Margaret's conscience."

Eleven U.S. Airmen Bail Safely from Superfortress

Kendall, England—North country shepherds and policemen today rescued 11 American airmen who bailed out of a U.S. Air Force Superfortress which crashed in northern England.

The fliers abandoned the plane over the lonely moorland near the Scottish border after an engine breakdown shortly before midnight.

A distress signal from the pilot brought search parties which found all the crewmen, cold and lost but not seriously hurt.

Slight Damage By Fire At Vet Building

A fire disrupted the pleasure in Dean E. E. Leasure's office in veterinary hall about 1:10 p.m. yesterday.

The fire started when workmen, soldering tin guttering on the roof, allowed some of the molten solder to fall to the awning of Dean Leasure's office in V105.

The damage was estimated at $25.00 by R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of the physical plant, and resulted in a scorched window frame and a thoroughly burned awning.

IM Football Season Ends; Finals Today

Division finals of intramural touch football will be played today at 4:15 p.m. Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta will meet in the finals of the fraternity division and Jr. AVMA meets the House of Williams in the independent division.

Sigma Phi Epsilon advanced to the finals by defeating Kappa Sigma 27-0 in a semi-final game. Delta Tau Delta defeated Beta Sigma Psi 38-6 to gain a berth in the final round.

In the semi-final round of the independent division, Jr. AVMA defeated the Jones Boys 13-0 to gain a final berth. House of Williams advanced to the finals by drawing a bye in the semi-final round, since there were only three teams entered in the independent division.

The final game for the fraternity division will be played on the west military drill field, with the final game in the independent division being played on the east military drill field.

Contact Work Missed by Two Cat Gridders

Two Wildcats missed heavy practice yesterday as the team ran through a half-hour of full speed scrimmages in preparation to meeting Oklahoma Saturday.

Although missing the contact work, tackles Frank Rodman and Jon Walker reported in pads. Rodman has a shoulder bruise and Walker twisted an ankle in the Iowa State game. Both figure to be ready for the Homecoming clash with the Sooners Saturday.

Reporting back for action were fullback Doug Roether and center Jim Furey. Roether injured a knee Saturday and Furey is still trying to shake off a shoulder injury sustained in the Colorado game two weeks ago.

The Wildcats ended scrimmage early as Coach Bus Mertes held a chalktalk session to acquaint them with Sooner tactics.

Indicating that he was satisfied with the day's work, Mertes said he would hold more full speed scrimmages today. "We are doing everything we can to get ready for Oklahoma," he said. "We want to be ready. After all, how many opportunities do we get to play a team like them?"

Student Health

The girls are Virginia Cowan, Barbara Rhoades, Helen Peters, and Laureen Stewart.

Cagers To Start Practice on Nov. 1

Kansas State basketball coach Tex Winter will welcome 16 Wildcat cagers to the first roundball practice session Tuesday, November 1.

"We have more experience at guards and at one forward slot this season than we had last year," Winter said. "We're especially strong at guards. Jack Parr and Wayne Hutchins give us a good duo at center, but they lack Big Seven experience."

There are five returning lettermen from last year's Wildcat squad, which won 10 and lost 11. They include Pachin Vicena, 5-9 guard; Fred Schneider, 6-3 guard; Joe Powell, 6-7 forward; Dick Stone, 6-3 forward; and Gene Wilson, 5-11 guard.

Helping to replace the graduated stars will be 11 sophomores picked from last year's freshman squad. The newcomers, with one exception, are all 6 feet tall or better. Tallest of the group is Jack Parr, 6-9 center who will probably start at the pivot this season.

Other yearlings include Wayne

Hutchins, 6-6 center; Bob Jedwabny, 6-5 forward; Larry Fischer, 6-4 forward; Charles Hollinger, 6-4 forward; Bill Laude, 6-4 forward; Hayden Abbott, 6-3 guard; Dean Plagge, 6-3 guard; Roy DeWitz, 6-2 guard; Don Richards, 6-1 guard; and Don Matuszak, 5-11 guard.

"We have more good sophomores this season than I've ever known Kansas State to have," Winter said.

Freshman Cagers To Meet Tuesday

All men interested in trying out for freshman basketball are asked to report to room 208, Ahearn gymnasium, on Tuesday, November 1 at 5:30 p.m., according to Howie Shannon, freshman coach.

No Classes Saturday, McCain Says

Saturday morning has been declared as a student holiday by President McCain.

The holiday is provided for in college regulations which allow the president to dismiss morning classes before Homecoming and before the K-State-KU game when the Wildcats play at Lawrence.

When the K-State-KU game is played here, Saturday morning classes are dismissed before the Nebraska game.

Touchdown IV CATNAPPED!

Touchdown IV, that glorious symbol of K-Stateism, has been catnapped.

Dr. E. J. Frick, zoo director, said this morning that Touchdown IV was taken sometime during the night.

He said that somebody broke the lock on Touchdown's cage, chased him into the smaller cage which transports the animal to football games, and took off for parts unknown.

Touchdown IV was catnapped last year by KU students but the students and Touchdown were apprehended before they made their escape.

"It was a dastardly deed," Charles Barnes, TJ Sr, said after he heard of Touchdown's plight. "Let's go after the cottonpickers," he said.

Caretakers at the zoo said they would sooner not say who had taken Touchdown, but they and 6,000 K-Staters will be watching like Hawks for him.

Dr. Frick said the catnapping was evidently the work of college students, but he wouldn't guess whether the deed was done by KU or Oklahoma students.

Homecoming Opens With Talent Review

Homecoming festivities will be triggered by the all-college talent show scheduled for tonight at 8 in the auditorium. K-State's Homecoming queen will be officially announced and introduced at the end of the talent show.

Gerry Day, student body president, will present the queen who will be one of the five finalists announced Monday: Marjory Badeker, HE Jr; Gail Compton, Sp Fr; Jean Cooper, BMT Soph; Becky Culpepper, EEd Soph; and Alice Schulze, HDA Sr.

Among the acts which are scheduled for the show are Earle Davis, professor of English, who will sing ballads. Janice Ames, Art Soph, will sing several numbers. Miss Ames was recently chosen as one of the two finalists in the Lawrence Welk vocal talent contest. She will be accompanied by a combo.

Royce Johnson, MGS, will play the guitar and sing. Duncan Erickson will do impersonations of Liberace. Tom Post will do a skit entitled "Saturday at the Park."

Gordon Jump, Sp Jr, will be master of ceremonies for the talent show, Bob Balzerick, talent show chairman, said.

Players To Present 'Aladdin' Dec. 8-9

The cast for "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" to be presented by the Kansas State Players December 8 and 9, was announced last night by Donald Hermes, director.

The play is an Arabian nights fantasy written by James Norris.

Members of the cast are Herbert Friesen, ME Soph, as Aladdin; Ken Nakari, Phy Fr, as the African magician; Alice Schulze HT Sr, as the mother; Sally Geistfeld, HT Soph, as Kalissa; Nancy Porter, Sp Soph, as Adora; and Richard Mansfield, BPM Soph, as the Sultan.

Also included in the cast are Mary Lu Compton, Sp Soph, as Noona; Jerry Hager, Sp Soph, as Genie of the ring; and Phil Farbridi, CE Fr, as Carlamon. Slaves and citizens are Dian Porter, EEd Sr; Winnie Fellers, EEd Jr; Phyllis Loseke, HT Jr; Jan Kraft, HE Soph, and Carol McGowan, HE Soph.

Judy Thatch, HEN Fr; Pat Corbin, BMT Fr; Sue Greene, HEA Fr; Carol Cochran, DIM Soph; and Judy Sorter, will also appear in the play. HEN Soph, The Genie of the Lamp will be played by Merton McIlvain, Sp Gr.

Celestine Brown, Sp Gr, will assist Donald Hermes in directing the production. Rehearsals will start November 1, according to Hermes.

Dance Committee Decides Against Continuing 'Jazz'

Norman Granz' "Jazz at the Philharmonic" will not return to K-State for a performance during the fall of 1956, the Union Program council dance committee has announced.

Reason for this is a drop of 208 in attendance this fall over the one previous performance by the group here in 1955. Attendance this year, originally estimated at 3,500, proved to be only 2,309, compared with 2,517 in 1955.

The decision not to ask the group to reappear followed a recommendation for such action made by the dance committee Monday evening and approved by the Council Tuesday.

Exact net profits made on the performance this year can not be figured until all bills are in, Bob Alexander, Union Program director, said, but estimated that it would be approximately the same as last year, or $115.

Tentative plans are to substitute a similar program, such as a name band, next year, and then in several years, when a new group of students are here have the JATP program back.

Alexander explained that Council and its committees considered they "make money" merely by staying within their expenditures. He said they have no reason to believe that there would be a rise in attendance at a JATP program next year, and with another drop they could be running in the red.

Any net profit made on an event goes toward more services for the students. Net profit made by one committee doesn't necessarily stay in that committee fund, Alexander said. It is spent on the basis of need as agreed upon by the Union Council.

Vet Students Consider Jobs With USDA

Juniors in the school of Veterinary Medicine were interviewed Monday by Dr. Louis H. Smith, veterinarian in charge of the United States Department of Agriculture agricultural research service.

The interviews were conducted to determine students who would be eligible for positions with the USDA as veterinary trainees during next summer vacation period.

A civil service examination will be given to the interested members next January in Manhattan, Dean E. E. Leasure of the School of Veterinary medicine, said.

200 KS Juniors Qualify For Optional Attendance

High scholarship has qualified 200 K-State upperclassmen for optional attendance at classes this fall, E. M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar, announced today.

To qualify for optional attendance, students must be juniors and have maintained a B average or better their last semester at college.

Those achieving this honor are:

Popular Idea on Faculty Fees Disturbs Union Board Chairman

To the Editor:

The Union Governing Board has become increasingly concerned about the misunderstanding that exists regarding faculty participation in the new Union program. Some faculty members believe that students want to exclude them from the Union program, or ask them to pay unreasonable fees.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

Some say this misunderstanding is due to misleading reports and editorials in the Collegian. We ask all concerned to weigh carefully the validity of this viewpoint. The Collegian is established as one of the nation's top college newspapers. We question that this rating would be given a publication making a practice of publishing misleading reports and ask that greater accuracy and less emotionalism be utilized by both writers and readers of these reports.

We believe the real cause of this misunderstanding lies in vicious grapevine communication that for the most part presents no side of any question accurately and has only emotional contents.

To correct this misunderstanding we are attempting to inform all future users of the Union of the facts involved. A questionnaire, formulated through joint efforts of the Union board and the Faculty Senate Committee on Faculty Affairs, will shortly be sent to all faculty members. This questionnaire will further inform the faculty and give each of them an opportunity to express his views on the nature of faculty participation.

The attitude of the Union board, composed of both students and faculty, can be stated simply: We favor any participation by students, faculty, alumni, and friends of the college that will benefit the Union educationally, socially, or financially. We vigorously protest any policy which places an unfair financial burden upon any of these three groups.

L. H. Armantrout, Chairman
Union Governing Board

Oh, What To Do? Panty Raids No Longer Considered Apropos

By ANN WEATHERS

Times just ain't what they used to be! The good old days are gone forever. There used to be a time when panty raids were considered a college boy's way of having a little innocent (??—Ed.) fun. Now deans are saying that the panty raids have "passed the limits of tolerance," and they are advocating suspension from school of anyone participating in such raids. Girls even are forbidden to open windows for the men. A narrow-minded attitude, that. How do they expect freshman girls to live up their study hours now?

Looks like college men aren't alone in their desire to see the inside of a girl's dormitory. At Cornell college, two firemen were seen climbing into a third story window of the girl's dorm. Instead of emerging with feminine unmentionables, the men brought out a couple of formals.

Seems two girls had locked themselves out of their room and had gotten a little panicky when they found there was no house mother on duty to let them in. They were overdue at a formal reception and no formals were to be had. Firemen to the rescue!

Speaking of fire, and the new smoking in offices rule, one might do well to remember this little gem of wisdom gleaned from a Humanities I text:

"Confucius say

Man who leaves butt on floor

Gets burned in end."

So sofly ...

(Editor's note—The Collegian stated editorially on September 20 that "We WANT them (the faculty members) to use the student Union." We went on to say that "we would like to see the faculty members pay their share of this operating expense. We're sure they'll readily admit they should pay."

(Some parts of the Union will be profit-making and open to everyone, other things will be priced lower for students and higher for outsiders, and many things will be free. We do not advocate unreasonably high fees for the faculty. But the faculty is the only group that consistently will be using the Union as frequently as will the student body. Therefore, we feel the faculty should share in operating expenses. On the other hand, after contributing to this operating fee, it seems to us they should pay the same rates as students.

(We are operating, of course, on the theory that the Student Union is first of all for the students. We favor any program of usage for the Union that doesn't take first call and lowest rates away from the students. We welcome any student or faculty comment, and will print them on this page.)

GOP Seeks 'Glamor' To Hide Split in Party, Democrat Says

By HERBERT FOSTER
Of United Press

Washington—Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today the Republicans are searching vainly for "a glamour candidate" to replace President Eisenhower and "conceal" a party split.

The Wyoming Democrat told a reporter that the Democrats will nominate a man "whose purpose is to serve all segments of our society."

O'Mahoney said that "the Republican national committee now is engaged in a search for a glamour candidate who can conceal the basic division between the followers of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

"But I don't see where they can find one," O'Mahoney continued. "They can't find anyone now to conceal the fact that the Republicans who occupy the seats of power are representatives of concentrated business.

O'Mahoney did not designate his choice of Democratic candidates, though in appraising them he mentioned only Adlai E. Stevenson and New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

He said Stevenson "made an excellent record in 1952 and would fit this role" of a Democratic candidate next year.

"Harriman, like Stevenson, has had a long and efficient record as a businessman and statesman," the Wyoming Democrat continued. "He served in both the international and domestic fields affected" by the Presidency.

In another political development, Roger Tubby, former press spokesman for ex-President Truman, quit a job with the Harriman administration to join Stevenson's staff. It was learned he did so with Harriman's permission. He will work on Stevenson's public relations staff.

Administration leaders, meanwhile, defended the GOP record. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, in an exclusive interview with United Press, said the administration's farm program is basically sound despite falling farm prices. He accused Democrats of trying "to paint the picture blacker than it really is."

ASCE

All members of the ASCE, honorary civil engineering club, are requested to attend a meeting Thursday today at 7:30 in E 219. Members are requested to be there to pose for the club's Royal Purple picture.

YWCA

The YWCA membership chili feed will be October 31 in Thompson hall at 5:30 p.m. This is a meeting as well as a supper for the purpose of recognizing new members. The meal will be followed by the annual candlelighting service.

Conservation Club

A Conservation club meeting is scheduled for 7:30 today in F 102.

Duck identification and hunting laws will be discussed. Guns and other hunting equipment will be displayed. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Graduate Students Association

All graduate students are invited to a Halloween party in the Temporary Student Union on Sunday, October 30, from 5 to 9 p.m. Those who attend should dress as tacky as possible, Vic Adler, club president, said. Door prizes for the tackiest-dressed man and woman student will be given.

Pershing Rifles

Forty members of the Pershing Rifles, ROTC military club, will serve as auxiliary police during the homecoming decoration showings Friday night, Donald Lenhert, commander of the club, said today.

The men, members of the club drill team, will direct traffic at all street intersections on the parade route with the plan in mind to avoid the traffic jams that have developed in previous years, Lenhert said.

Halloween Party

Halloween will be ushered in by a party Sunday from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the temporary Student Union.

Sponsored by the Graduate Students association, the party will include games and plenty of refreshments, according to Richard Anderson, Phs Gr, corresponding secretary for the group.

Anderson said there would be no official dress, and guests may wear what they wish.

K-State Zoologists Recreate Wildlife In Natural Setting

A colorful wildlife display containing varied types of wild fowl and two small game animals has been placed in Fairchild hall by Dr. Leonard W. Dewhirst and Dr. O. W. Tiemeier, of the zoology department.

Animals included in the display are ducks, a goose, prairie chicken, ring-necked pheasant, quail, squirrel, and cotton tail rabbits.

A background of cat-tails, milk weed seeds, colored leaves, acorns, and pine boughs gives the display an air that nearly matches the natural surroundings of the animals. Varying colors add to the attractiveness of the arrangement.

A list of the open dates on game animals in Kansas is posted on the display case with the hunting prospects for the state during this season.

K-State Songs Being Heard Around World

"The Songs of K-State," recorded last spring by the symphonic band, the college-civic orchestra, and the a cappella choir, are being heard around the world.

Latest request for the record comes from Christian Kongsore, Jr., a 1952 graduate of Kansas State college, who lives at Ly-saker, Sweden.

Water flows away from the Rio Grande in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. The alluvial deposit along the banks of the river has made it higher than adjacent land for two to four miles away.

Scale Models On Display In Anderson

Models of historical important buildings of the Renaissance, Greek, and Twentieth Century periods are on display on second floor of Anderson hall.

These models designed by the architectural engineers are made to the scale of the original buildings. The differences between the architecture of each period is illustrated.

Some similarity can be seen between the Twentieth Century and Greek architecture, Mrs. Jess Alexander, associate professor of art, said.

Jr. AVMA and Sig Eps Are IM Champions

MARVIN CHILES, Sigma Phi Epsilon, goes in the air to receive a pass, as Wayne Windsor of Delta Tau Delta rushes in to break up the play. The Sig Eps went on to win the game 39-13, also the fraternity intramural football championship.

The championship games in intramural touch football were played yesterday, with Jr. AVMA winning the independent division crown and Sigma Phi Epsilon winning the fraternity division crown.

The Delts led off the scoring parade with a touchdown early in the first quarter. The Sig Eps took over the ball and scored on a series of pass plays just before the quarter ended.

Delta Tau Delta's Dub Gunter received a pass from Wayne Windsor for their second touchdown of the game.

Later in the second quarter, the Delts took the ball to the Sig Eps 10 yard line on a series of pass plays but were pushed back eight yards by a determined Sig Ep defensive formation, and finally lost the ball. The Sig Eps scored another touchdown in the second quarter on a pass from Marvin Chiles to Don Upson.

The Delts intercepted a pass intended for Bill Swinson and took over on their own 20 yard line. Roger Craft, Sig Ep lineman, then intercepted a Delts pass on the next play and went over for the fifth touchdown for the Sig Eps.

The Delts received the ball from the kickoff and ran it up field to the Sig Ep 35 yard line, where the ball was intercepted by Craft. Interference was called against the Delts in a pass play to Swinson, adding 20 yards to the gain for the Sig Eps. Craft scored the final touchdown on a pass from Upson. Craft also scored the extra point on a pass play to give the Sig Eps the win 39-13.

Quarterback Dane Bruster starred for the Jr. AVMA as he passed for one touchdown and two extra points and ran another touchdown across. Phil Randall caught touchdown passes from Bruster and Lee Mills and an extra point aerial from Bruster to score 13 points to be high scorer for the Jr. AVMA.

Mills intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown and passed to Hank Black for another six points. A touchdown pass from Bruster to Dwight Wingert rounded out the winners scoring.

Dick King caught two of Gene Pippin's touchdown passes and Orville Lagasse caught the third for the House of Williams. Eddie Kocher made the House of Williams' only point after touchdown on a pass from Pippin.

House of Williams wasted no time as they chose to receive and scored on the first play of the game on a pass from Pippin to Lagasse.

Jr. AVMA quickly retaliated, and on their first play from scrimmage Dane Bruster lateraled to Lee Mills who threw to Hank Black for the touchdown. Bruster passed to Dwight Wingert for the extra point and the Jr. AVMA led 7-6, after only two minutes of play.

GENE PIPPIN, House of Williams, gets off a pass but it went incomplete as did several other plays run by the House of Williams, as they were defeated 32-19 by Jr. AVMA in the independent intramural championship football game.

later the vets scored on an aerial from Bruster to Phil Randall. They failed to convert and at the end of the first quarter Jr. AVMA led 13-6.

Early in the second quarter the House of Williams tied the score on a touchdown pass from Pippin to Dick King. Pippin tossed to Eddie Kocher for the extra point.

The House of Williams defense stiffened and they held Jr. AVMA on the five yard line for three plays, but on the fourth Dane Bruster carried the ball across for the touchdown, and the Jr. AVMA went ahead to stay.

Lee Mills intercepted a House of Williams pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter. Phil Randall added the extra point and made the halftime score 26-13.

Mills threw a touchdown pass to Phil Randall to open the third quarter and play see-sawed back and forth until the House of Williams could push a touchdown across in the last stages of the period.

Neither team could score in the fourth period.

Willibey, an Okie, Plays for K-State

By BILL WHISTLER

Bob Willibey is one football player from Oklahoma that K-State won't have to worry about Saturday.

The 5-11, 180-pound senior hails from Sapulpa, Okla., and bolsters the Cat quarterback position. Bob transferred from Miami, (Okla.) Juco along with Jack Chilton (former Cat quarterback) in 1952. Another teammate that tagged along the following year was Jim Rusher, Cat end.

Bob saw limited action for the Cats that year and was inducted into the army ahead of the 1953 season. To his surprise and despite his aptitude scores he was assigned the role of "helicopter mechanics." "I had never even pattered under the hood of a car in my life before that," said Bob, "but I got so I really liked the job."

Bob started playing football during his grade school days. "Everybody plays football where I was raised," said Bob, "and it was just a natural thing to do. The kid that got shoulder pads for Christmas was usually captain."

Bob lettered three years in high school football and in his senior year made the all-Conference team. After graduation he picked Miami Juco as the place to start his college education. In his sophomore year, Miami was undefeated and played in the Texas Rose Bowl.

About that time K-State Coach Clyde Van Sickle spotted Bob and Jack. After a year at K-State the army sent Bob greetings and interrupted his college football. The pigskin followed him into service.

Baseball also brightened his military career, because Bob's greatest desire, next to football, is to play second base. "This spring I am going out for baseball," said Bob, who is one of the Brooklyn Dodgers' most rabid fans.

If Bob had been a bookie he probably could have made thousands this fall because he was one of the few who predicted from the outset a Dodger victory in the World Series.

Bob plans to graduate this summer. He is majoring in government and minoring in physical education. "Like most guys in that field" he wants to coach and teach.

Wildcat Runners Meet NU Friday

Kansas State cross-country runners meet their third foe of the season tomorrow when they face Nebraska university at Lincoln. The Wildcat distance runners opened the season two weeks ago with a 15-23 win over Drake, but were defeated 26-10 by Missouri last Saturday at Columbia.

Representing K-State at Lincoln will be Hubert Guest, Whitney Hicks, Glen Taplin, Jesse Unruh, and Arlan Stackley.

Cats Workout Against Plays Of OU Attack

The Wildcat gridders ran through light defensive drills yesterday as they continued preparations for Saturday's Homecoming game with Oklahoma.

Coach Mertes worked his charges in defensive drills against all phases of the vaunted Sooner attack that has rolled up an average of 380 yards and 31 points a game in five games this season. All Cat units took turns running and defending against the Oklahoma play patterns.

The only Cat not participating in the drills was Jon Walker, sophomore tackle, who is nursing a twisted ankle incurred in the Iowa State game. Jim Furey, senior center, ran with the first unit in the drills, although his shoulder, injured in the Colorado game, has not healed as fast as was expected, and his use as a starter Saturday is still in doubt.

Kerry Clifford, reserve center for the Wildcats, who started the game at Iowa State for the Wildcats in place of Furey, is scheduled to start if Jim's injury has not healed.

The Cats will repeat yesterday's drills today and run through loosening-up exercises tomorrow, as they prepare to meet the nation's number two team on Saturday.

Irish Favored Over Middies By Six Points

Undefeated Navy and once-beaten Notre Dame meet Saturday in one of the more interesting games throughout the nation.

The Middies have rolled over five opponents without defeat and are ranked fourth in the nation, behind Maryland, Oklahoma, and Michigan.

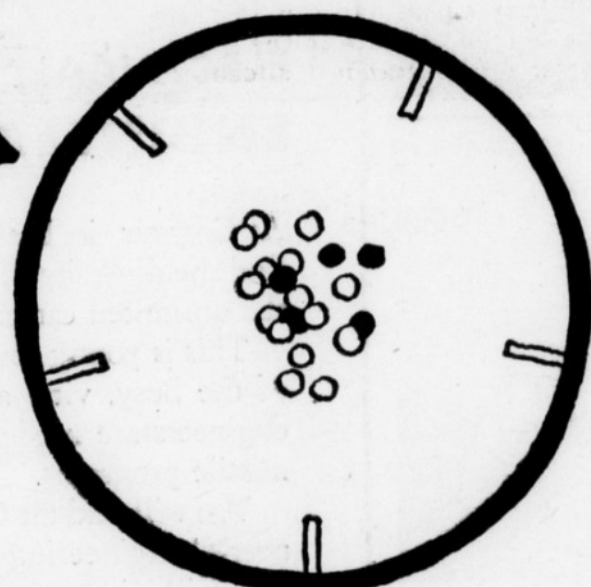

Notre Dame is currently ranked seventh in the nation and suffered their only loss of the year to Michigan State. The Irish are rated as six point favorites.

The Irish have something special in mind for this game, as it is the Knute Rockne Memorial game.

TO INTERVIEW

ELECTRICAL, MECHANICAL, AERONAUTICAL
ENGINEERS ABOUT TO GRADUATE

At Convair, in beautiful, smog-free San Diego, California, you will find the diversity of challenging, far-reaching projects that offers you the unlimited career opportunity you seek.

This is young country, beautiful, exciting country — the very heart of the busy, vital aircraft and missile industries. And good, young engineers are needed now to grow with new, long-range aircraft and missile programs.

You will find the Convair Engineering Department a genuine "engineer's" engineering department — imaginative, energetic, explorative. You will discover the very latest engineering equipment, excellent working conditions, salary, personal job advantages, and opportunities for continuing education.

Remember these facts about Convair: Convair was awarded the Nation's first production missile contract and the first production contract for supersonic all-weather interceptors.

Convair has the greatest diversity of aircraft engineering projects in the country, including high performance fighters, heavy bombers, large flying boats, transports, trainers, seaplane fighters, vertical take-off aircraft and guided missiles.

Convair has a completely integrated electronic development program devoted to advanced development and design on missile guidance, avionic projects, radar systems and special cathode ray tubes.

Now you are invited to get full information about your career at Convair. Talk it over with our Convair Engineers on your campus soon.

GRADUATING CIVIL ENGINEERS interested in the field of aircraft structure are also invited to apply.

WILDCATS AIM AT SOONERS

COLLEGIAN Homecoming Sports Section

OU, No. 2 in Nation, After 13th Loop Flag

Saving the best until last, Kansas State plays its final home grid game of the season here tomorrow against Oklahoma. It's Homecoming, too.

A near-capacity crowd of more than 20,000 fans is expected for the occasion, which begins Friday night with Homecoming decorations by students in organized houses, being shown. The weekend is climaxed with kickoff time of the game at 2 p.m. Saturday and dies among its own echoes Saturday night.

Ranked No. 2 in the nation, the undefeated Sooners are making a strong bid for their 13th conference flag, having disposed of their first two Big Seven challengers by wide margins. OU defeated Kansas, 44-6, and turned back Colorado 56-21. Earlier non-loop foes met similar fates as the Sooners rolled by North Carolina, 13-6, Pittsburgh, 26-14, and Texas, 20-0.

Both Teams at Top Strength

Both the Wildcats and Sooners approach this one at near top strength. Both have a reserve left tackle in question. Jon Walker, 232-pound Wildcat sophomore who backs Ron Nery, twisted an ankle against Iowa State Saturday and is listed doubtful for the OU game. Eldon Loughridge, 190-pound Sooner senior tackle who plays behind Cal Woodworth on the left side has an injured knee.

Comparison of squad strength has to stop there. OU, rated by many sportswriters and broadcasters as "the best ever," would appear to own a strong edge in depth and overall team speed. The Wildcats can muster no more than 41 squad members, almost half of whom have seen no more than minor action in six games to date. While K-State averages 208 pounds-per-man in the line to shade the Sooners' 204 average, the Wildcats hardly can stretch up to OU's dimensions in backfield speed or depth of manpower.

Kansas State scout Sol Kampf rated the Sooners "the fastest team in the nation" after watching them roll to a 56-21 win over Colorado last Saturday.

Starting 11 Remains Same

Wildcat starters will show no change from the opening eleven against Iowa State a week ago providing Jim Furey, captain and regular center, is ready for action at game time. The 215-pound senior standout bruised a shoulder against Colorado two weeks ago and has been slow rounding into shape. He is expected to see starting duty against OU, however.

Ralph Pfeifer, sophomore halfback who drew his first starting assignment against Marquette, has dibs on starting left half. The Hays speedster leads K-State scoring with 24 points, and has averaged a net of 4.6 yards on 36 carries, best among Wildcat regulars.

At the other halfback post Coach Bus Mertes lists Tony Addeo, second-ranking K-State rusher with a 4.4-yard average on 25 carries.

Completing the Wildcat backfield will be Bob Whitehead at quarterback and Doug Roether at fullback. Roether earned praise from the K-State coaches for his blocking against Iowa State and is the workhorse of the Cat backfield with 47 carries to date. The 185-pound senior has averaged 3.7 yards per carry.

The probable starting lineup:

K-State	Pos.	Oklahoma
Rusher (207)	LE	Stiller (199)
Nery (218)	LT	Woodworth (195)
Rainsberger (200)	LG	Bolinger (208)
Clifford (180)	C	Tubbs (202)
Bletcher (196)	RG	Morris (230)
Rodman (215)	RT	Gray (203)
Zickefoose (210)	RE	Bell (187)
Whitehead (155)	QB	Harris (167)
Pfeifer (185)	LH	McDonald (169)
Addeo (190)	RH	Burris (193)
Roether (187)	FB	Pricer (198)

Big Cogs Will Be Missed

Captains Furey, Roether End Home Play Tomorrow

Doug Roether, 190-pound alternate captain, has sparked the Wildcat backfield for the past two seasons with his fine running and blocking.

A two-year letterman, Doug was the second leading ball carrier for K-State last year with an average of 6.4 yards a carry. He made honorable mention on the AP all-Big Seven with his play last year.

Roether's grid career all started by accident. He lives in Milford, which does not have football in its high school. An uncle from nearby Clay Center suggested that since he had the build for football, Doug should go to school in Clay Center where football is "the" sport.

Star at Clay Center

Doug compiled a new set of grid records for Clay Center, captained the team his senior year, and was named to the Central Kansas League all-conference squad as a senior.

Roether's neats up play and determination make him a dangerous runner. As a sophomore he gained 4.5 yards a carry in his role as fullback on the second unit. Last year he was second to Corky Taylor in rushing yardage and this year he is averaging 3.7 yards on 45 carries, more carries than any other Wildcat.

Roether was named "Player of the Week" by Wildcat coaches after his performance against Iowa.

Jim Furey, 5-9, 210 pound Wildcat captain, has lettered two years at center with his rugged, determined line play. In 1953 he was at the snappers position on the Cat second quarter team under Bill Meek's team-a-quarter system, and moved up to the first unit last year.

Furey's play was a big factor in the Wildcat's rise from the Big Seven cellar to a second-place tie last year. His outstanding blocking and defense play earned for him an honorable mention on the AP all-Big Seven team. He has continued to lead the Cats this season and was named "Player of the Week" for his performance in the Nebraska game.

All-Sports Athlete

Jim attended Barringer high school in Newark, New Jersey, and received varsity letters in all sports. He was named to the all-City, all-Area, and all-State football teams his senior year. In 1952 he attended St. Benedict's prep school and received all of those honors in addition to being named all-Metropolitan center.

One of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Furey, Jim is the only member of the family remotely interested in football.

Bus Mertes Stars on Weekly Television Show

By JOE HOLBERT

"Putting on a television show after losing a game certainly is harder than after a winner," Bus Mertes, head coach of the Wildcats, said recently.

"We are not as relaxed, and it is harder to find a subject for the show after a loss. We simply don't have as much interest in the show after a losing game," Mertes said.

The Bus Mertes Show, televised at 10:30 Tuesday nights, over WIBW-TV, Channel 13, Topeka, stars Mertes and other members of the K-State coaching staff and football team. The half-hour show is sponsored by local Manhattan merchants.

The television show is produced to inform the public of the football activities at K-State and to acquaint them with the players and coaching staff of the team.

"We think the show is good publicity for K-State as it reaches a large audience in the Kansas area, and it keeps the public aware of the fact that we do have a football team here," Mertes said.

"We don't put any advanced planning into the show, in fact we usually plan it on the way to Topeka," Mertes continued.

"The time usually averages out pretty well, and we don't have to use any time that should be used for coaching activities," Mertes said.

The ideal way to put on the show would be to make films of the programs before the football season, but then it wouldn't always be up to date, and it probably wouldn't be as interesting to the audience, Mertes said.

The show was handled by Laurence (Moon) Mullins last season. "The show is about the same this year, except that we are using more films, and are concerned nearly completely with football," he added.

"The viewers seem to like the films we run of the K-State games, according to the letters I have received," Mertes said. "I would enjoy getting viewers' opinions of the show, and suggestions as to its improvements."

Porky Morgan Cures Aches, Bruises of Wildcat Athletes

LAURENCE (PORKY) MORGAN, K-State trainer, at work on one of his many patients. Porky has been head trainer at K-State since 1951.

By ROGER MYERS

Porky Morgan, K-State's head trainer, tapes, treats, and advises Wildcat athletes in all sports. With a hard-boiled exterior, but a cooperative undercoating, Porky hovers over all Wildcat practices to keep "an eye out" for possible injuries.

Porky, who has been trainer at K-State since 1951, says he's been taping up Wildcats so long it's just habit. "I get a terrific satisfaction out of helping kids who have been injured," he said.

Proof of Porky's devotion to his job is the fact that from September 1 to May 30 last year, he spent only two Sundays at home. "I've spent the best years of my life watching football scrimmages," he said.

Morgan rates as one of the top men in the collegiate training field, and has been a trainer (with time out for duty in World War II) since his first job at East Moline, Ill., high school from 1935 to 1939. He enrolled at St. Ambrose college in 1939 and was student trainer there two years before going to the Citadel as head trainer in 1941.

Porky (officially named Laurence) received his degree from St. Ambrose in 1949 and during the 1949-50 basketball season Porky was trainer for the Tri-City Blackhawks, a professional cage team.

Injuries seem to run in cycles, Porky said. Some years there will be a lot of ankle trouble, the next year a lot of knee trouble, and then next year a whole crop of shoulder injuries. "We're having a lot of hip bruises right now," he said.

Out on the practice turf Porky's pockets bulge with training equipment. "I usually carry enough stuff to take care of immediate injuries—a roll of tape, some smelling salts, shoe laces—and the like," he said.

Due to his intimate connection with the ball club, Porky hears a lot of team scuttlebutt. "If someone should wire this joint for sound, there would be a lot of missing characters around here."

Porky treats an average of 50 players a day in the East stadium training room and during a game uses an average of 90 yards of tape a foot wide.

Robert Burris One of Family Of Grid Stars

Robert Burris, senior Oklahoma halfback, is the brother of 1954 all-American Kurt Burris, and 1946, '47, and '48 all-American Buddy Burris.

Robert has three more brothers. Don, an older brother, had a leg broken in his first game with the Sooners and never returned to the gridiron. Two younger brothers are members of the Sooner freshman squad.

He has rolled up a total of 245 yards in 56 carries this year and in two previous years had carried 731 yards in 116 tries. His total to date for the two prior seasons and five games this season is 976 yards in 172 carries for an average of 5.7 yards a carry.

Mullins, Mertes, Wilkinson Worked Together in 1943

By JOE HOLBERT

Laurence (Moon) Mullins, K-State athletic director; Bernard (Bus) Mertes, K-State football coach; and Bud Wilkinson, coach of the Oklahoma Sooners, used to be members of the same team, instead of opponents, it was learned in an interview recently.

It seems that in 1943 Mullins and Wilkinson were the assistant coaches of the Iowa U. Navy Pre-Flight school, and had Bus Mertes, one of the Navy instructors, as their full-back.

It was at that time, Mullins said, that Bud Wilkinson's qualities of leadership became apparent.

"Bud Wilkinson's platoon was always the winner of most of the competitive events that they were engaged in," Mullins said.

"Bud Wilkinson and his coaches, have instilled a pride and determination in their players that makes them play harder and longer than the average," Mullins continued.

"Many people have given credit for Oklahoma's success to many things, including financial pay-offs for the players," Mullins said. "Actually, in some cases, Oklahoma is stricter about financial help to players than some other Big Seven schools" Mullins continued.

The coaches and players at OU have developed a pride in their team that makes the players do just a little better, simply because they are members of the "Big Red," Mullins said.

A Final Win?

Eleven Seniors To Appear In Last Home Tilt Saturday

By BILL WHISTLER

Eleven Wildcat seniors will be playing their last home game when K-State clashes with Oklahoma at Memorial stadium this Saturday.

"These men have been a tremendous factor in K-State's football program the last few years," said Coach Mertes in commenting on the senior gridders.

"They have been a good group as sophomores, juniors, and seniors but the job they do in the next four games will determine their over-all record," Mertes said.

Seniors playing their last home game are:

Ed Dunn, with two seasons of experience behind him, is a 6-2, 195 pound Wildcat who can "go" at either guard or tackle. Ed played tackle at Holton high school under Ed Dissinger (now coaching at Manhattan high school). Ed is majoring in history and government and is the son of Mrs. Joe Dunn of Holton.

Jim Furey, big, likeable center and captain of the Wildcat team, received honorable mention on the AP all-Big Seven squad for his outstanding play at the snappers position last year. He is majoring in history and government and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Furey of Newark.

Ron Nery was an all-Big Seven tackle in 1954. The 6-4, 210 pound Cat has been starting left tackle for the past two seasons. He is majoring in civil engineering and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nery of Cheswick, Pa.

Frank Rodman plays right tackle and hails from Kansas City, Kan. He is a vet medicine major and was named to the all-Big Seven scholastic team with a B average last season. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Rodman of Kansas City.

Doug Roether is alternate captain and fullback on the varsity. Doug's aggressiveness earned him honorable mention on the AP all-Big Seven squad last season. He is majoring in physical education and is the son of D. E. Roether of Milford.

Jim Rusher plays left end and is considered an outstanding extra point maker. Jim received honorable mention on the AP all-Big Seven squad in 1954. He transferred to K-State from Miami, Okla., Juco two seasons ago but sat out the 1953 season with an infection. Jim majors in vet medicine and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rusher of Tulsa.

Bob Whitehead quarterbacks the Cats' starting eleven. Bob was number-one quarterback last year and is considered a dangerous open field runner. He majors in economics and is the son of S. L.

Whitehead of St. Louis, Mo.

Bob Willibey transferred from Miami, Okla., Juco in 1952 and was a reserve quarterback before entering the army in 1953. He plays a rugged type of football and has plenty of team spirit. Bob is a native of Sapulpa, Okla., and majors in history and government.

Kerry Clifford is a hustling 6-1, 180 pounder who moved up from an obscure guard position to second team center this year and started the Iowa State game in place of the injured Jim Furey. He majors in mechanical engineering and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Clifford of Wichita.

Burt Schmidt, a 5-10, 210 pounder, is a bulwark on defense and has earned two letters at the right guard spot. Burt studies geology and plans a career in the petroleum field. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt of Newton.

Spirit of Gridders High for OU Tilt

By MALCOLM COLDWELL

"This is your chance to make history" a sign in the K-State locker room reads. This is the feeling of the Wildcat football team and Coach Mertes on the Oklahoma game this Saturday.

"Although K-State has the smallest squad in the conference (39) they are in high spirits for the game. It should be an interesting game if the Sooners don't wear us down too badly," Coach Mertes said.

This will be Mertes' first game against Oklahoma as head coach, although he has faced them twice before as assistant coach under Bill Meek.

Bus was a standout halfback for Iowa university in 1941 and 1943. During World War II he played service football with the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks, the Navy national service champions.

After the war Bus played professional football for five seasons with the Chicago Cardinals, Los Angeles Rams, Baltimore Colts and the New York Giants.

He was assistant coach at Bradley university for a year and in 1951 became head coach there. He came to K-State as assistant coach under Bill Meek in August of 1953 and took over as head coach last January when Meek resigned to take over as head coach at Houston university.

Mrs. Football Loves Game As Well as Her Husband

By PAT CLARY

Wives of K-State's married football players usually are not privileged or honored simply because they are Mrs. left end or Mrs. right tackle on the Wildcat varsity squad.

This is the opinion of Shirley (Mrs. Ellis) Rainsberger, Susie (Mrs. Kerry) Clifford, Joan (Mrs. Bob) Whitehead, and Cheri (Mrs. Jim) Logsdon. These wives have encountered a few special problems which stem from being married to football players—like introductions, but in general they are "just another student's wife."

When quarterback Whitehead was injured at the Colorado game two weeks ago, Joan managed to get as close to him as the dressing room door guard. Not allowed to enter the room where Bob was, she knew no more of his injuries than did the other spectators.

The Whiteheads, who live at 402 South Sixth, have a six-month-old daughter, Linda. Joan works mornings at the Campus book store in Aggieville. They met as high school students in St. Louis and were married on June 12, 1954.

Cheri Logsdon admits that football consumes much of Jim's time, but she feels it is worth it. Cheri, who is employed by the Kansas Farm Bureau, is an experienced fan, for she watched Jim play during their years at Wyandotte high school in Kansas City. The Logsdons now live at 1848 Anderson.

"If he enjoys it, that's the main thing," said Susie Clifford about husband Kerry's playing ball.

The Clifford's have a son, Mike, 1½ years old. Susie, who works at the J. C. Penney store downtown, attended K-State one year. Before that she was one of Kerry's most ardent fans at Wichita East high school.

Shirley Rainsberger said, "Whatever he wants is fine with me." The couple, who live at Elliott Courts have a one-year-old daughter, Becky. The Rainsbergers met while he was stationed near Columbus, Georgia, when in the army. Little did Shirley guess that she would be a K-State football player's wife in 1955.

"He likes playing ball, and as long as he wants to, then I want him to," Joan Whitehead made this remark, as did all the other players' wives.

Playing ball, the wives confess, perhaps does take from their husbands some of the time intended for homelife. However, coach Bus Mertes has reasoned he and his staff expect only two hours daily of their players' time.

"If the average athlete on a varsity squad wasn't playing varsity ball, it is my belief he would spend about two hours each day on intramural or other campus sports," said coach Mertes.

Mertes said there is no difference in ability, attitude, or attentiveness which could be the result of being a married player.

Paul DeWeese, sports information director, reports that this year's varsity squad is quite young. The average age of the squad members is 20 years, DeWeese said, which partially explains why there are so few married players.

DeWeese reports there are five veterans on the varsity roster. Of this group, Rainsberger is the only married man.

Thus, the percent of married men and the percent of veterans on the football team is lower than the all-College average.

Judging from the enthusiasm and interest of the wives of the four married players, maybe the other men don't know what they're missing. For, more than anything else, the wives love to see their husbands play good football.

Capable Coaches Assist Head Gridiron Mentor

By DICK HOLDREN

A crew of able, experienced men who make up the football coaching staff has helped Coach Bus Mertes mold the Wildcats into a dangerous football machine this fall.

Four members of the staff, Sol Kampf, Herb Cormack, Pat Naughton, and Steve Sucic came to K-State last spring when Mertes was signed to replace Bill Meek. The other, Ed Cavanaugh, was a member of Meek's staff and stayed to assist the new mentor.

All the assistant coaches double as scouts, with Kampf shouldering most of the load. During the Wildcats' games they aid Mertes on the bench and as spotters in the press box. The spotter's job is to note the action that can not be seen at ground level and report it to a coach at a field telephone on the bench.

Mertes is high in praise of his assistants. "They're all good men," he said. "K-State is fortunate to have such men on its staff. We are as pleased with them now as when they were hired," he said.

Line coach Sol Kampf sports as much poundage, a hale and hearty 220 pounds, as any of the Wildcat linemen he coaches. The Wildcat assistant has the football know-how to match his size.

A native New Yorker, Sol graduated from Davis and Elkins college (W. Va.) with a degree in physical education. After postgraduate work at Michigan, he received his master's in PE from Indiana in 1948.

His coaching past includes line coach posts at Western Michigan, North Dakota, and Bradley. He was assistant to Mertes at Bradley in 1951 and helped coach the professional Winnipeg Blue Bombers to Canada's Western conference crown in 1950.

Herb Cormack, one of the backfield coaches, joined the staff last spring with an impressive coaching record behind him. It was something of a homecoming when Herb reported to the campus since he was born and reared in Kansas and gained much coaching experience in the state.

Herb was born in Kinsley and graduated from high school there. He graduated from Pittsburg State Teachers college in 1928 and has a master's degree in PE from Iowa.

Cormack entered the college coaching field at Iowa State in 1947 as freshman coach and was promoted to varsity end coach in 1949. He developed all-American end Jim Doran in 1950, as well as all-Conference ends Dean Laun and Mal Schmidt.

Former Illinois U. star Steve Sucic took the same road as Mertes when he shifted from the head coaching job at Bradley to a position as a Wildcat backfield coach.

Steve ran at fullback and halfback for Illinois in 1941 and 1942, played for the Army Air Force in 1943, 1944, and 1945, and played pro ball for three seasons. In 1949 he became assistant coach at Bradley and moved up to the head coaching spot in 1953.

Line coach Pat Naughton's "first love" is football. A native of Chicago, graduate of DePaul university, and a former assistant at Detroit, Pat expounds on football theories on all available occasions.

Graduated from DePaul in 1951, the 34-year-old spent the 1951 grid season as line coach of DePaul high school in Chicago. He moved to the same post at Fenwick high school in Oak Park, Ill., for the 1952 and 1953 seasons.

In 1954 he was line coach at Detroit U.

A product of Duke university and navy football is Ed Cavanaugh, K-State freshman coach.

Ed played four years (1947-1950) of varsity football under Wallace Wade at Duke. Graduated from Duke in 1951 with a degree in history, Ed was called into the Navy in September of that year. He was a player-coach for Brainbridge U.S. Naval Training Center under Jim LaRue, former Wildcat assistant. Cavanaugh was named to the all-Navy team in 1952.

K-Room Is Meeting Place For K-State Lettermen

The K-Room, located on the second floor of Ahearn gymnasium, is a meeting place for lettermen of all K-State varsity sports.

The room is used for meetings of the K-Club, varsity lettermen's organization, and Phi Epsilon Kappa, honorary physical education fraternity. It also serves as a recreation room for social functions of the two organizations.

The room was furnished through the joint efforts of the K-Club, Phi Epsilon Kappa, and the athletic council. A fund was started in 1943 when war bonds were purchased to help furnish it upon completion of the field house. More money was added through appropriations of the Athletic Council and sales of sun visors, programs, and cushions at various Wildcat athletic events. Over $5,000 was spent to redecorate and refurnish the room in 1953.

Wilkinson Has Top Coaching Record

This fall, Bud Wilkinson begins his eighth year as head coach at the University of Oklahoma with a record of 70 wins, 7 losses, and 3 ties in regular season play.

In conference play his teams have scored 43 wins, 0 losses, and 2 ties. The last tie came at the hands of Colorado in 1952. The Oklahoma team has also played in four bowl games under Wilkinson and lost only to Kentucky 7-13 in the Sugar Bowl in 1951. Their wins were over North Carolina 14-6 in the Sugar Bowl in 1949; Louisiana State 35-0 in 1950; and Maryland 7-0 in 1954 in the Orange Bowl.

His Oklahoma teams compiled a national record of 31 consecutive victories, running from the second game of the 1948 season through the final game of the 1951 season. Their current winning streak of 24 games is the longest in the nation and started with a 19-14 victory over Texas the third game of the 1953 season.

Another record that has been set by the Wilkinson coached teams, is a string of 100 games in which they have scored every game.

Bud also serves as athletic director at Oklahoma. During the 1950-51 school year, Oklahoma won three national collegiate championships, in football, wrestling, and baseball, and became the first school in the nation to win such honors in one year.

The football coaching staff under Wilkinson includes Gomer Jones, Pete Elliott, Sam Lyle, and Ted Youngling.

Jones is line coach and has developed such players as Kurt Burris, J. D. Roberts, Tom Catlin, and Jim Weatherall, all named to all-American teams. He graduated from Ohio State in 1936, and has been coaching in college football since 1946. In 1946 he was assistant coach at Nebraska and has been at Oklahoma since 1947.

Elliott is another of the Sooners' line coaches, and also works with the backfield. He started his coaching career at Oregon State as end coach and in 1951 moved to his present job at Oklahoma. He also served as coach of the varsity golf team.

Lyle is one of the newer additions to the Sooners staff. He is starting his second year with the Big Red. His principal job is scouting, but also has full coaching responsibilities. He was assistant coach to Bobby Dodds at Georgia Tech before moving to Oklahoma.

The rookie of the coaching staff is Youngling. He served as head coach at Hofstra college in 1950, assistant coach at Duke in 1952 and 1953 and VPI in 1954 before moving to his present position at Oklahoma.

McDonald Is Top Big Seven Scorer

Tommy McDonald, Sooner junior halfback, is currently leading the Big Seven in scoring with 54 point and also leads the conference in rushing with 371 yards in 53 carries.

McDonald is also one of the leading passers in the Big Seven. He has passed 13 times with 10 completions, and has not had a pass intercepted, for a total of 157 yards.

of the conference with 7 returns for 134 yards for an average of 19.1 yards a return.

In last season's Colorado game he hit Bob Burris with a pass that set up Oklahoma's second touchdown and gave them a 13-6 victory over Colorado.

McDonald is also a letterman on the Oklahoma varsity track squad. He runs on the sprint relay team.

TOMMY McDONALD, Sooner halfback, leading scorer and rusher of Big Seven.

In last Saturday's 56-21 win over Colorado, McDonald was a big gun in the Oklahoma attack. He scored two touchdowns, completed four forward passes good for 51 yards and carried the ball 12 times for 39 yards.

Last season as understudy to Buddy Leake, McDonald picked up 128 yards rushing in 27 carries. He was leading punt returner

PAUL DeWEESE (left), K-State sports publicity director, and Frank Mosier, K-State ticket manager, plan future publicity and ticket sales.

DeWeese Serves K-State As Good-Will Ambassador

By ORVAL JACKSON

Paul DeWeese, K-State's sports publicity director, serves as good will ambassador for the College wherever the Wildcats play.

This Saturday Paul will be in the press box for the K-State-Oklahoma tilt. Before this weekend, he has traveled as far as Los Angeles with Wildcat athletic teams while fulfilling his job as publicity director.

News copy from the sports publicity office reaches the entire United States and into two foreign countries. Sports releases from the K-State office are published in Ontario, Canada, and in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

DeWeese writes all K-State publicity for sports releases, and arranges for pictures to be sent with the copy. The sports releases are sent twice weekly to 350 newspapers, radio stations, and television stations.

"I enjoy the job of publicity director and get a big kick when K-State wins. The win over Marquette this year was one of the most exciting games I have seen K-State play. There was no question of the outcome of the game after the opening kickoff," DeWeese said.

There is nothing about the job that I dislike, although some of the road trips during basketball season keep me away from my family a lot," he said.

"My wife doesn't complain too seriously about the long road trips. She makes one trip with me each year and always goes to the pre-season Big Seven basketball tournament in Kansas City," DeWeese said.

Paul is in charge of the press box for all home football games. He assigns booths and makes all arrangements for the visiting newsmen and radio commentators.

"We try to supply everything we can to make it as easy as possible for the correspondents. We give them the statistics on the games as soon as they are compiled and try to make conditions as ideal as possible," he said.

DeWeese's office takes care of the publicity for all K-State's sports.

"I think spring sports create the most work," he said. "It's not that they are harder, but there are so many at the same time. In the fall we have football; in the winter, basketball, but in the spring there are four sports to cover."

It is impossible to classify one phase of publicity as more important than another. Under one condition the sports releases would be the most important, while under other conditions the pictures might be more so, he said.

The publicity office not only arranges for the sports photographs but is also responsible for having motion pictures taken of all the games, he said.

"I have no idea how many athletes may have been drawn to K-State by means of the publicity," he said. "I don't believe too many are, but I think there are a lot of students attracted by it."

Frank Mosier's Job Never a Boring One

By DON MARKER

"It's a job that never gets boring. Something different happens every day." That's the way Frank Mosier, athletic ticket manager since 1951, sums up the events that take place in his office in Ahearn field house.

Mosier estimates that approximately 100,000 tickets are sold through his office yearly. Mosier says most of the ticket requests coming into his office are presented to him in a courteous, reasonable manner, but that a few requests are accompanied by excuses for not ordering sooner.

Once in a while, a ticket customer will go so far as to say, "I'll go over your head to get my tickets," when told that there are no choice seats left.

*Probably the most frequent excuse for not ordering tickets well ahead of game time is, "I just forgot all about them."

Phone calls late at night ordering tickets are a usual occurrence at the Mosier home. These calls are heaviest on nights before home games.

Mosier says his job is "interesting and educational. You certainly meet many different types of people and the majority of them are wonderful to deal with."

Incidentally, most of the tickets now available for the Oklahoma game are in the end zone. Remember, though, that excuses for late orders won't help you get better tickets.

JEAN COOPER IS QUEEN

'55 Queen of Queens Gains Royalty Honor

Her Majesty the Queen

Jean Cooper is the 1955 Homecoming Queen. She was presented to K-State students last night by Gerry Day, student body president, at the close of the talent show.

Jean was chosen as Honorary Cadet Colonel last spring and was voted "Queen of Queens" at the Arts and Sciences carnival. She is a cheerleader, a member of the music, art, and library committee of the Student Union, a member of the Methodist church group, and a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority.

Her attendants are Marjorie Badeker, Clo Jr; Gail Compton, Sp Fr; Becky Culpepper, EEd Soph; and Alice Schulze, HDA Sr.

The queen and her attendants were chosen by student vote in a two-day election last week.

Jean and her attendants will participate in and be honored at the many Homecoming activities.

Today is Hobo Day on campus and the students are wearing the clothes they wore to work on house decorations.

The house decorations will be turned on from 6:30 until 10 p.m.

At 10 p.m. there will be a pep rally in the Student Union parking lot.

Queen Jean will be leading cheers with the rest of the cheerleaders.

She and her attendants will be presented at the dance which will follow the rally. The dance, called the "Stag Drag", will be in Nichols gymnasium. It starts at 10:30 and everyone is invited to come and anyone may come stag.

'Sooner or Later'

OU Meets Defeat 33 Ways In KS House Decorations

By ROYANNE McMULLEN

Oklahoma's Sooners will meet defeat in 33 different ways tonight in the Homecoming decorations of organized houses.

These decorations show the Sooners being ground into hamburgers, shaved by a Wildcat razor, boiled in their own oil, flushed down a stool, bowled over, "de-feeted," smashed, cooked, and turned into mice.

For the first time in recent years a central theme, "Sooner or Later," was specified for all decorations by the Homecoming committee.

Alpha Gamma Rho declares, "Sooner or later we'll cook the big red goose and he'll stir in his own juice." A big Wildcat is beheading geese, while another Wildcat is stirring them up in a big pot.

Alpha Chi Omega shows an oil well pumping. A Wildcat is standing near the derrick, and an outhouse on the lawn is labeled "alums headquarters." The slogan is "Sooner or later a Wildcat strike."

"GI—Lette's snave-em" is Clovia's theme. A big razor propelled by a Wildcat is shaving a Sooner.

A big skunk indicates "We'll skunk 'em," for Waltheim hall. The tail of the skunk goes up and down. As it goes up, a flower comes out and knocks an Oklahoma player over.

"Sooner or later we'll be wriggling along to victory" Kappa Delta maintains. A long worm with lighted antenna will be made to "move" through the use of lights.

Against a backdrop of large oil derricks and a city skyline, Chi Omega shows a Wildcat dunking Oklahoma players into a tank of oil.

"Sooner or later we'll make mice out of men" Delta Delta Delta declares stoutly. Two Sooner players are dragged into a three-dimensional pumpkin.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma's offer this recipe—"The heat's on 11 Sooners. Beat well." A Wildcat is beating gingerbread Sooners in a mixing bowl as another Wildcat is dragging forth more Sooners to be beaten. The slogan is "Recipe for Victory."

A big Wildcat face made up of the words, "Sooner or later," was made by the Beta Sigma Psi's. The letters will revolve in a sequence saying, "Sooner or Later—Sooner loss."

"Sooner or later they're gonna be comin' around" is Beta Theta Pi's theme. The Oklahoma players are being given a taste of defeat by K-State. The Sooners are tied to a torture rack and dragged through a vat of defeat to the tune of "an appropriate song."

The "Alpha Kappa Lambda Pyramid of Powers" is a pyramid with an Oklahoma player on top. A Wildcat de-thrones the Sooner. Mounds of earth with crosses at the bottom of the pyramid show teams Oklahoma has beaten this season.

Delta Sigma Phi's TV weather report shows Hurricane Wildcat sinking the Sooner schooner.

Delta Tau Delta's version of "Sooner or later," shows a Wildcat pulling the lever on a slot machine. At first he brings up a cherry, lemon, cherry, but the second time TD TD TD rings up.

"Keep your boasting 'til you've beaten" Pi Beta Phi warns the Sooners. Decorations center around the turtle, "The Hare and the Tortoise." The hare represents the Sooners going to the K-State tortoise to prove that "Sooner or later plodding wins the race."

Hall Claims Record For Queen Crowning

GOVERNOR FRED HALL receives an official invitation to attend Homecoming festivities from Martin Eby, CE Sr, president of Blue Key.

K-State's Homecoming Queen will receive her crown from a professional crown giver in the person of Governor Hall Saturday afternoon.

During my four years as lieutenant governor and one year as governor, I have probably crowned more queens than any man in the state. I challenge any other public official to equal my record for crowning queens," Governor Hall said.

The Governor was invited to crown this year's Homecoming queen by Blue Key, senior men's honorary organization. Governor Hall was a member of Blue Key at the University of Southern California in 1937.

"This will be the first time I have ever crowned a Homecoming queen," the Governor added. When asked for a prediction on the outcome of Saturday's game, the Governor smiled and said, "No comment."

Wildcat Available To Replace TD

An open letter to KU:

The laugh is at our expense again. We had planned to hide Touchdown IV immediately after the Oklahoma-Kansas State football game. It is our belief that KU anticipated this move.

Fortunately, there is a second wildcat at our disposal. There will be a wildcat in the parade Saturday and at the football game, and most important of all, at the KU-K-State football game.

Edward L. Stolfus, president of Alpha Phi Omega, Pi chapter—Touchdown IV's keepers.

Collegian Artistry Done by St. Pat

Martha DeGraff, Art Soph, made the drawing on the front page of today's paper that shows a Wildcat and a Sooner pulling at the "Kansas State Collegian." She also drew the Wildcat throwing a football on the front page of the sports section.

Martha, who reigned as St. Patricia at the Engineers Open House last spring, is recognized as one of K-State's top art students. Our thanks go to her for her help with today's Homecoming edition.

U. S. Military Policy

U. S. Interest Stirs In Armament Race

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington—The Defense Department leadership, and more particularly the able new under secretary, Reuben Robertson, is showing signs of taking Soviet progress in the world weapons race with a real seriousness which is long overdue.

The signs are of various sorts, but all point in the same direction. For example, something like an armed truce has at last been arranged in the bloody war that the army, navy, and air force have been waging over the so-called mid-range missile.

This is a guided rocket of approximately 1,500-mile range. It is important in itself; and it may prove to be even more important as a precursor of the true ultimate weapon, the ballistic rocket with true intercontinental range. The Soviets successfully tested rockets of about 1,500 miles range considerably more than a year ago, and are now believed to be producing them in considerable quantities.

In this country, however, the mid-range missile has been hopelessly entangled in one of our customary inter-service disputes. The air force maintained that a midrange missile was a mere interim weapon, and that effort should be concentrated on the far more difficult intercontinental missile.

The army and navy pointed out, quite correctly, that one had to walk before one could run; and that building this interim weapon was likely to be an important and maybe an essential step on the road to getting the ultimate weapon. But the army and navy wanted midrange missiles for their own use. This at once raised the passion-charged issue of roles and missions.

So the fight continued until the Pentagon at last began to face the grim fact that the Soviets now have a substantial lead in missile development.

The same unhappy process of fact facing also seems likely to produce another kind of progress in the missile field. Under Secretary of Defense Robertson has recently returned from a careful tour of inspection of all the scattered American missile projects, research establishments, and controlling headquarters.

Under Secretary of Defense Robertson has tackled the crucial problem of lead time." It takes this country 8 years, or thereabouts, from the decision that a new airplane type is needed to the actual production of the aircraft. In contrast, the Soviets took only 4 years to get their "Bison" longrange jet bomber into quantity production. In other words, Soviet lead time is only half as long as American lead time.

In order to lessen this very heavy handicap, certain important changes in American procurement procedures already have been made. For example, orders have been given to jettison the "fly-before-buy" rule for aircraft procurement, which the Republican defense leadership introduced with sneers and scorn for the wastefulness of their predecessors.

Perhaps more important still, Under Secretary Robertson has formed a special committee under his chairmanship to study the fantastically cumbersome and costly process by which this country now gets new weapons, and to prepare proposals for a root-and-branch reform.

The idea that Soviets were ahead of us in missile development was pooh-poohed until recently in just the same fashion. In this case, the turning point seems to have been reached with the historic special report prepared for the national security council. The experts said the Soviets were very far ahead.

But, while facts are being faced, and the movement at the Pentagon is now in the right direction, one great question remains. Will the really painful thing be done? Will the resources and money be made available to overtake the Soviets where they have passed us in the race?

Did U.S. Consider Attack on Chiang?

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Washington — The most important American military project to go to the aid of the Chinese Communists was one of the more conspicuous omissions from the recent Pentagon release of documents concerning U.S. policy in the Far East in the last war.

The elder of these reporters has personal knowledge of this project, which constitutes one of the major unsolved mysteries of the Far Eastern war. In the summer of 1945, shortly after the Japanese surrender on Okinawa, the reporter accompanied Maj. Gen. C. L. Chennault to the China Theater headquarters of Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, at Chungking.

In brief, General Wedemeyer's predecessor in the China Theater, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, then held the Okinawa command under General MacArthur.

Because of the expected requirements of the invasion of Japan, General Stilwell could not be allowed more than a couple of American divisions. But he could make a junction with the local Chinese resistance forces; he could strengthen them with American arms; and he could lead them against the Japanese armies in North China.

General Stilwell, of course, had been dismissed from the command in China by Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, and was well known to be the Generalissimo's bitter personal enemy. Equally, of course, the Chinese forces of resistance in the North were almost exclusively composed of Communists, and General Stilwell was a professed admirer of the Chinese Communist movement.

The JCS proposal, in short, was tantamount to an American declaration of war on Chiang Kai-shek. The reporter, perhaps frivolously, suggested to General Wedemeyer that he answer the telegram by inquiring whether the Joint Chiefs really mean to go to war against Chiang.

There still is interest in this proposal, however, in the recent context of heated controversy about Gen. Douglas MacArthur's role in that difficult and distant time. Stilwell then was General MacArthur's subordinate, and the forces he was to lead into North China would have come from the divisions available to MacArthur for the Japanese landing.

The aim of the proposed landing by Stilwell, moreover, was to counter a threat which MacArthur then estimated far too highly. This is shown by the papers already published by the Pentagon, and particularly by two key memoranda of conversations with General MacArthur in 1945, written by Col. Paul Freeman Jr. and Brig. Gen. George A. Lincoln.

Although MacArthur has since declared that he did not want a Soviet intervention in 1945, Colonel Freeman further described MacArthur as strongly urging that the Soviets ought to be persuaded to move against the Japanese in Manchuria at the first possible moment after the German surrender.

The reason given, in both instances, was that MacArthur believed the Japanese armies on the mainland to be powerful, and thought they constituted a serious menace to the success of the landing in Japan.

A question therefore arises about the origin of the remarkable proposal to send Stilwell and the Chinese Communists against the Japanese mainland armies that were then giving MacArthur such grave concern.

Was it a mere JCS pipe dream? Were the Joint Chiefs, who always hated a row with MacArthur, really proposing to divert forces under his control, at a most crucial moment and without his prior concurrence? Or had the proposal in fact originated in MacArthur's own headquarters, as seems more natural. These questions also deserve answers.

State." Oklahoma covered wagons are outmoded by a Wildcat in a rocket.

"State strikes Sooner" in Alpha Xi Delta's bowling alley. A Wildcat rolls and knocks over 11 Sooner pins. As the pins fall, the lights go out.

"Sooner or later we'll break the Sooners' record" is the Sigma Chi's prediction. A big record labeled, "The Sooners' Record," by Wilkinson, Oklahoma coach, is broken by a Wildcat player throwing a football at it. As the record splits in two, it discloses a newspaper, "Later Times," by Bus Mertes featuring stories of a Sooner loss, alumni news, and the attitude of Wilkinson.

Sigma Nu uses lights and sound to illustrate wind, lightning, and powers of nature attending as the "Colossus of K-State reigns supreme."

At Sigma Phi Epsilon an OU rancher is twirling a rope by a corral full of teams Oklahoma has beaten this year. He is looking for something to fill a vacant spot and talks about a Wildcat. Then he comes over the state line, gets in a fight with the Wildcat, ends up bruised and beaten on a manure spreader behind a tractor driven by a Wildcat farmer. The slogan, "Typical Oklahoma Spread," flashes on.

Tau Kappa Epsilon's "Sooner" scene has a Wildcat sending Sooners out of a meat house into a meat grinder turned by another Wildcat. The "Later" scene shows the Sooners being ground into hamburgers to be eaten by a Wildcat in "Mertes Diner."

"Cats pop Sooners" at Theta Xi. A Wildcat kicks a Sooner into the air to the tune, "Whatever Touchdown Wants, Touchdown Gets." The Sooner lands in a frying pan held by a Wildcat over a fire and is roasted to the words, "Salt and butter ready, Cats red hot, Oklahoma too popped to pop."

Lambda Chi Alpha dares "just Troy to beat our Cats." Eleven Trojan warriors are pulling a big Trojan Cat.

Phi Delta Theta shows an Oklahoma Sooner sliding down a ramp into buzz saw. His feet are cut off, and the theme is "Sooner or later we'll de-feet the Sooners."

A Wildcat bowling a strike of Sooner tenpins illustrates "Sooner or later the Cats strike," for the Kappa Sigma's. A score board shows the past OU-K-State scores. The pin boy is Coach Wilkinson.

"We'll not be in wake of the red witch" the 1834 Club (Delta Upsilon Colony) swears. The ship, Red Witch is being fired upon by a purple ship manned by a Wildcat. In the Red Witch's wake are the pennants of teams OU has beaten this season.

"Sooner or later we'll ring up a win" on Southeast hall's purple-and-white cash register. KS 55 and OU "No sale" shows, then the drawer opens and a Wildcat pops out.

Alpha Tau Omega's Wildcat gives a Sooner a "Royal Flush" down a stool.

A K-State octopus on a football field at Sigma Alpha Epsilon clutches OU players in his tentacles. The slogan says, "We'll octupi the gridiron and have the situation well in hand."

At Pi Kappa Alpha, a Wildcat shoots at a Sooner balloon bearing the legend, "49 straight wins." They predict that "Sooner or later" that record will be broken.

"Miracles do happen," Phi Kappa Tau demonstrates. A Dodger player riding a Yankee shows what has happened. A Wildcat rides in a Sooner wagon labeled, "the Sooner the better."

Phi Kappa shows how to "smash the Sooners." Oklahoma oil wells and Kansas wheat fields loom behind a Sooner covered wagon. A weight comes down smashes the wagon.

Northwest hall makes the "Sooners flounder under the Wildcat fury." A K-State player standing at one end of a football field forms a V for victory. Another Wildcat is leading a wagon of Sooners back to Oklahoma.

At Van Zile hall, a patient Wildcat watches a big grandfather clock with a moving pendulum. A poem explains—"Hickory, dickory, dock; the Sooners are running this clock, but Sooner or Later, they met a K-Stater, and this old clock will stop!"

Harry Waits 28 Years

By ORVAL JACKSON

Thousands of K-State fans will be on hand for the K-State-Oklahoma game, but it is doubtful if any will enjoy the game more than Harry Morris.

Morris, known to thousands of K-State students both past and present as "Harry the Cop," will be seeing his first Homecoming game in 28 years.

Harry will be seated on the 50-yard line on the west side of the field for the game and will be pulling for the Wildcats all the way.

Harry has seen all home football games this year and is very hopeful of a K-State victory over Oklahoma.

"I hope that we beat Oklahoma. It's in the boys to do it and if we just get a few breaks it could happen," he said.

"I think the best game the Wildcats have played so far this year was the Colorado game. The boys just had a few bad breaks in the second half," he said.

Listening to the radio is a pastime of Harry's. He has listened to all of the out-of-town games and is an ardent fan of KSDB-FM.

"I listen to KSDB-FM all the time and I think the students have a very good station. It is good experience for them and they are doing a good job," he said.

Harry retired September 9 of this year. He was in charge of the library prior to joining the campus police in 1934. He was with the police until his retirement.

Why do more college men and women smoke than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance—cellulose—found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Today's World News

Government of France Wins Confidence Vote

Paris, (U.P.)—The French government won a vote of confidence today, thus saving France and its western allies from a major international crisis.

The vote was 271 to 259.

Premier Edgar Faure staked the life of his cabinet and France's formal participation in the Big Four ministers conference in Geneva on the vote and won.

The vote was considered so crucial that Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay flew here from Geneva to plead with the divided deputies to avoid plunging France into crises at this time.

The vote was on general government policies, provoked by a Socialist party charge the Faure government was incompetent to handle the crucial issues facing it in Europe and North Africa.

Bill Sikes To Miss Riding Horse in Saturday Parade

Bulletin

William Sikes will not be able to ride to tomorrow's Homecoming parade, according to his doctor and the Riley County hospital.

By HARRY MACHIN JR

A graduate of the class of '79, Sikes still lives an active life. He shows up for work each day at the large general store which he founded in Leonardville 74 years ago.

Sikes, whose vast memory goes back to Civil war days, was brought to Kansas by his Congregational minister father in 1870. They settled in a small German community near where Onaga is located today.

The Rev. John A. Anderson was president of K-State when Sikes graduated. Sikes remembers when President Anderson threw out the previous rules for students' conduct and instituted his own three, which were:

1. Behave as a true man or woman should, at all times and in all places.

2. Attend to your own business promptly, thoroughly, and courteously, and vigorously let alone that of other people.

3. Penalty: "Leave!"

"Present day students would not recognize the campus of 1879," Sikes said. "Students with any great distance to travel would come on horseback. Parking wasn't a problem in those days," Sikes recalls.

Mums a K-State Tradition At Homecoming Since '38

By MARY FABIN

Mums have been the traditional word in Homecoming flowers at K-State since about 1938.

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, has been selling the flowers each Homecoming for the past 17 or 18 years.

The chief complaint of the 1939 mum sales committee was that men students were selling mums at the Homecoming game. Mortar Board had paid for exclusive rights to mum sales that day.

Girls circulated in the stands selling the mums that year. Stands were also built under the stadium where flowers were sold. Permission to sell them there was obtained from the athletic department.

The highest-price mum in 1939 was 50 cents. A medium sized mum sold for 35 cents and a smaller size for 25 cents. The mums came in yellow, white, and bronze. Today the mums come in two sizes, the larger one selling for $2 and the smaller one selling for $1.50. Bronze, white, and yellow mums are still the most popular colors for sale.

Fraternities, sororities, and organized houses were found to be poor markets for the sale of mums in 1939, reports a Mortar Board member. The club decided that more mums could be sold at the game and by contacting members of the faculty for orders in advance than by canvassing the houses.

Advance orders taken in 1939 were for 43 small mums and 101 large ones.

The profits from homecoming mum sales that year netted $12, and since that was regarded to be a good profit, plans were made to sell the mums again the following year.

Betton To Play In Homecoming Ball Tomorrow

The Homecoming Ball Saturday night will close Homecoming activities for 1955.

Highlight of the ball will be presentation of and crowning of the 1955 Homecoming Queen by Martin K. Eby Jr., president of Blue Key, senior men's honorary which sponsors the dance. The Queen's attendants will also be honored at the dance.

Matt Betton and his band will play for the dance. Seven former members of Betton's band will be playing with Betton Saturday night in addition to his regular band members.

A minimum of decorations will be used. Center of the decoration scheme will be a big blue key which will be spotlighted and be placed back of the bandstand.

Pep, Dancing Tonight After Tour of Houses

Tonight's Homecoming activities will be climaxed by an all-College pep rally and dance which will follow the viewing of house decorations.

The rally and dance are "come as you are" affairs, bearing out the theme of the day.

The pep rally will begin at 10 in the Student Union parking lot. Speeches by the players and coaches and a gigantic bonfire have been planned for the rally. Students may bring anything which will make noise, Phil Robertson, Homecoming chairman, said.

The dance will start at 10:30 in Nichols gym. Gordon Bute, Sp Fr, and his band, which is made up of students, will play at the dance.

The dance is known as the "Stag Drag" and admission is free. Stags, both men and women, are urged to attend the dance, Robertson said.

Student Health

Four girls and seven boys are patients in the Student Health hospital today.

The girls are Sally Salisbury, Helen Peter, Laureen Stewart, and Rae Weidenbach.

The boys are Jack Downing, Carroll Langley, Lee Lazarus, Gary Allen, Norman Bird, Laurence Peck, and Dwight Bennett.

Football Is Serious Business To Head Mentor's Missus

By MARY BECKMEYER

Football may be just a game to some people, but it is pretty serious business to a woman when it is her husband's career.

"The wife of a football coach has a special role to fill," says Pauline Mertes, vivacious wife of K-State's head coach.

"Most football coaches are under tension at one time or another," she explains. "They cope with it in different ways. Some like to talk their problems over at home and others don't. It's up to a coach's wife to figure out when to talk and when to be quiet."

"Bus doesn't get nervous until the morning of the game," she added. "From the second the first whistle of the game is blown, I know that Bus has the boys keyed to the best of their ability and that they will give all they have."

She said she yells at all the games because it is her belief that it is better to release one's emotions than to suffer from ulcers.

"In our family, Bus is the football coach and I am the coach of our three youngsters. I let him worry about the plays he will send against the opposing team. My strategy is to combat the plays I know our children will throw at me the next day," Mrs. Mertes said.

Bus and Pauline came to Manhattan from Peoria, Ill., in 1953, where he served as head coach at Bradley university.

Both are graduates of the University of Iowa. They were married in Iowa City in 1948 and now have three children, Michael, 6; Sally, 2½; and Kelly, 5 months.

Mrs. Mertes' hobbies are bridge, golf, and TV. "Of course I wasn't so interested in TV until Bus had his own show. Now we never miss it. Football is my main hobby and Michael is always my escort when the Wildcats play at home."

Band 'To Float K'

The K-State band will give with plenty of "spirit" when they float a big "K" down field at halftime, adding color to the coronation ceremonies.

Demonstrating precision drill in marching, the band will form a huge "K" and move down field playing "Wildcat Victory."

"It is the first time we've tried it since 1950," said Jean Hedlund, director of the band.

Other halftime activities by the band will be a military march and a salute to the Sooners with the spelling of Oklahoma to the tune of Rodgers and Hammerstein's hit show "Oklahoma."

Following the crowning of the queen by Governor Hall the Lawrence Norvell, Manhattan

High school band director, will be guest director of the combined Manhattan High and K-State bands when they play the national anthem at game time.

'43 Homecoming

Homecoming, 1943, was attended by only a few alumni but it was one of the most inspirational in the history of the Alumni association. At the Homecoming luncheon a motion was passed that the Alumni association appeal to the proper authorities of the U.S. Army asking that regulations be liberalized to allow soldiers attending our colleges and universities to participate in inter-collegiate athletics.

Homecoming Changes Greatly in Past 40 Years

By MARY BECKMEYER

Forty years ago on October 23, five thousand people were gathered around a little field singing and clapping as the Aggies came on the field to the tune of "Aggie Loyalty."

This was the scene of Kansas State's first Homecoming game in 1915. Kansas State students realized that this idea for a Homecoming Day was a great one and that it should become a college tradition.

The Homecoming celebration is credited to Coach John Bender, head football coach at that time. Bender, who came to K-State from Nebraska university, was coaching his first year at K-State in 1915. He suggested that a day be set aside for Homecoming.

Letters were sent to alumni inviting them to the first Homecoming game of Kansas State vs. Kansas university. High school seniors from all over the state were admitted to the game free, and 10,000 stickers advertising the event were distributed.

Friday evening preceding the game an enthusiastic crowd of 2,500 gathered at the auditorium and then held a snake dance downtown. Former K-State athletes were awarded big K's, and College entertainment and a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight wound up the first pre-Homecoming activities.

The day of the game visitors swarmed into town. The KU rooters, accompanied by their band, came on a special train. They were met at the station by the Aggie band and 1,000 students. Music resounded through the streets as the entire group marched to the campus.

Game time came—and the Wildcats attacked like a whirlwind. The first half of the game appeared to be an Aggie victory. At halftime the KU band performed and K-State girls, dressed in white, formed a huge K on the field.

During the fourth quarter KU piled up 19 points to win the game by a score of 19-7.

The first Homecoming day was such a success that it was established as an annual event.

"Second Annual Homecoming, Missouri Tigers vs. Aggie Wildcats—Come, Be a Booster, November 11."

This invitation was printed on thousands of stickers which were pasted on the letters of loyal Aggies. On November 11, a record breaking crowd was sending "Old Jay Rah" ringing across the field.

When the final whistle blew, the Tigers were vanquished and the Wildcats placed the first Homecoming triumph in the records of K-State's history.

Decorating houses and lawns began in 1923 with prizes awarded to the most original. Merchants went "all-out" and decorated their shop windows. Railroads made special rates for people going to the game, and a Kansas City radio station broadcast the game. Although there was a deluge of rain, every event except the bicycle races went off as scheduled.

The actual Homecoming parade was instituted in 1927. Judging of the floats in the parade was based on originality and adaptability, just as it is now.

In 1929, Manhattan joined KSAC in welcoming alumni back for the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the founding of Manhattan and for the Kansas State Aggie-Oklahoma university football game.

Homecoming, 1932, introduced the varsity dance. There were two big dances that weekend—one on Friday and one Saturday night at the Wareham hotel ballroom. Before the dance on Friday night there was a pajama parade.

Kansas State's first Homecoming Queen, Jean Underwood of Hoisington, was selected in 1936. She was elected by votes of the students who bought tickets to the Blue Key dance.

Twenty fraternities decorated their houses and lawns for the 1937 Homecoming. Cars loaded with fraternity men stopped the traffic for several hours, as they made the rounds to see how well their rivals had done.

In 1938, 20,000 persons jammed Manhattan to witness the gigantic 2-mile, 75th anniversary parade and the KU-K-State football game. The parade depicted the development of the college during the past 75 years of its existence.

The Wildcats defeated a favored Nebraska team 12-6 in the 1941 Homecoming game.

In 1945 no fraternity or sorority houses were decorated in the usual pre-war manner. Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Council voted down decorating organized Greek houses for Homecoming.

"Instead of decorating halfway, let's wait until next year and do it up right," they announced.

And they did "do it up right" —"Victory Homecoming" was the theme of 1946. In years before the war the celebration lasted only two days. The '46 Homecoming had five days of activities.

The 1951 Homecoming Ball was the first social event in the new Field House. One thousand couples attended the dance.

Trophies were presented to the Homecoming Queen and her attendants for the first time in 1952. In previous years they had received gifts.

A record crowd of 22,500 people watched Oklahoma university defeat K-State 34-0 in the 1953 game.

In 1954, the student body elected Marlene Young, K-State's drum majorette, Homecoming Queen.

Working engineers of P & W A, waiting for classes to begin at R.P.I.'s new graduate center. Courses include Aeronautical Engineering, Physics, Mathematics, Nuclear Technology, Management Training.

Here's something unique in education.

Near the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft plant in East Hartford, Conn., a full-fledged graduate center was established this fall by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Located 115 miles from R.P.I.'s home campus in upper New York State, the new graduate facilities will enable working engineers from Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and other companies in the Hartford area to continue their studies. Without interrupting normal employment, it will be possible for students to obtain advanced degrees in specialized fields from the nation's oldest engineering college.

Designed to raise the level of knowledge and to broaden the base from which advanced research can be approached, this entire program will simultaneously lead enrolled engineers to greater achievement in their careers.

Organizations Ready Floats For Big Parade Saturday

Six fraternities, three sororities, two church groups, and seventeen campus clubs have floats entered in the homecoming parade which starts at 10 Saturday morning, Eugene Porch, chairman of the parade committee, said today.

Riding in the parade will be Capt. Robert B. Tobias of the ROTC department, parade marshal; Fred Hall, governor of Kansas; James A. McCain, college president; Nate D. Harwood, mayor of Manhattan; Gerry Day, student body president; and the queen and her attendants.

The six fraternities entering floats in the parade are Acacia, with a large wildcat beating on a covered wagon simulating an Oklahoma schooner; Farmhouse, no description; Kappa Sigma, with a coffin containing an Oklahoma Sooner with K-State Wildcat pallbearers; Lambda Chi Alpha, with a trojan horse, modified into a Wildcat, with the theme "Just 'troy' and beat our Wildcat," inscribed on the shields of twelve trojan warriors, who will be pulling the float.

Pi Kappa Alpha will have an old fashioned southern revival, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will have a float with Sooners being fed into a giant buzzsaw on the back of a truck.

The three sororities entering floats are Alpha Delta Pi, with a giant ice cream cone and the slogan, "Sooner or later they all get licked;" Chi Omega, with four giant soap boxes with the slogan, "Sooner or later we're going to wash out OU."

Pi Beta Phi will have a giant football mounted on a small MG sports car.

Other entries in the parade are two novelty cars, an old jalopy model, and a miniature Pontiac make.

Seventeen other campus clubs will have floats or cars in the parade which will cover a 20 block route.

The Pershing Rifles, college military club, will provide a fancy drill platoon, a standard drill platoon, and the color guard for the parade.

The K-State marching band, and the Manhattan high school band will march and play.

The Whi-Purs, Purple Peppers, and the Wampus Cats the three campus pep clubs, will march and lead cheers.

More than 50 groups will participate in the parade as it moves from downtown Manhattan at Second and Poyntz, the starting point, to Eleventh street, up Eleventh to Moro, up Moro to Manhattan avenue, and left up Anderson street to 17th, where the parade will break up. The starting time is 10 a.m.

Record Number Of KS Alums Expected Here

By DOUG TEDROW

A record number of K-State grads are expected back for Homecoming this year, Kenney Ford, K-State Alumni association secretary, said.

Alumni plans for Homecoming begin with registration at the Alumni office on Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 noon. A luncheon will be served at the cafeteria for alums, Ford said. "We'll probably just sit and visit, because there will be no main speaker or introductions," Ford said.

One of the main functions of the Alumni association is promoting goodwill and fellowship among K-State grads, and Kenney has helped in this capacity for the 28 years he has served as a member of the K-State Alumni association.

Another primary function of the Alumni association is to act as a public relations office for the College. The Memorial stadium was built largely by alumni contributions—as were several other buildings on campus.

Dues from the Alumni association go for a student loan fund by which a student may borrow whatever amount he needs for the advancement of his schooling at K-State.

Bruises, Strains, Sprains Most Common to Athletes

By BEVERLY RINGEY

Bruises, sprains and strains are the most common injuries in sports at Kansas State, athletic trainer, Laurence (Porky) Morgan said.

"Football usually has the highest number of injuries, but then people seldom stop to consider that there are 94 or 95 boys playing football each year at K-State, and it is a contest sport," he continued.

In football, sprains, bruises, and knee injuries are the most common, but occasionally broken bones and concussions occur. Last year, a freshman suffered a broken leg in the game between the KU and K-State freshman.

Abrasions and bruises are the most common injuries in basketball. However, there are others that are potentially more serious.

Muscle pulls, sprains, and joint injuries, including dislocations come up again in wrestling, but K-State hasn't had any serious injuries in this field.

KS Mascot Is a Gone Cat

Memorial Stadium

The new Memorial Stadium, which was a memorial to all K-State men who died as a result of the nation's wars, was the scene of the 1922 Homecoming game. Ten thousand saw the Aggies tie KU 7-7.

By BEVERLY RINGEY

Touchdown IV, K-State's wildcat mascot, has been swiped—again—and is still missing. A substitute wildcat is available for Homecoming festivities, however.

The lock on TD's cage in Sunset Park Zoo was broken sometime Wednesday night. The catnappers chased the wildcat into the small cage that is used to transport her to and from the football games, and made off with cage and cat.

This is the third time K-State's mascot has been pilfered. A similar attempt was foiled last year when K-State students overtook the culprits and returned the mascot in time for the football game the following day.

KU students are suspected of planning and executing this misdemeanor which is considered a capital crime on the K-State campus, according to Edward L. Stolfus, president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Touchdown IV has had a long, eventful career at K-State. She was purchased as a kitten from the Hutchinson Fire department by Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity. When not making public appearances in behalf of K-State athletics, she is at home in Sunset zoo.

Her predecessors were not so fortunate in living quarters, living rather hectic lives in quarters on the campus.

Head coach Charley Bachman in 1922 was largely instrumental in getting the first Wildcat mascot. He thought a wildcat would be a good choice and appealed to the alumni for aid in obtaining one.

Touchdown I soon arrived in Manhattan, the gift of Herbert R. Groome '05 and John E. McCoy '09, veterinarians. Both were practicing in Twin Falls, Idaho, and from some undisclosed source secured the wildcat which they sent to coach Bachman.

Touchdown I had been involved in an unfortunate encounter with a porcupine shortly before his capture. He came out of the scrap with his face and throat filled with quills. As a result he was unable to eat, finally becoming so weak that he fell easy victim to pneumonia. He died shortly after his arrival in Manhattan.

Touchdown II arrived about a week after the death of the first mascot, and was a healthy, growling, spitting wildcat, an ideal representative for a fighting football team. He came from Washington State college, the gift of Harold P. (Horsepower) Bates, KS '11.

The story of the capture of Touchdown II as recounted in a letter to coach Bachman is an amusing, if somewhat imaginative yarn.

Bates had appealed to some hunter friends to catch a wildcat for him to give to his alma mater. This particular cat was the sixth one they tried for, the other five having fought so viciously they were killed in the attempt to catch them.

Touchdown II was chased into a hole by dogs and a trap was set in the entrance. The next morning the wildcat was found securely caught in the trap.

Next, tin cans of the correct size were slipped over his feet and tied securely, thus eliminating danger from his claws. After being "disarmed" in this fashion, so the story goes, the wildcat was led into town on a rope.

In spite of these indignities Touchdown II, physically uninjured arrived on the K-State campus in fine condition and with a hearty appetite. He lived to see many Wildcat victories, but was stricken with heat prostration during the hot, dry summer of 1936.

Touchdown III arrived two years later from Arizona. He was the gift of Dr. F. Schmidt, also a vet medicine graduate.

Like the first cat, however, he soon fell victim to pneumonia, leaving the school without a mascot.

This situation was remedied a few years later when Alpha Phi Omega purchased Touchdown IV, who probably has lived the most colorful career of all the K-State wildcats.

Jean Cooper Is 20th KS Homecoming Queen

By LILA ORME
Crowning of Jean Cooper as Homecoming Queen at halftime of Saturday's game will be one of the highlights of the 1955 Homecoming, just as it has been for the past 19 years.
Since 1936, the selection of a queen has been a feature of Homecoming.
K-State coed to be selected as the first Homecoming Queen was Jeanne Underwood, a sophomore in home economics from Hoisington representing Chi Omega.

At that time, each sorority sold tickets to the Homecoming Ball and each ticket sold was a vote for the group's candidate. Miss Underwood has since become the wife of Glenn Robinson, a lawyer in Ellinwood.

A glance at the qualifications of the queens of the past 10 years seem to indicate that the odds are against senior girls winning. Only one of the 10 girls was a senior, and five of them were freshmen. Queen for 1945 was Louise Holdren, a junior representing Alpha Delta Pi. She is now Mrs. Gregg Chappell, has four children, and is living in Canada.

Phyllis Lou Johnson, a Kappa Kappa Gamma representative, was queen in 1946. She was a freshman. In 1950 she was married to Gerald Patrick and is now living in Washington, Ill.

The 1947 queen, Carol Campbell, was one queen who really pursued her studies. A Pi Phi freshman from Kansas City, Mo., she went on to receive her PhD in chemistry.

Soph Virginia Price, representing Alpha Chi, was queen in 1948. She is now Mrs. Phillip Day, has one child, and is living with her family in Germany.

Another freshman, Tri-Delt Jolene Esau, was Homecoming Queen in 1949. She married Tom Wilson who was also a student here. He was a jet pilot and was killed in a crash soon after their marriage. Jolene now works for Hallmark Card company in Kansas City.

Freshman Nancy Curtiss, a Chi Omega, was queen in 1950. Miss Curtiss is now Mrs. Chauncey Gundelfinger. Her husband is in the air force and they live in Tacoma, Wash. They have no children.

An Alpha Xi candidate, Doris Schwab, took the honors in 1951. She is now Mrs. Robert Yeager, lives in Wichita, and has two children.

The 1952 queen, a Kappa Kappa Gamma, was the only senior of the past 10. She was Charleen Dunn. After graduation, Miss Dunn worked for Hereford Journal. She married John R. Fifield and they are the parents of a child born this month. They now live in Japan.

Blythe Guy, queen for 1953, was a junior, representing Delta Delta Delta. She is now the wife of Jack Potts, also a K-State graduate. They live in El Paso, Texas.

Missionary To Speak Here Sunday, Monday

By NORMA LEE BROWN
Overseas students and students interested in vocations in the church may consult with a member of the travel staff of the Student Volunteer Movement for Christian Missions, who will be on the K-State campus Sunday and Monday.

He is Edwin Bittenbender, one of a group of missionaries and nationals who are touring colleges and universities.

Bittenbender plans to return to India soon to do student work at Lucknow Christian college, where he has spent three years as a teacher. He is a graduate of Susquehanna university and holder of a B.D. degree from Garrett Biblical institute.

Bittenbender will meet with the Disciples Student fellowship from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., and with the Wesley Foundation from 10:45 a.m. until noon Sunday. He will meet with the Lutheran Student association Sunday at 4 p.m. and will speak at a joint meeting of Roger Williams fellowship and Westminster fellowship at Westminster house at 5:30 p.m.

Latter Day Saints

The Latter Day Saints enjoyed fun, frolic and fellowship at a Halloween party last night at the home of Dr. T. D. Bell, faculty advisor.

Two worship programs will be held at Danforth chapel next Sunday. Church school will be at 10 a.m. and the sacrament service will meet at 3 p.m.

College Baptist Students

The College Baptist Youth Fellowship will have a hayrack ride Saturday night. They will leave the church at 7:30 and will return for refreshments afterward.

KS Christian Fellowship

Dr. Paul Losh, from the Central Baptist Theological seminary in Kansas City, Kan., will be the speaker at Kansas State Christian Fellowship next Tuesday night. He will speak on "Christ—Practical or Theoretical?" Doctor Losh is head of the Kansas City religious education system.

Wesley Foundation

The Rev. B. A. Rogers will preach on "Being Up to Date" at the 9:50 church service. Edwin Bittenbender will be a guest speaker during church school period at 11.

Roger Williams

The Roger Williams Fellowship will have Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Church will follow.

RWF will meet with the Westminster group at 5:30 p.m. at the Westminster house for a meeting with Edwin Bittenbender.

United Presbyterian

The United Presbyterian Youth fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Education building of the United Presbyterian church at 1000 Fremont.

Hillel Foundation

B'nai Brith-Hillel foundation members will attend the services at 7:30 tonight at the Jewish chapel, Tenth and East streets, Camp Funston, Fort Riley.

DSF

"The Racial Question" will be discussed by a guest panel at the Disciple Student Fellowship Sunday evening program.

The DSF will meet at 5:30 p.m. at the church and a meal will be served at 6 p.m.

USF

The United Student Fellowship group will have a Halloween party at Bayer's cabin this Sunday.

The young people's discussion class will meet at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in Pioneer hall of the First Congregational church. Church services will follow at 11.

Canterbury Club

Guest speaker at the Sunday evening Canterbury Association meeting will be the Rev. James E. Leach, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Lutheran Students

A panel discussion on "The Apostle's Creed" will be given at the Sunday meeting of the Lutheran Student association at the First Lutheran church, 928 Poyntz, at 5 p.m.

Janice Ames Tops In Talent Program

By MARY FABIN

Janice Ames, Art Soph stole last night's talent show with her vocal number "Blue Moon." She was called back to do "Ain't Misbehavin'", and "Give Me a Little Kiss." Miss Ames was recently chosen as one of the two finalists in a Lawrence Welk vocal talent contest.

Earl Davis, professor of English, sang several modern ballads. They were satirical songs, one of which was about the Wild West and the other about the Old South. Professor Davis sang "Frankie and Johnnie" as an encore.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon quartette was also called back for an encore. They sang barber shop numbers and also dedicated a number which was entitled "Confusion" to the parking lot and Collegian editors.

A trombone solo, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You" was played by Steve Cox, Soc. Fr.

Duncan Erickson, Ar 02, impersonated Liberace. He regretted to inform the audience that "George was unable to be present."

Four country style numbers were presented by Royce Johnson, MGS Soph. He sang "They've Got Me Singing This Way", and along with a steel guitar accompaniment he played "Steel Guitar Rag", and "Wildwood Flowers," followed by another vocal "You'd Just Better Not Do That

Union Landscaping Started

By LANCE GILMORE

If you think the new Student Union looks good now, look again next spring when the major part of the landscaping will be completed.

By that time, an ambitious program of landscaping and sidewalk building will have transformed a Union already termed "one of the best in the Midwest" into one of the beauty spots of the campus.

Prof. L. R. Quinlan said $2,500 is available for landscaping from the building fund. Some of the planting, especially around the north and east entrances, will be started soon. Quinlan is in charge of landscape planning.

The grounds south of the Union are expected to extend about 115 feet from the building, and will be screened off from the parking lot by locust trees. One row of the present parking lot will have to be removed to make room for these grounds and for a walkway running east and west.

Under consideration is a plan to build a stone terrace and an ornamental pool on the south side of the Union. This will be done later than next spring, if undertaken at all, R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of the physical plant, said.

The main entrance on the north side of the Union will have roses and broadleaf evergreens in three-level stone boxes to the right of the entrance. Junipers will line the stone seat at the left of the entrance. Redbud trees will line the right side of the walk.

Evergreen shrubs will be planted along most of the perimeter of the lecture hall, and there will be scattered pine trees just north of the lecture hall.

A similar theme of broadleaf evergreens and flowers will be used in planter boxes at the east entrance. Shade trees and shrubs will be used extensively in other places on the Union grounds, Quinlan said.

The grass, which now is mostly rye, will be principally bluegrass when the lawn is matured.

Sidewalks will extend around the entire Union. There is a possibility of extending a sidewalk on the east side of the Union, along the edge of the parking lot, toward the old union, Gingrich said. This sidewalk would require a retaining wall.

Weber To Pilot New Ag Combine

A. D. WEBER, dean of the School of Agriculture, has been named to head the combined agriculture, agricultural experiment, and extension departments. The re-organization of the three sections into a single organization follows the trend of other land-grant colleges across the nation. The re-organization will require a director of agriculture, a director of extension, and a director of experiment. All three will be responsible to Dean Weber. Weber is also nationally known for his livestock judging and animal-production research.

Betas, Tri-Delts V Decorations Awards

Beta Theta Pi and Delta Delta Delta won top honors in house decorations, while Lambda Chi Alpha carried first place in the parade floats Saturday.

"Sooner or later they'll be comin' around" showing the Sooners on a torture rack being dragged through a vat of defeat was Beta Theta Pi's entry.

The Delta Delta Delta's turned Sooners into mice inside a big pumpkin under the direction of Princess K-State.

A big Trojan cat pulled by Trojan warriors with shields saying "Just troy to beat our cats" was the Lambda Chi Alpha's float.

Second place winners in fraternity decorations were the 1834 Club (Delta Upsilon colony) with OU and K-State as battling ships and the resolve that K-State would not be in OU's wake. Sigma Chi received third with a Wildcat breaking the Sooner's record.

Chi Omega won second in the sorority division with their version of "Boil 'em in their own oil" showing a Wildcat boiling a Sooner in oil. Honorable mention went to Southeast hall who rang up a Wildcat victory on their cash register.

The second place float was the K-Club's giant egg beater that whipped the Sooners in a big bowl, while the Chaparajo Club won third with a buckling bronco that threw Oklahoma.

Prof's Paintings To Be Shown In Anderson

An exhibition of oil paintings showing the work of Louis Hafermehl is now on display on the second floor of Anderson hall.

Hafermehl, an assistant professor in the department of architecture and allied arts, has returned to Kansas State after a year of advanced work at the Cranbrook Academy of Art. Hafermehl received his Master of Fine Arts degree from Cranbrook in the spring. He was an instructor there last summer.

A graduate of Bethany college, Mr. Hafermehl also took special studies at the Chicago Art Institute. He later worked at the Art Student's League in New York.

While at Bethany College Mr. Hafermehl studied under the late Birger Sandzen, who was known as the "Dean of Kansas Artists."

Hafermehl uses a non-objective or abstract style of painting. He works primarily with oils on either canvas or masonite board.

One picture hanging in the Anderson display typifies Hafermehl's style. It has a background of blues, browns, and grays, splashed by streaks of orange.

Hafermehl's paintings will be on display through the first week of November.

Extension Dedication Set For Tomorrow's Assembly

K-State's new extension building will be named Umberger hall at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the College auditorium. The Board of Regents has announced the dedicatory program and has invited students and faculty to attend.

President McCain will conduct the dedication ceremonies. Umberger hall will be named in honor of the late H. J. C. Umberger, who was dean of extension service from 1919 to 1947.

Williams auditorium, a wing of Umberger hall, is being named for the late L. C. Williams, dean of extension service from 1947 until his death last August.

The dedication services are a part of the annual county and state extension conference being held on campus this week.

President emeritus F. D. Farrell will speak on the major purposes of agricultural extension work.

Extending greetings will be Governor Fred Hall; Lawrence Morgan of Goodland, a member of the Board of Regents; and Richard Harman of Kansas City, president of the Kansas State alumni association.

Frank Carlson, United States senator from Concordia and Herman A. Praeger, former head of Kansas Farm Bureau from Claflin, will give the responses.

Summaries of the administrations of Williams and Umberger will be presented by Luke Schrubber, assistant administrator with the federal extension service and Karl Knaus, field agent in the federal extension service.

F. A. Anderson, director emeritus of Colorado A&M agriculture extension service, will respond on behalf of the nation's extension directors.

Open house for the building will be from 2:30 to 4 p.m. tomorrow. Students and faculty are invited to tour the building.

The extension personnel will occupy the building some time this month.

Civil Service Interviews Set For This Week

Federal Civil Service representatives will be on the campus Tuesday and Wednesday to meet with students interested in federal employment.

The representatives, from the ninth district in St. Louis, will meet with students in a group on Tuesday at 9 a.m. in J 15 to explain federal entrance examination.

There will be personal interviews following the group meeting Tuesday and again Wednesday.

Chet Peters, director of the placement bureau, recommends that students talk to the representatives to obtain information which they could not get through the placement bureau.

Federal Civil Service examinations will be held November 19 throughout the United States.

Three To Try For Fulbright Fellowships

Three K-State students have been nominated by the committee on government sponsored fellowships to compete for Fulbright scholarships for the academic year 1956-57 according to Harold Howe, chairman of the committee.

Those nominated are Donald R. Hill, Gov Sr, who will study government in New Zealand; Marianne Ptacek, Psy Sr, who will study clinical psychology in England; and Alice J. Schulze, HT Sr, who will study social aspects of family and community life in Germany.

The objectives of the Fulbright fellowships are to promote better understanding of the United States abroad, and to increase understanding between the people of the United States and those of other nations.

French Comedy Is Re-scheduled

The French comedy, "The Red Inn," starring Fernandel was not shown Sunday evening as originally scheduled, but is re-scheduled to be shown tonight. It will be shown in Engineering Lecture hall at 7:30 tonight.

"We're sorry for the mix-up. We are showing it tonight because we want everyone to see this excellent movie," said Bob Alexander, Program Director for the Union Program committee.

Dean Helen Moore was elected president of the Kansas Association of Deans of Women at their annual convention in Salina on October 16 and 17.

She will preside over the convention which will be held in Manhattan next year.

4211 Grand Avenue, Des Moines 16, Iowa.

The cost to the student is $470 plus transportation costs to Philadelphia, but financial assistance and scholarships are available.

The age limitations are 18-35, and it is desirable to have had an introductory course in psychology.

"We need people who are just full of good will, who always have a happy air about them, and who are physically strong and emotionally stable," Miss Garnet Guild, college program director of the committee said.

Positions in Mexico are available, and people applying for these should be interested in solving conflict type problems. They will be working with health and sanitation problems, work projects, and education. The cost for Mexico, is $165 plus transportation to Mexico City.

The work camps on Indian reservations consist of about the same type work, but if they are in the states, the cost is $135 plus transportation to the location of the work.

The work in mental hospitals pays the student. The average pay is approximately $110 besides room, board, and laundry. This type lasts for 10 weeks and is from the middle of June till the end of August.

You Can Decide Whether 'Moon' Is Indecent Movie

By Crazy Auto

That controversial movie, The Moon Is Blue, will be shown in Manhattan starting Saturday at the Coed theater.

Thanks to an enlightened U.S. Supreme Court, which already has proved its worth against prejudice and bigotry with its historic segregation decision, the people of Kansas can decide for themselves whether this gay film is "indecent" or "obscene." They can do this according to their own interpretations of these words, instead of those of a dictatorial (and I might add, very well paid) censorship committee, called the Kansas Board of Review.

The Board still is functioning in this state despite a series of ups and downs that must have shaken its members considerably more than this sophisticated film which they have twice seen and twice condemned.

They should be worried about their jobs. Their board is the only form of state censorship in the United States. The other 47 states decided, quite some time ago, that a small committee hardly can be considered representative of an entire state.

The board was abolished last spring by an act of the Kansas Legislature. This was done not as an expression of victory for the freedom of the people, but as a political snag directed at Governor Hall.

In June, the board was reinstated by the Kansas Supreme Court because of the illegal manner in which the abolishment was enacted—the Legislature having attached the abolishment law to an entirely different bill that the Governor wanted passed.

It won't take long at their next session for the Kansas Legislature to pass a bill that will abolish the Board—legally.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision has left the Board on shaky ground, although the only film involved is The Moon Is Blue. If the board can't ban a film on more specific terms than "obscenity" and "indecent," the ruling won't stick. Even the Board itself might, in my opinion, be declared unconstitutional.

I think it's a pretty good bet that many thousand more Kansans will flock to see the banned movies than ever would have thought to go without the bannings.

Half the people in Kansas probably have seen The Moon Is Blue in Kansas City, Mo., where it played for some four or five months last year with the full approval of the Missouri Supreme Court.

Somehow it's hard for me to understand why a motion picture is perfectly delightful in one state and "obscene" in another. And how, somehow or other, by stepping over the state line you, as a viewer have made the film any different.

Do you know what the Kansas Board of Review cited as a basis for its charges of obscenity and indecency? Answer: The use of the words "seduce" and "virginity" in the film's dialogue. Here's what I had to say about that ruling in my column in the July 28th Collegian:

"Terrible as those words are, I'd rather have my kids see frank discussions of sex on the screen than the bold, gaudy, artificial sex characterized by the abnormal anatomies that are flaunted about so adeptly by Monroe-type movie stars. Which do you think promotes the healthiest, wholesomest, attitude toward sex and life?"

I still feel the same way about it and am pleased to note that our Federal Supreme Court has seen fit to, at least, put "The Moon" on a par with such disgustingly sexual and fantastically unreal films as Niagara and The French Line.

It still is impossible to portray realism on the screen in this country. We must be forever flooded with deliberate sadism, romantic slush, and suggestive monstrosities that, in the main, even our crudest ancestors, the great apes, can recognize as sexually motivated. A posterior-wagging actress means something to even the crudest of beasts. Yet it apparently has become a Great American Popular Thing. On the other hand, a word like "seduce" needs to be looked up in a dictionary by some persons, but at least has a meaning other than base sexuality.

If a person is old enough to understand the fullest implications of the word "seduce," he certainly is old enough to cope with any discussions of it on a screen, let alone in real life. If he isn't old enough to understand the fullest meanings of the word, he won't understand The Moon Is Blue and will quite probably be bored with the whole thing.

Judging by the alarming increase in number and perversity, of sex crimes in this country, I'd say Americans need more realistic sex attitudes. But as long as some people think sex, in itself, is a crime, I guess we'll just have to keep right on hiding from life.

Getting back to The Moon Is Blue. If you like your movies narrow, unrealistic, violent, and crude; if your morals are easily corrupted; if you don't like happy, uninhibited people—you'd just better not go see "The Moon." It's now your choice to make, and not that of some high-paid politico in Topeka.

The Presidential Race

Senator Knowland Prods Ike for Political Plans

By RAYMOND LAHR
Of United Press

Washington—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland suggested today that President Eisenhower should make an early announcement of his 1956 political plans.

If the President decides against seeking re-election because of his heart attack, Knowland believes the GOP should be given plenty of time to look over available candidates before the San Francisco convention next August.

The California Senator, who is regarded as a possible contender if Eisenhower bows out, still declined to discuss whether he might seek the nomination.

"Until the President gets out of the hospital and discloses his plans, I consider any discussion of individual candidacies premature," he said.

Knowland did make clear that he thinks any retirement announcement from Eisenhower should come by late fall or early winter. The deadlines for candidates to enter Presidential primaries in some of the states come early in February.

"In the event that the president should not be a candidate," Knowland said, "I think the party and the country are entitled to sufficient time to make their own appraisals.

"Republicans throughout the country in primaries and their state conventions should have a choice of alternatives."

In the Senate, Knowland has been a solid supporter of the Eisenhower administration on domestic policy and has been its frequent critic on foreign policy.

If the President withdraws, Knowland's home state may provide much pulling and hauling. It also is the home of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, another possible contender; Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Knight has said he would seek a California convention delegation pledged to him as a "favorite son" candidate if Eisenhower is not a candidate. Warren has asserted that he will not re-enter politics, but many Republicans believe he is second only to the President in vote-pulling power.

On the other side of the political fence, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said the Republicans "ought to be indicted for murder in the first degree" if they "force" Eisenhower to seek a second term.

Ag Experts Predict . . .

Farmer's Share of Food Dollar To Be Cut to 40 Cents Next Year

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
Of United Press

Washington—The Agriculture Department predicted today that increased marketing charges will cut the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar to 40 cents in 1956.

The farmer's share of the housewife's food dollar in 1955 is estimated tentatively at 41 cents, two cents less than in 1954.

The department in its publication, "The Marketing and Transportation Situation," said charges for processing and distributing farm products in 1956 are expected to average near the level of the third quarter of this year, when they reached a new high—3 per cent above a year earlier.

Prices received by farmers for food products in the third quarter this year were 7 per cent less than in the same period last year.

Because of the increase in marketing charges, less than half of this decline was passed on to consumers, the department said. Retail prices of farm food products were down an average of 1 per cent.

Meanwhile, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Senate Democrats will introduce legislation next year for direct subsidy payments to farmers to bolster skidding farm prices.

He said the bill probably will take the form of an "income support" plan to "allow market prices to be relatively free and then, so far as the small farmers are concerned, to make up the difference by direct subsidy."

"I think we need a system of income support—not necessarily price support, but income support—at approximately 90 per cent of parity," Douglas said. Such a program "probably is a better plan" than a frigid price support system," he said.

Pilot Reaches 107 mph In Jet Powered Truck

Ipswich, England, (U.P.)—The U.S. Air Force set a provisional jet speed record at Bentwaters air base yesterday—by truck.

Six jet-assistance takeoff rockets, mounted behind a standard five-ton military truck, rammed it 107 miles an hour down the runway. The object was to test a nylon runway barrier used to halt jet fighters making emergency landings.

"I guess that's an all time record for a five-ton truck," said the "pilot," Lt. Donald Fleming.

Vatican May Appoint Cardinals

Vatican City—Authoritative Vatican sources said today Pope Pius XII might call a consistory early next year to fill eight vacancies in the Sacred College of Cardinals.

The source said no final decision had been made and no announcement was expected until the 79-year-old Pope returns from his summer residence in Castel Gandolfo sometime next month.

Nationalists Predict . . .

Taipei—The Chinese communists do not intend to launch any "immediate" military attack against the Portuguese colony of Macao, Nationalist Chinese source predicted today.

However, he warned that the Reds fully intend sometime in the future to take over the tiny mainland enclave, which was established by Portugal 400 years ago.

KU, K-State To Meet Saturday in 53rd Game

The Wildcats face a tough week of practice as they prepare to meet KU in the 53rd renewal of the Sunflower football classic at Lawrence Saturday after a 40-7 loss to the powerful Oklahoma Sooners last week.

The Cats will be shooting for their third win in a row over the Hawks, winning 28-6 last year and 7-0 in 1953.

Oklahoma began as though they were going to turn the Wildcats' homecoming into a rout Saturday, scoring 21 points in the first quarter. The Sooners' first touchdown came with 5:16 left in the period when quarterback Jimmy Harris went over from the 7 on a keeper. Billy Pricer converted to give OU a 7-0 lead.

Bill Carrington fumbled on the second play after the kickoff and Timberlake recovered on the KS 18 to set up the second Sooner score. Clendon Thomas went into the end zone on a 4-yard carry with 3:37 left in the first period and Carl Dodd converted.

The third OU touchdown of the period came after a punt by Kenny Nesmith went out of bounds on the Wildcat 25-yard line. Jay O'Neal went over from the 3 with 9 seconds left and again Dodd converted.

The Sooners scored twice in the second stanza to lead 33-0 at halftime. The first touchdown came on the third play of the period when tackle Cal Woodworth broke through to intercept a Whitehead-to-Pfeiffer pitchout and rambled 25 yards to pay dirt.

The next score came on a 99-yard drive that took only seven plays. The big plays of the drive were a 30-yard run by Dennit Morris and a 51-yard pass from Morris to Timberlake. Thomas got the tally from 4 yards out with 3:42 left in the half.

Oklahoma started the second half as they did the first, scoring after recovering a Wildcat fumble on the first play from scrimmage.

Harris was thrown for an 11-yard loss but after a pass completion for a 1-yard gain, K-State was penalized for roughing the kicker. From the KS 36 Pricer lost 2 but with a fourth-and-7 situation Harris took the ball on a keeper for the first down. McDonald went to the 11, Burris got one to the 10 and McDonald, Big Seven scoring leader, went over from there. Pricer kicked the point and OU led 40-0.

The teams fought back and forth until 5:43 was left in the game when Whitehead went over from the 1 for the Wildcats' touchdown. The score came two plays after Ellis Rainsberger recovered an OU fumble on the 18. Tony Addeo went to the 1 on a pitchout around left end and Whitehead sneaked over for the tally. Jim Rusher's kick split the uprights for the final score.

The Sooners rolled up 281 yards on the ground and 83 through the air as they scored their 50th Big Seven win without a loss and their 25th straight victory. It was also the 101st game in which they have scored, a national record. K-State rushed for 143 yards and passed for 56 more. OU had 20 first downs to 14 for the Wildcats.

The first radio station at K-State was 9 Y V and was licensed in 1912. Broadcasts were sent along wires throughout the campus by means of Morse code. Crystal sets were used to listen to these first broadcasts which consisted mainly of weather forecasts.

Freshman Cagers To Meet Tuesday

All boys interested in trying out for freshman basketball are asked to report to room 203 of the field house tomorrow at 5:30 p.m., according to Howie Shannon, frosh coach.

Flory Winner Of Grid Poll

Roland Flory, AEd Soph, is the winner of this week's Pigskin Prognostication contest on the basis of his pick of 362 total yards for Oklahoma and 122 for K-State.

Flory tied with Don Hunt, AH Sr, and Don Perkins, Ag Soph, for score with a difference of six points each. Flory's score was 45-6, Hunt picked 42-3, and Perkins guessed 34-7.

Flory was 87 yards off in total yardage against 88 for Hunt and 121 for Perkins.

Jr. AV, Sig Eps To Play For IM Football Crown

Sigma Phi Epsilon, fraternity division champions, and Jr. AVMA, independent division champions, will play for the all-school intramural football championship today at 4:15 p.m. on the military drill field.

If the weather is bad, the game will be played at the same time and place Wednesday, Frank L. Myers, intramurals director, said.

The Sig Eps, who beat Delta Tau Delta 39-13 for the fraternity champion, compiled a total of 117 points against six opponents. Sig Ep defense gave up only 19 points, and in four games held the opposition scoreless.

Jr. AVMA trounced House of Williams 32-19 Wednesday to win the independent crown. In five games the junior vets racked up 138 points while being reached for only 45.

IM Cage Meeting Tuesday Evening

Intramural managers will discuss the coming basketball season tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. on the third floor of Ahearn gym, according to Frank Myers, director. The season will begin November 7, Myers said.

All independent organizations wishing to enter a team are asked to have a representative present at the meeting, he said.

Details of Ag Reorganization Not Decided, McCain Says

Details pertaining to coordinating the services of Extension, Ag experiment stations, and the School of Agriculture, all under Dr. A. D. Weber, former dean of the Ag School, have not yet been decided, President McCain said yesterday.

The reorganization, effective today, will make Weber dean of the three divisions, with a director of each division directly responsible to him.

"All we have now is the broad organization," McCain said. "The details of operation will have to be worked out as we go along."

Under the reorganization Weber's official title will be Dean of Agriculture.

McCain also said that division directors will not be announced until later, probably after January 1. "Doctor Weber will have to make his recommendations to me before I can submit them to the Board of Regents," McCain said.

In the meantime, administration of the divisions probably will remain with the men now in charge.

Paul W. Griffith, associate dean and acting head of extension, will be acting director of extension; Harold E. Myers, assistant dean of Agriculture and assistant director of the experiment station, will be acting director of the experiment station; and C. Peairs Wilson, assistant dean of Agriculture, will probably be acting director of resident instruction, McCain said.

McCain said the reorganization "is designed to strengthen the services of the College to farmers and rural people of Kansas by effecting the closest possible coordination of the important functions of resident instruction, research, and extension in agriculture."

"The three services have grown too large for the president's office to coordinate them efficiently," the President said.

"The reorganization of the agricultural program is a part of a trend throughout the nation's land-grant colleges and universities in recent years," McCain said.

This was found from a survey of the presidents of the nation's 47 other land-grant institutions. The survey revealed that all but six of them are now operating under a similar program and at least two of these six are planning to adopt this organization.

The survey shows that excellent results have resulted from placing teaching, research, and extension under a single director.

After the results of this survey were tabulated, McCain met with extension and agricultural leaders throughout the state explaining the reorganization and how it would affect them. The results of these meetings and plans for the reorganization were presented to the Board of Regents Friday and approved.

Ballot Change Asked By Council Member

An amendment of the constitution by-laws which would permit placing political affiliations on a ballot beside candidates' names was proposed at Student Council meeting last night.

The amendment, submitted by Bob McDowell, was tabled until next week. Student Body President Gerry Day said that according to the Constitution, the amendment must be published in the Collegian twice before the final vote is taken.

A motion to instruct campus organizations and off-campus groups through the Collegian to stop defacing college property by leaving advertising signs up past their expiration date was made by Pat Wilkerson.

The Council passed the motion, but Day asked for a roll-call vote. He was informed by Council chairman Mark Drake that he was out of order since he was not a council member and therefore could not ask a roll-call vote.

Day promptly vetoed the ruling, because the action was "exactly what the Council did last year" and was a waste of time. Day added that all groups were supposed to know about the regulations on campus signs. "The Council just hollers and does nothing about it."

The Council then had a roll-call vote in an attempt to override Day's veto. This vote failed, however, to get the necessary two thirds support of the entire Council.

Janice Ames Is Disqualified From Contest

Janice Ames, Art Soph, was disqualified from the finals of the Lawrence Welk vocal talent contest because she is not 21 years old. The discovery of her underage permitted the runner-up to take her place as one of the two finalists.

Janice said, "It was just meant to be this way. I have gotten some good publicity from it that will help me, and I'm sure another break will come along."

Welk, nationally known band leader, was sponsoring the contest to find new talent for his band. The winner will sing with his band in California the first part of November.

Board Cuts Fees For Conferences

By DON KENDALL
Of the Collegian Staff

The Union Governing board voted last night to allow conference groups to use meeting space in the new Student Union for about one-third of what students would pay to have a dance in the same area.

A motion to approve the lower charges for conferences was introduced by Prof. Stuart Whitcomb. The board approved the motion eight to two.

'Arnold Air' Initiates New Commander

Colonel Charles H. Wilkins, new air science head, was initiated into the Arnold Air society as an honorary member along with twenty-nine others, announced George Yapp, commander of the society.

Initiated also as honorary members were Major Bayred Vermillion, commandant of cadets, and Captain Dudley G. Kavanaugh, society advisor.

This move by the board will allow any group in the country to use the Union's ballroom as a College-affiliated organization. According to the board, a College-affiliated organization would be one that was invited to the campus by the College.

Loren Kottner, Union director, said a reduced-fee plan was necessary to entice outside conference groups to K-State's Union.

He said the difference between the lower fee charged these outside groups and the student dance fee, for example, would be made up by the extra volume in food service business the Union would get plus additional funds from the Union's other facilities.

Kottner said about three-fourths of the country's Unions don't charge any fees for conferences. "They're just happy to get the extra business," he said.

Kottner said "without this extra business, K-State's Union would wind up being just another nice Union that was barely breaking even financially."

How students are to pay for their meals in the Union cafeteria produced several suggestions. Kottner said he favored a cash-payment plan for meals. This would be the simplest way to keep accounts and statistics, and would keep operating costs at a minimum, he said.

Another member, Prof. S. Thomas Keim, Jr., said he favored issuing meal tickets to students. Kottner did not agree with this suggestion and said meal tickets would result in additional time and expense. Keim said a form of machine accounting might make the meal-ticket plan more acceptable.

K-State Orchestra In Concert Sunday

The K-State College Civic orchestra, under the direction of Luther Leavengood will perform the First Symphony in G Minor by Carl Nielsen Sunday, November 6 at 4 p.m. in the College auditorium.

Admission for College students will be by student activity tickets, otherwise general admission will be 35 cents. Grade and high school students will be admitted without charge.

Student Health

Four boys and six girls are patients in the Student Health hospital today. The boys are Howard Nishimura, Delbert Jensen, Gary Steinbrink, and Don Zadnik.

The girls are Revonda Blanding, Helen Peter, Laureen Stewart, Carolyn Chappell, Opal Sunderland, and Barbara Niccum.

Mascot Refuses To Eat For Hawk Cat Snatchers

By BILL WHISTLER

Touchdown IV is at KU. The Catnappers revealed their dastardly deed last night after it became apparent that the "kitty" was going to starve to death if its eating habits weren't discovered.

The culprits, using a K-State grad as go between (name not revealed), phoned Dr. E. J. Frick, zoo director, to find out how to take care of the Cat and her eating habits.

Speculation on Touchdown's whereabouts indicated that KU students were back of the cat snatching. This latest report seems to verify the opinion.

Whether the Cat will be returned for the KU game, however, is still a questionable matter. If she is returned—in what condition?

This is the third time K-State's mascot has been pilfered. Will it be the last, or will the defenseless victim ride out this latest attack?

Touchdown IV's substitute is still in safe keeping. If worse comes to worse she can again be used. The snarling, spitting ball of fur is a little on the ferocious side, and K-State students can be assured that she is one animal that won't ride down the Kaw valley just for fun.

RICHARD GORDON, ChE Fr from Ulysses, and William Flentie, ChE Fr from Sabetha, are congratulated by M. A. Durland, dean of the School of Engineering and Architecture, as being the first winners of the $250 Frontier scholarships. The awards were established by the Frontier Chemical company of Wichita and are presented this fall for the first time.

Can Decisions Be Made Without Complete Details?

The Student Union Governing Board decision to allow conferences to use parts of the Student Union at reduced rates raises a question in our minds.

The rate decision was made on the recommendation of Union Director Loren Kottner, who pointed out that the Union could use this extra income to put the Union on a sound financial basis and to build up a reserve to be used for expansion.

Kottner said that these conferences, even at rates much lower than student rates, would be moneymakers because the revenue would be in addition to the regular income of the Union. Additional use of food service and other services by the conference groups would raise the volume of business and the subsequent profit, he said.

About three-fourths of the unions in the country make no charges for conferences, because they're glad to get the business, Kottner said.

When asked by the Collegian for rates charged by other unions for conferences, Kottner said he did not have figures available but might be able to get them by writing to other unions.

This lack of information raises the question of whether the board was premature in deciding that rates need to be cut so low to attract conferences.

One member of the board said that the only figures available were quotations of rates charged at KU. These rates were quoted to the board by the head of Extension when that organization was pointing out the advantages of letting conferences use the Union.

Under the setup adopted last night, the main ballroom of the Union—which will cost student groups $50 for a dance—would be available to a conference for $15. The board adopted this rate on the assumption that a higher rate would scare away conferences.

But, as matters stand right now, we could make the statement that conferences would be willing to pay a $50 rate—and no one could produce proof that we were wrong, because no one on the board has a representative set of figures to prove otherwise. If the conferences would pay more, student rates for use of the Union could be reduced.

It seems that, at the very least, such an important decision should be based on more concrete evidence.

Foolin' with Newlin

Of Singing Fleas, Space Suits, and Newlyweds

By Bob Newlin

In the couple of times this column has sallied forth into the vast unknown which is the student mind, we have dealt at touchingly on various aspects of the fascinating entertainment business.

Each time I think of exhibitionism, there is one bit of that exciting world that always comes to mind.

It concerns the case of a rather intelligent individual who through some sort of malfunction on the part of his bookkeeper found himself faced with the rather unpleasant prospect of spending 30 years of his life in prison.

Being, as aforestated, a gentleman with a rather superior mind, he soon reconciled himself to the fact that he must, most certainly, serve his sentence. Our friend also decided that the only feasible way to keep from going stark, raving mad would be to create for himself some means of diversion. This he then set about to do.

Now, as you might imagine, equipment for diversionary purposes in prison is about as scarce as turkeys on a farm Thanksgiving afternoon. He thus was rather limited in his endeavor. Finally, and at last, through the unflinching co-operation of a fellow inmate, he managed to procure a flea, which he could call his very own.

Having done this, it came to his rapidly functioning brain that here was a golden opportunity to experiment with mental reaction on the very smallest scale, and it came to him that if he could only teach this flea to walk about from place to place on his hind legs, then perhaps his time in prison might not be such a waste after all.

During the feverish 5 years that followed, our boy not only taught this flea to walk around, but actually succeeded in teaching it to dance an Irish jig.

If you believe this to be fantastic, wait and see what happens next. Still having some 25 years to serve, our hero had not yet begun to fight.

Five years later, after hundreds of nights of tireless instruction and personal sacrifice, there came the great moment when he would find out if the vocal chords of a flea actually could be developed to the point where the flea could make a human utterance.

Now, just to again point up the timeless adage that truth is indeed stranger than fiction, that little creature could, after only 10 short years, actually stand up on his hind legs, walk around, and say "hello, daddy."

As I'm sure you must of guessed by now, something had to be done with the 20 odd years remaining, because whatever else this prisoner may have been, he was not lazy. During the ensuing 10 years, the project which he decided to embark upon would have seemed a hopeless task to you or I, but not so to a man with time weighing so heavily upon his not-so-broad shoulders.

One dark night, as he gazed out his cell window at the cloud-shrouded moon, it came to him what he must do. And then, unquestioningly, as we all should be about our premonitions, he set out to accomplish this seemingly hopeless task. HE ACTUALLY WAS GOING TO TEACH THAT FLEA TO SING "OH, YOU BEAUTIFUL DOLL." Think of the tremendous significance . . . a song and dance man no bigger than a flea!

Since the course of instruction for the flea animal was an isolated one, none of the other prisoners knew for sure just how successful the education was, so they all awaited the 20th annual prison talent show with bated breath.

Sure enough, poster advertising for the show read "A Stir-Studded Cast, Including Phil the Phlea." Please don't get the wrong impression, though, because even though Phil realized he lived at a prison, it was not his intention to steal the show.

Well, sir, I'll tell you, that flea was the biggest hit the warden-and-inmate talent show had seen in its entire history. Realizing the dynamic potential that his amazing discovery gave him, our prisoner friend spent the final 10 years of his sentence in teaching his student to speak two foreign languages.

He was so successful that when time for his discharge from the prison finally rolled around, he was not worried in the least about his future. He knew that in a few short months he could acquire a fortune by putting Phil on the legitimate stage.

Well, first day out of prison, flea and trainer together headed for the nearest bar, for their first drink in 30 years. They were completely without funds, so our witty compadre merely placed Phil the Phlea on the bar, thinking to have him perform for the price of the drinks. Having gently placed Phil on the bar, he motioned for the bartender and told him to look closely at what was on the bar. The barkeep, thinking he had a complaining customer on his hands, applied a big, meaty thumb to Phil the Phlea. "Got him," he said.

See the newlyweds' car driving past the campus last evening? Had a big sign painted across the back which read, "Amateur Night." If you don't think that's funny, wait'll you hear how funny this one isn't! Concerns the girl who asked her daddy to bring her home a space suit, and that night he came home with a maternity dress.

Will Reds Welcome American Tourists?

Washington, (U.P.)—The United States has put it squarely up to Russia and her satellites to decide whether a flood of Americans begin traveling behind the Iron Curtain.

That is the effect of yesterday's dramatic U.S. announcement that henceforth the American government will not stop anyone eligible to travel abroad from going to Russia or four of her satellites—Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, and Romania.

But Americans still will have to go to Communist governments for visas to enter their territory.

The American decision, announced by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the Big Four foreign minister's meeting in Geneva, was made for two reasons:

1. The United States wants to encourage the flow of people across the Iron Curtain. It thinks this could go far in increasing East-West understanding.

2. The United States wants to spike Communist charges that it is America, not Russia, which maintains the Iron Curtain.

Today's World News

Margaret May Bring Broken Heart to U.S.

London (U.P.)—Princess Margaret was reported today to be considering a visit to the United States to help forget the heartbreak that followed her choice of duty over love.

The overwhelming reaction to Margaret's renunciation of the love of Peter Townsend for church and empire was a vast emotional outburst of admiration and affection.

From throughout the British Commonwealth there were expressions of sympathy. And there was a backlash of resentment against the zealous guardians of the royal code whose pressure was believed to have decided Margaret.

Egyptians Attack Israeli Positions

Tel Aviv, Israel—Egyptian troops attacked an Israeli position under cover of a heavy artillery barrage before dawn today but were driven back, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Maj. Dan Gov, the official spokesman, said the Egyptian infantry platoon charged toward an advanced Israeli position on the outskirts of Kissufim from Egyptian positions bordering on the armistice line. He reported no casualties.

Addeo Named Cat 'Player of Week'

Tony Addeo, junior halfback for the Wildcats from Newark, N. J., was named "Player of the Week" by the K-State coaches for his play in Saturday's game against Oklahoma.

"Tony played a tremendous game Saturday," Coach Mertes said, "His fakes were exceptionally good, several times during the game he faked the left side of the Oklahoma line so well that we were able to pick up yardage over the left side."

Paul DeWeese, K-State sports publicity director, says "Tony is our fastest man on the team and is a sure tackler. In the Iowa game he proved this when several time he tackled Vincent and Smith when they would have gone all the way for a touchdown."

In Big Seven plays, Tony ranks behind only Tommy McDonald and Glendon Thomas of Oklahoma in punt returns. He has an average of 14 yards a return in three tries.

IM Grid Championship Cancelled Due to Injuries

The all-School championship touch football game between the Jr. AVMA and Sigma Phi Epsilon, scheduled for 4:15 p.m. yesterday, was cancelled because of injuries and class conflicts.

Frank Myers, intramural director, said that the game will not be rescheduled because of continued conflicts with the 4:15 p.m. starting time.

Dane Bruster and Fred Wingert, star performers for Jr. AVMA, were unable to play because of injuries. Other members of the team had labs during the time schedule for the game and were unable to play.

Myers said that in the case of a team not being able to play in the all-School championship the game is simply cancelled and no forfeit is recorded because the game is not an official intramural contest. No trophies or intramural points, leading to all-sports crowns, are given for this championship, Myers said.

IM Cage Meeting Tonight at 7:00

A meeting will be held tonight at 7:00 for all intramural basketball managers to discuss the oncoming intramural basketball season. The meeting is to be held on the third floor of Ahearn field house.

The season is scheduled to begin November 7, Frank Myers, intramural athletic director said, and all independent organizations wishing to enter a team are asked to have a representative at the meeting.

Extension Betters Farm Life—Farrell

"The basic purpose of agricultural extension work is to stimulate and aid in the improvement of the intellectual status, the competence, and the lives of rural people," said President Emeritus F. D. Farrell at the dedicatory ceremonies for Umberger hall and Williams auditorium yesterday.

"No matter how successful we are in the production and marketing of plants and animals and in the conservation of our land and water resources, our success is meaningless unless it is accompanied by improved quality of rural life," stated Farrell.

Farrell attributed today's higher standards of farm life to improved transportation, communication, foods and nutrition, home beautification, clothing, and personal grooming.

Today's farmer uses scientific methods instead of "planting potatoes and dehorning cattle in accord with the 'sign of the zodiac,'" Farrell said.

Farrell credited these improvements to the agricultural extension service's achievement of spreading scientific truth and knowledge of improved practices to the rural areas.

The late Harry J. C. Umberger was dean of the Division of College Extension from 1919 to 1947, when he retired.

Louis C. Williams was dean of the extension division from 1947 until his death August 25.

Must Register For English Test

All students assigned to English proficiency this semester should go to the offices of their dean before November 10 to sign record cards and to be assigned numbers to use in taking the examination November 15, Nellie Aberle, chairman of the examination committee has announced.

Students will not be eligible to take the examination on November 15 if they have not signed a record card.

Severe Cold Wave Hits Kansas Today

Topeka, (U.P.)—The first severe cold wave of the season whistled into Kansas today from the northwest.

It was accompanied by strong north winds, which already have reached velocities of 45 miles an hour in the southwest.

The wintry onslaught is expected to be accompanied by rain changing to snow tonight.

No Classes On Monday If Cats Win

President McCain accepted the recommendation of the Student Council that the athletic holiday be held Monday if K-State wins the KU football game. If the game is lost the holiday will be December 21, the day before Christmas vacation officially begins.

McCain said that the Student Council recommendation to publish instructor's names and the classes they teach will be acted upon by the Dean's Council at their next meeting.

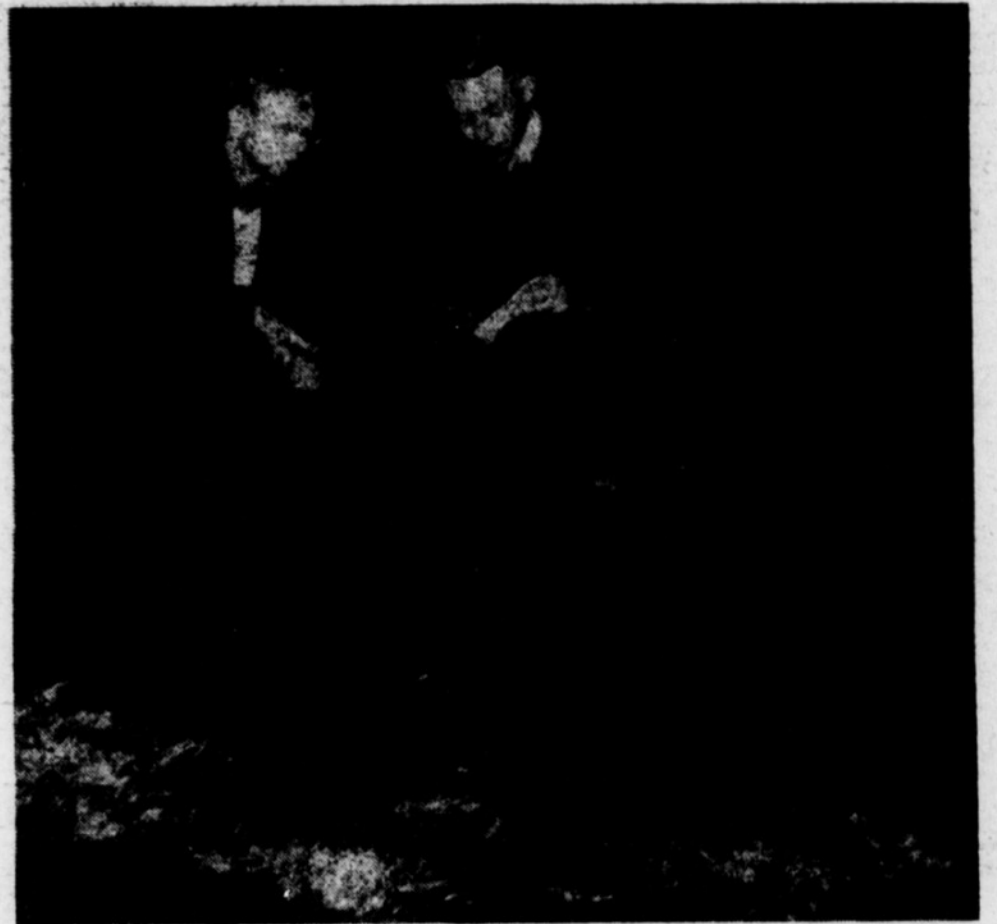

Student union fees probably will not be lowered when outstanding bonds for the new student union are retired, McCain said.

"I estimate that we will have 9,500 students in the fall of 1966," he said. This will mean that the union building will have to be enlarged to take care of the increase in students and these fees will be necessary to build the additions.

McCain said that a book store is not planned for the union at present. "We'll have to wait for a year or two to see how the union operates before planning a book store," he said. The next addition to the union will probably be installation of air conditioning with the book store to follow.

McCain said that the third floor area of the wing of the building or the ground floor of that wing, which is not closed in, might be used for a book store although neither was planned as such. The use of these areas in the first two years may tell if a book store is feasible in them.

Burns, Paint Mark Path of KU Raiders

The letters KU were burned into the turf in Memorial stadium early this morning by KU students who were caught in the act by the police.

Kerosene could be smelled in the grass near the burned letters which are each about 18 feet high and 15 feet wide.

Speech Contest Finals To Be Tuesday Night

The first annual Delta Sigma Rho extemporaneous speaking contest will be held next Tuesday at 7:30 in the Engineering lecture hall, announces Charles Goetzinger, faculty advisor.

Finalists were selected last night in both men's and women's divisions. Finalists in the men's division and the organizations they represent are: Dan Farrell, PrL Jr, ISA; Ronald Garlow, EE Fr, AKL; Walter Martin, ME Soph, AKL; Bruce Wilson, Hst Sr, ATO, and Jack Wirtz, PrV Fr. These finalists were picked from 24 entries.

The three finalists in the women's division, picked from 12 entries, were: Barbara Marshall, Sp Soph, Ann Shaw, Sp Sr, and Connie Taylor, EEd Soph, all from Pi Beta Phi.

The preliminary contest was judged by members of the speech department. Judges of the finals will be John Keltner, of the speech department; Hill, speech department; Charles Jacot, assistant dean of students; Robert McCool, president of the Manhattan junior chamber of commerce, and William Davis, Kansas president of the junior chamber of commerce. Tom Bowman, ChE Soph, will be chairman of the contest.

The organization compiling the highest number of points in each division in the contest will receive a traveling trophy. The trophy will be retired after three consecutive wins by a single organization. The winning organizations will receive a permanent plaque. Individual winners will also receive permanent plaques.

Points will be scored on the basis of 15 for first, 10 for second, 5 for third, and 5 for each finalist. Two points will also be scored for participation in the preliminaries.

The Manhattan police picked up 14 Jayhawks after complaints started coming in from sororities about 1 a.m. The visitors were in three different cars scattered about the campus.

The letters KU were also painted on the bust of W. A. Harris in front of Fairchild hall, on the streets in Aggieville, and elsewhere around the campus and in front of the sororities.

Staff members from KSDB-FM, the student radio station, who were making recordings last night for their marathon today recorded some of the comments of the KU students for use on the program today.

The 14 KU students were escorted out of town from the police station after their names were taken.

In events at the other end of the Kaw, ten persons, eight of whom were identified as K-State students, were apprehended on the University of Kansas campus early Tuesday morning and were escorted out of town.

Eight KU buildings were decorated with the letters KSC and a number of flags were taken from Frazier hall, Herbert Wunderlich, dean of students, said yesterday.

KSC's were painted on Allen Field House, the stadium, the Union, the Campanile Memorial, Pioneer building, and Strong hall. Paint was also poured on a statue and in the Chi Omega fountain, according to a report from Don Alderson, KU dean of men.

"K-State considers the action of any students who participated, a very serious matter which will be thoroughly investigated," Wunderlich said. "Suitable action will be taken to bring home the seriousness of the thoughtless defacement of the property."

"The students involved in the vandalism of property on other college campuses will be held fully responsible for their action," he said.

No formal charges will be filed against the students until a thorough investigation has been completed, Wunderlich said.

Marathon Today on KSDB

KAY HUTCHINSON, KSDB-FM station manager, interviews some of the KU culprits about 2:30 a.m. today. Their testimonies will be heard over KSDB today as part of the station's marathon program.

A remote radio marathon is being conducted today by K-State radio students over KSDB-FM from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m., Kay Hutchinson, Sp Sr, student manager of the station, has announced.

The radio marathon will be in observance of the anniversary of the first reported radio broadcast 35 years ago, Hutchinson said.

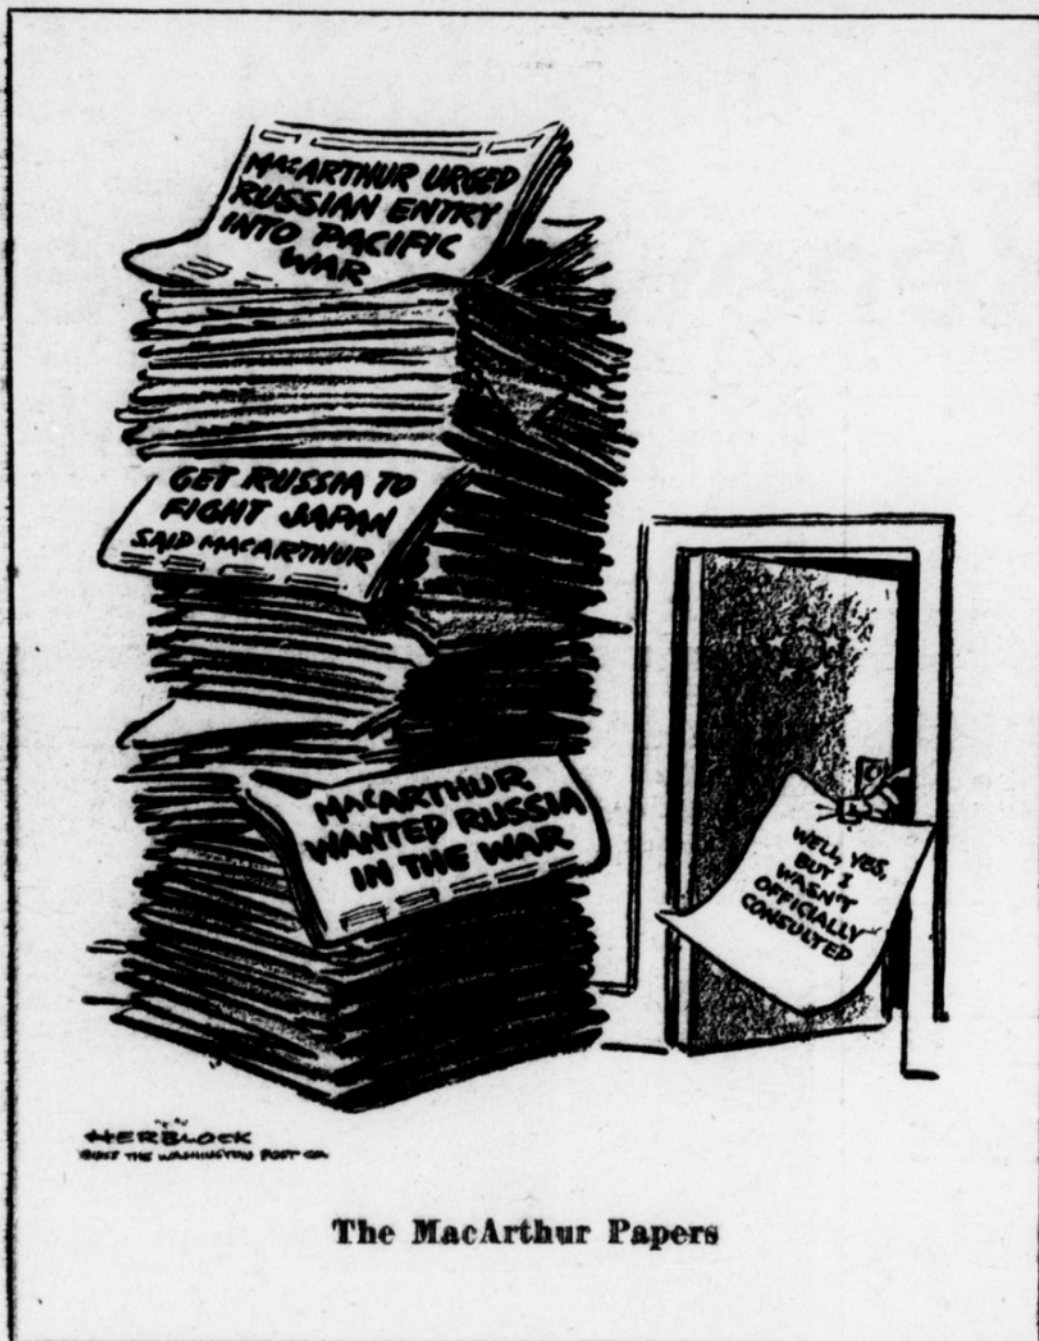

The program for the all-day broadcast will include interviews with KU students regarding Saturday's football game, an interview with Governor Hall's chauffeur, and the Manhattan-Abilene football game.

Other features will be remote broadcasts from a record shop, grocery store, bowling alley, cheerleaders practice, the airport, hotels, train depot, and dog kennels.

Featured interview of the day will be a chat with Touchdown V, discussing the whereabouts of Touchdown IV. This interview will be conducted at the zoo.

Of Holidays, KU Toucans, Love, and Manhole Covers

K-State "Man of the Week" honors for last week go to the Arts and Sciences School prof who, contrary to College regulations, told students that class would be held Saturday morning. Several students showed up, but the prof didn't.

He probably will announce a shotgun for Christmas morning.

An article in the University Daily Kansan this week is headed Touchdown IV Still Missing-Ha!! It seems that the general KU populace doesn't care about our missing wildcat.

At least K-State has a mascot (or did have). The KU symbol, Jayhawker, actually is a fruit-eating tropical bird, a toucan. We'll give KU the bird Saturday.

Love in England just ain't what it used to be. Back in the 1930s the present Duke of Windsor gave up the royal crown for a commoner. Now Maggie wouldn't trade her House of Windsor for a castle in the sky. Blimey!

A Detroit man was arrested yesterday for picking up something in the street. He stole a manhole cover. Darn!!

A New Mexico sports editor picked the Sooners first, and the nation's top 10 football teams. He picked the Sooner first, and the Sooners' second team 10th. Who are we to disagree? Especially after last Saturday.

Snow has hit Manhattan and KSC, bringing with it mischievous KU students. The students did a little burning and painting but as usual, justice and the law triumphed.

When fame comes, it seems like it spreads like wildfire.

Darrel Miller, Collegian managing editor, has had one of his classic statements reprinted in the Chicago Herald-American. It goes like this:

"My closest approach to culture came one evening when I was sitting on the banks of the Rhine, drinking apple cider, and smoking a good cigar. As I watched the quiet waters rolling from the Alps to the great North Sea, I could feel the meaning of the entire universe surging through my brain, but neglected to write it down."

Isn't it amazing what one semester of Humanities will do for you?
—Gary Swanson.

Calling all Girls ...

Strong Lungs Plus Turtle Can Make You a Queen

By ANN WEATHERS

All a queen candidate on the University of Minnesota campus needs to win her contest nowadays is a fast turtle and sturdy lungs.

Queen contests on the campus have been injected with new life, new blood, and a herd of turtles. The conventional method of selecting a queen strained relations so much that the only people on campus left on speaking terms were the janitors.

Now, all a queen candidate needs to do is yell her turtle into crossing a white line before the other candidates' turtle, and she receives a dozen roses, a necklace, and a crown—and everyone departs good friends.

Shades of the campus parking problems! Members of a University of Oklahoma sorority awoke one morning to find a foreign sports car parked in the middle of their living room. The car has no keys, and it's too heavy to push. Any suggestions?

Many students at Iowa State are complaining that they are being treated as children by their professors when it comes to the matter of class attendance. The students claim that, as adults, they are mature enough to decide whether or not it is going to be profitable to attend class. The faculty shows its disagreement by waving the maglo little charm of the grade book over the students' heads. Strong persuader, a grade book. . .

Girls! Does your heart skip a beat or seem to stand still when the best boy friend comes around? Don't worry. It's perfectly normal, according to the Oregon State Daily Barometer. The heart just syncopates, as in music, when your man strides into view.

When the boy friend says, "I want to talk to you," and the girl's heart is "in her mouth," that's just a rapid upsurge of blood pressure. When the boy friend proposes and the girl is "all weak in the knees" and feels as if she will melt, that's also a natural reaction. It means the blood pressure took a sudden drop.

Just remember, men, if you're beginning to feel just a little bit superior for causing all these palpitations in your girls—after man came woman, and she has been after him ever since. Sooner or later.

Arab-Israeli Incidents Could Erupt into Full-Scale War

By CHARLES M. McCANN
Of United Press

There appears to be real reason for fear that war may break out any day between Israel and Egypt.

It could be caused by one of the border incidents which now are a matter of almost daily occurrence.

If it happens, almost undoubtedly other Arab countries on Israel's frontiers would be drawn into it. It would be a war in which Russia would be among the victors, whichever side won, because chaos in any part of the free world aids the Communist world conspiracy.

Israel now has military superiority, and the Arab nations almost certainly realize it.

Egypt is buying weapons from Communist Czechoslovakia—on Russia's initiative—because it fears Israel.

Israel fears the potential military power of Egypt and the other Arab countries. Israel is ringed by them, and they enjoy enormous superiority in population.

Influential elements in Israel are talking about the advisability of a "preventive" war against Egypt before that country gets all of its Communist arms and before its troops learn how to use them.

This talk takes into consideration the fact that the rainy season is due in Palestine in about one month. If Israel attacks before then, it is argued, the rains would bog down the Egyptians before they could organize an effective counter attack.

Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett went to Geneva to ask the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, and France—now attending the Big Four conference there—for arms to offset those Egypt is getting.

Apparently Sharett got no firm promise. Instead, the Western Allies are trying to get Russia to stop its meddling in what has become a crisis. That meddling is most unlikely to stop.

It is reported from Cairo that Saudi Arabia, one of the Arab countries, has been offered "Czechoslovak" arms and has practically decided to take them. Syria, another of Israel's Arab neighbors, is reported considering a similar offer.

Russia has just renewed a friendship agreement with the Arab state of Yemen, and has arranged for an exchange of diplomatic envoys. Egypt has conducted new military alliances with Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Just what the United States, Britain, and France will do—or can do—to ease the present situation is uncertain.

Forty-four Persons Killed in Crash Of Airliner in Rocky Mountains

Longmont, Colo. (U.P.)—A United Air Lines 4-engine DC-6B airliner crashed in a flaming explosion on a farm 30 miles east of the Rocky Mountain foothills last night, killing all 44 persons aboard.

Three hours after the crash, searchers had accounted for the bodies of all the victims among the littered wreckage, which was scattered over a 2-mile area.

Snow Maroons Hunters

The coldest weather of the season knifed eastward today and in the Rocky Mountains a bulldozer bucked its way through snow drifts in an attempt to

Britishers Hit Church-State

London—Princess Margaret masked her heavy heart with a smile and returned to her royal rounds today but powerful voices were raised to break the bond of church and state that was blamed for the tragic end of her romance with divorced Peter Townsend.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express voiced the demand in an editorial which said, "This situation can not continue."

Clifford Bolsters Center Position

Kerry Clifford is a hustling 6-1, 180-pound junior who moved up from an obscure guard position to bolster the Wildcat center position.

Kerry started the Iowa State game in place of the injured Jim Furey and saw action in that spot in the Oklahoma game. Kerry was moved to the center position just before the Iowa university game to add depth at that spot.

Kerry's football career started in his sophomore year at Wichita East quite unexpectedly. "I was walking home with some of my buddies one evening when they asked me to go out for football. I had never thought about it before but I went home and asked Dad what he thought. The next evening I tried out for the team."

Wichita East was Ark Valley football champions in Kerry's junior and senior year. He lettered two years in football and one year in baseball and wrestling.

Kerry enrolled at K-State in the fall of 1952 and played freshman football. He sat out the 1953 season with a knee injury. In 1954 Kerry was just another guard in an oversupply of guards, consequently he didn't see too much action.

Kerry lettered in baseball last season and the first baseman plans on going out again this spring. "It's pretty much of a toss up which sport I like best, but I guess I like football better."

In the spring of 1953 Kerry married Suzanne Staley of Wichita, a high school sweetheart. Kerry is one of only four married men on the varsity squad.

The Cliffords have a son, Michael David, who will be 2 years old this December. "He's onery than all get out," Kerry said. "He's in to everything, but I wouldn't have him any other way," added Kerry.

Wildcats Open Cage Practice

The Wildcat varsity opened practice yesterday with 19 boys reporting to Coach Tex Winter. Another, Bob Jedwabny, is recovering from glandular fever and did not attend the practice session.

Winter sent the squad through fundamental drills as the Cats began preparation for their first game December 6 with Texas Tech.

The squad includes five lettermen, three squadmen from last year, and twelve sophomores. One of the sophomores is Don McQuillan who was a freshman in 1950-51 and is returning from the service.

Hawks Try To Reduce Injury List

By UNITED PRESS

A light offensive drill was on tap for the Kansas university grid squad today as Coach Chuck Mather eliminated hard scrimmages in an effort to stall injuries.

Five regulars were sidelined with injuries, with fullbacks Dick Reich and Jerry Baker, and end Jim Letcavits not expected to play against Kansas State Saturday.

Missouri university ran through light drills yesterday. Coach Don Faurot said he was fearful of injuries which might weaken his squad for Saturday's game with Big Seven power Oklahoma at Columbia.

Three linemen were injured in rough defensive workouts yesterday at Iowa State.

Guard Ron Bredeson and centers Ron Blaney and Chuck Muehlhaupt hobbled off the field as Coach Vince Di Francesca had the backs working on tackling and the linemen on blocking and penetration.

Coach Bill Glassford of Nebraska experimented with various defensive formations yesterday in an effort to solve Iowa State's multiple offense, which has alternately featured the split-T, T-formation, and single wing attacks this season.

Defense against Missouri running and passing plays occupied most of a two hour practice session for the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman yesterday.

Cats Practice Behind Gates For KU Game

The "Wildcats" moved behind locked gates yesterday to drill against Kansas university plays. The freshman squad ran the Hawk formations as the Cats prepared to meet their intra-state rivals at Lawrence Saturday.

Three Wildcats will miss the game Saturday and two others may not be ready. Definitely out with injuries are junior guard George DeBitetto, senior guard Burt Schmidt, and sophomore tackle Jon Walker. Senior end Chuck Zickefoose and sophomore end Don Zadnik may be ready for duty but will miss heavy practice this week.

Coach Bus Mertes plans to run his charges through heavy offensive drills today aimed at polishing the running game. More time will also be spent working against the KU attack.

IM Basketball Play To Open November 8

Tuesday, November 8, was set as opening night in intramural basketball during a meeting of the managers held last night in the Ahearn gymnasium.

Schedules will be sent to managers sometime this week according to Frank L. Myers, intramural director.

Thirty-two independent and 22 fraternity entries were turned in following a short explanation of rules and eligibility by Myers.

Myers said there will be no organized practice and he urged intramural teams to hunt for other goals on which to practice. Freshmen basketballers will be using the gymnasium every night this week, but the gym will be open on Saturday afternoon, he said.

Frosh Cagers Start Practice; 62 Report

Sixty-two men reported to freshman basketball coach Howie Shannon yesterday, for the first practice held this year.

"I have a pretty good freshman group this year, but I will know better just exactly what I do have to work with after I have made the first cut," Shannon said.

"Two practice sessions will be held each day until the first cut is made, which will be Friday," he said, "At that time the squad will be cut down to 15 or 20 men."

Shannon said he would have a lot of height on the squad with two men standing 6-7, one standing 6-6 and one at 6-5.

Included in the 62 men reporting for the opening drill were five all-Staters, one from Nebraska and four from Kansas. They are: Robert Boozer, 6-7 guard from Omaha, Neb.; Darrell Bolen, 5-11 guard from Quinter; Jim Holwerda 6-0 guard from Lindsborg; Tom Lindahl 6-3 forward from Plevna; and Lowell Waterman, 6-0 guard from Greenleaf.

Three master woodcarvers in Grand Rapids, Mich., are among the nation's few who still practice ecclesiastical carving.

Athletic Council To Propose New Ticket Plan for Wives

By BOB COUGHLIN
Of the Collegian Staff

K-State students' wives may attend basketball games for about 50 cents if the Student Council approves a plan offered by the Athletic Council.

The plan was developed by the Athletic Council yesterday when they acted on a Student Council recommendation that wives of students be admitted to football games for $1 a game.

"I expect the Student Council to approve this recommendation," Lawrence Mullins, athletic director, said. "Actually, I think we've offered the student wives a better deal than what the Student Council asked for."

The recommendation to be presented at the next meeting of the Student Council contains ten points:

1. Establish a system whereby married students can be identified from their activity cards.

2. A non-student husband of a student wife gets the same privileges as a "student wife."

3. A season, student-section football ticket will be sold to student wives at $5 for four home games and $6 for five home games.

4. A season, student-section basketball ticket will be sold, this school year to student wives for $10 because a number of all-year athletic tickets have already been sold to student wives at $18. In subsequent years the student wife basketball (track, wrestling, gymnastics, baseball, golf, and tennis) season tickets will be $7.

5. Individual game tickets for student wives or special guests will be handled as they have in the past.

6. The basketball season ticket will actually be for basketball and all other regularly scheduled intercollegiate sports contests of a given school year. This includes in addition to basketball, track, wrestling, gymnastics, baseball, golf and tennis.

7. A student wife will get a proportionate refund on a basketball season ticket if her husband withdraws from school after completing the first semester and is not enrolling for the second semester.

8. If a student wife basketball ticket is not purchased, a student wife may attend track, wrestling, baseball, gymnastics, tennis or golf contests at the lowest rate charged any person for that particular contest.

a. A system of identification must be worked out to make this portion work correctly.

9. Student wife athletic tickets are not transferable. Loss of the activity ticket will be the penalty for known violations.

10. The term "student wife" refers to the wife of a student who is not, herself, a student at Kansas State college.

"We're considering a similar program which will extend about the same privileges to faculty members and to employees of the college," Mullins said.

Damage To Determine Fate of KS Marauders

The eight K-State students apprehended on the KU campus early Tuesday morning may go before the Tribunal, Dean of Students H. J. Wunderlich said today.

If damage to the KU campus reaches an unreasonable amount, the students will be called before the Tribunal to answer charges of destruction, he said. Penalties for such an act would probably be probation or expulsion, depending upon the degree of destruction done, Wunderlich said.

The peace-pact committee, composed of representatives of both K-State and KU, has met and discussed the exchange of nighttime visits to both campuses. A neutral feeling has been restored, and spirit between the two schools is back to normal as far as the

of it, most of the real damage has already been taken care of by K-State maintenance crews," he said. The Harris statue has been cleaned, and most of the damage to buildings has been repaired, leaving only the paint on the sidewalks remaining.

Wunderlich said there was some damage done that nothing could repair. "These buildings made of limestone—put oil base paint on them and it mars their beauty forever. It is really vandalism, in a way. You can't replace the brick, and the paint soaks into the pores of the stone and really ruins it as far as good looks is concerned. It really worries me that people who are old enough to go to college still show such thoughtlessness as this," Wunderlich said.

McCain, Murphy Say

No More Damage Will Be Tolerated

President McCain and Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy of KU announced the following statement this morning:

The raids on the campuses prior to Saturday's game have caused serious destruction of property and have reached such proportions as to jeopardize the good relations that we cherish between our two institutions. A continuation of this vandalism simply cannot be tolerated. Any student identified as having participated in such action on his own or any other campus this year or in future years will be automatically dismissed.

James A. McCain
President, Kansas State College

Franklin D. Murphy
Chancellor, University of Kansas

November 3, 1955

THIS KU STATUE, called the Pioneer, was the recipient of a splashy coat of white paint Monday night when K-State students went to Lawrence to do their "trick'er, treat'in."

Vandals struck again on the KU campus last night, painting buildings and sidewalks. Nobody was apprehended by KU and Lawrence police.

KU Students Say:

Mascot May Be Returned Saturday

K-State's official mascot, Touchdown IV, may be returned at the KU-K-State game Saturday, according to the University of Kansas daily paper, the Kansan.

The persons who took the wildcat have stipulated that the cat will be returned Saturday if no disciplinary action is taken. If they are to get into trouble if caught, the students claim they will return the mascot at an undesignated time.

According to the unidentified abductor, Touchdown IV is being held at a temporary hiding place near Lawrence while the abductors await action by administrators of both colleges.

The answers to the rumors that Touchdown IV is being mistreated and is under-fed, the spokesman who talked with the KU paper said the cat was eating a large supply of choice meats every day, and added "He is probably receiving better care than he did at K-State."

There was a definite need and reason for the catnapping of Touchdown IV, according to the spokesman for the band who took the animal from its cage. "School spirit as Kansas is at the lowest ebb in years. We thought the catnapping would generate a little more spirit than has been seen here in a long time," the spokesman said.

"We want to return the cat Saturday with the approval of the administrators of both schools. We hope officials and students of both schools will accept our surrender gesture in the same spirit it is offered," he was quoted as saying.

The catnapping was a product of two weeks of careful planning, according to the KU publication, but at the last moment, the plan almost fell through.

Pep Parade In City Park Tonight at 8

A pep rally to build up enthusiasm for the K-State-KU game will start tonight at 8 in the Student Union parking lot.

The Wampus Cats will light the parking lot with torches until a crowd gathers, Phil Stiles, head cheerleader, said. When enough people have accumulated, a snake dance will start and work its way to the city park where the rally will be staged, he explained.

The parade will start at the parking lot and go down Anderson street, through Aggieville out to the city park. Students are invited to join the parade anywhere along the way.

Dean Wunderlich, Gerry Day, Wildcat co-captains Jim Furey and Doug Roether, and the Rev. Bill Guerrant will ride in convertibles at the head of the snake dance. Students are asked to stay behind the band.

Science-Fiction Thriller

Recruiting Practices Bring Ban From Home Galaxy

By Don Kendall

There were seven of us in the cotton-pickin' spaceship. We had been banned from our galaxy for the rest of our lives for allegedly participating in unorthodox recruiting practices. The 14-member Inter-Galactic Athletic Council has indeed been lenient—at least in the public's eyes—by commuting our death sentences to exile in space.

Our galaxy had had a fine record—a string of 2,000 wins over a period of 20 life spans. The remaining six galaxies in our league had to reconcile themselves to fighting for the No. 2 position for nearly as long a period. But now, after the merciless cleanup, all coaches of the conference had been banished.

So there we were, seven beings whom civilization had forgotten, banished to endless roaming in outer space. After 2500 lifetimes we had found a new world. It was a tremendous planet. It appears to be part of a system much like our own, having an orbital range of about one-tenth billion miles from a central energy point.

The seven of us had decided that if we could find a new, fresh planet, one which could approximate the environmental composition of our home, we would establish ourselves and again bring civilization to the wilderness as our forefathers had done eons ago.

Though we were all male, the Inter-glacial Council had permitted us to bring regeneration kits along in case we found a place suitable for the propagation of our kind. This new planet looked like the place.

We landed in a vast green forest nestled in a box canyon. Huge mountains arose to either side and to the closed end. No sign of life was present, but after closer scrutiny through the cinematic-projectoscope we were astounded to see huge white highways shooting straight as an arrow through the undergrowth.

Bewildered, we huddled in our space ship and pondered our next move. The new planet's energy source now had passed into the second quadrant, and we theorized that only about 6 hours of light remained in this mysterious land. We had much to do and so little time in which to do it.

Four of us dressed in space suits and started to descend to the forest floor. After hacking our way through the dense growth for about an hour, we heard a tremendous humming. The unknown sound seemed to be emanating from far off—toward the great mountains.

We started back to the ship just as the increasing hum reached a crescendo. Our eardrums nearly burst, we flung ourselves into the ship just as the ground started to tremble.

From far away the mountains seemed to speak. It was fearsome. It started as a slow, melodious chant and then rose to raucous detonations.

Overcoming the fascination which had engulfed us, we fled this suddenly unfriendly planet with its strange hills and impenetrable forests.

We still wander through space, looking for a friendly planet where we can live out our lives in peace.

The strange planet's energy source now has traversed a thousand times across those alien skies. But still, sometimes, when I awake suddenly I can hear those hideous cries from the hills—"Raw Chalk, Jay Hawk, Kay Yoo!"

World News

Israel Hits Egyptians

Tel Aviv, Israel. (U.P.)—The Israeli army launched a major attack early today to drive Egyptian forces out of the El Auja demilitarized zone, and reported killing 50 Egyptians while losing four Israelis.

But in Cairo the Egyptian government announced that Egyptian forces launched a counteroffensive on the blazing frontier this morning against Israeli forces who attacked across the Sinai desert in bright moonlight.

Today's battle exploded the tension building up for the past 2 months along the frontier. An Israeli foreign office spokesman said the attack was ordered to drive Egyptian forces out of Israeli territory.

Red Plan Rejected

Geneva — The Western Big Three foreign ministers today rejected Russia's "loaded" plan on Germany as "unacceptable" and "hopeless."

The Soviet plan called for setting up an advisory "all-German" council to act as spokesman "for the whole German people while Germany remains divided."

Western spokesmen said the plan was totally unacceptable.

Faure Survives Vote

Paris—Premier Edgar Faure won a decisive vote of confidence which saved his government and saved France's voice at the Geneva Big Four foreign minister's conference.

Faure staked his government on a demand for new elections next month, 6 months early, to "get a new assembly and a stable government capable of the direct action France requires."

Movies

Fairy Tale, Ballet, Color in 'Red Shoes'

At the Campus

Stir together a fairy tale, a pair of red ballet slippers, an accomplished ballerina, Technicolor, and a wide-screen process.

Add a dash of typical British attention to details.

Spread evenly over 100 minutes of spectacle and background scenes of the French Riviera, and—voilà!—J. Arthur Rank's movie, "Red Shoes."

Moir Shearer, England's claim to culture in the form of a prima ballerina, is more than effective as the danseuse, but could stand about 15 pounds of (excuse the expression) flesh spread over her lithe frame.

The major point of interest in the picture is the perfect handling when the plot of the movie is woven into an exact parallel of the ballet "Red Shoes."

'Long Gray Line' Tells Life Of West Point Instructor

At the Coed

Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara star in "The Long Gray Line," a West Point drama of the life of Marty Maher, who for 50 years devoted his life to the training of academy cadets.

The story begins with Marty's landing on U.S. soil fresh from Ireland. After finding that he is a misfit as a civilian table hand, Marty enlists in the army and begins his long career at the Point.

The story is filled with human warmth and emotion. From earlier associations, Marty is able to name generals such as Bradley and Eisenhower among his close friends.

For anyone who likes a taste of Erin in some delightful dialogue, "The Long Gray Line" will furnish plenty of enjoyment.

HERB LOCK

"Wise Guys!"

The Human Race

Of Beer, Damages, Paris, Justice, and Public Business

Some people certainly are strait-laced.

Take the statement of alderman Lawrence McCormick on his plans to ban the sale of beer on the University of Wisconsin campus.

"I don't feel that it is the function of a university to condone drinking by teenagers from 18 through 20," McCormick said. "I don't think it has a place in education."

He's probably right, but he's sure trying to kill one of the high spots of college life, as thousands of students probably will agree.

Talk about having pull . . .

United Press reports that a woman in Sarasota, Fla., backed her car into one driven by the city safety director. She caused $25 damage; no charges were filed.

Reason? She's the wife of the chief of police.

Calling all red-blooded men!

Want to spend April in Paris? Want to stroll along the Champs d'Elysee and watch the flowers bloom?

Join the army. It now is accepting a limited number of "adventuresome" young men for direct duty with the 25th Signal Battalion, which soon will leave for Paris.

There just ain't no justice . . .

An actress was outraged when a sneak thief stole her purse while she was appearing in municipal court in Hollywood. At the time, she was asking for a continuance of a preliminary hearing on bad-check charges.

We'll go along with that . . .

Harold Cross, counsel for the American Society of Newspaper Editors, had this to say about secrecy on the part of officials and public bodies on all levels of government in the country:

"Public business is the public's business. Freedom of information is just the heritage of the people."

—Darrel Miller

That's Life . . .

Los Angeles (U.P.)—Mrs. Emma Niccum, 82, seeking a divorce from her husband, who deserted her 41 years ago, was asked by Judge Samuel R. Blake why she had waited so long.

Mrs. Niccum explained, "I was waiting to get enough money to divorce him."

Stephen Potter, Satirist, To Be Speaker Friday

Stephen Potter, popular English satirist, will talk on "English vs. American Humor" at the all-College assembly at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Recognized as one of England's top satirists by Time, Potter is the author of "Gamesmanship," "Lifemanship," and "One-Upmanship." He has just published "Sense of Humor" and is working on "Golfmanship."

Potter makes up his own vocabulary instead of staying in the limits of standard vocabulary. He has established terms such as gamesmanship, lifemanship, and one-upmanship and expressions such as "ploy," "gambit," and "plonk." These expressions and words have become known as "Potterisms," and a cult has formed around the author.

He is said to have "gentlemanly wit." An Oxford scholar, he has written on Coleridge and D. H. Lawrence. While writing these, Potter lectured at several leading English universities and was reviewed for various English publications.

Stephen Potter

In 1935 he started writing humorous programs especially "How to" programs such as "How to Go to the Theatre" and "How to Blow your Own Trumpet."

In a recent article, "The Art of Reviewmanship," in the New York Times Sunday Book Section, Potter defines reviewmanship as how to be one up on the author actually tampering with the text. This means a critic should show that he should have written the book if he had the time, but since he didn't, he is glad someone has, although it is obvious that it might have been done better.

Bright Outlook for Cagers This Season — Tex Winter

Basketball practice opened at Kansas State Tuesday with Coach Tex Winter forecasting "the most optimistic outlook since I took over as head coach."

While Winter welcomes back only five lettermen from the 1954-55 team which finished with an 11-10 overall record and 6-6 in Big Seven play, he eyes a group of 12 sophomores as "the best in Kansas State history."

"When you consider the number of good sophomores we have for this season, you have to rate them 'best ever' at Kansas State," Winter explained. "We may not have the individual ability of a few former K-State players, but figuring our sophomores on both number and ability, I feel they top anything we have ever had."

Among those yearlings is "big hope" Jack Parr, 6-9 sophomore center who is the second tallest Wildcat cager on record. A smooth and determined player, Parr shows outstanding promise at the center position. He should step into a starting role at center following the graduation of both K-State centers from last season, Tex said.

Offering promising support at center is Wayne Hutchins, sophomore from Winfield. Hutchins is a 6-6, 235-pounder who handles his size well under the baskets.

Ten other sophomores, all except one above the six-foot mark, give the K-State varsity an average height of 6-3. All have speed and ball-handling ability to fit into Winter's style of play.

DICK STONE and Pachin Vicens work on fundamentals in yesterday's basketball practice. Both were starters for the Cats last year.

Lettermen back from last season include Pachin Vicens, 5-9 guard, who has been selected among the nation's best for this year; Joe Powell, 6-7 forward; Dick Stone, 6-3 forward; Gene Wilson, 5-11 guard-forward; and Fritz Schneider, 6-3 guard. All five were starters part way through last season.

Wilson was sidelined for 10 weeks after breaking a thumb in the Wildcats' second game, and Powell, after starting in three games early in the season, went out with illness. Stone, Vicens, and Schneider were starters through the last half of the '54-55 schedule.

Other 1954-55 squad members returning are Eddie Wallace, 5-9 guard; Warren Bullock, 6-0 guard; and Jack Kiddoo, 6-0 forward.

Coach Winter explained that the Wildcats will stick to daily practice drills through all of November, tapering off only as they approach their December 6 opener here in Ahearn field house against Texas Tech. K-State meets five other non-conference foes before entering the pre-season Big Seven tourney at Kansas City, facing Loyola of Los Angeles and Washington U. in Ahearn field house, and taking to the road to play Indiana, Drake, and Houston universities.

Cat Cagers Stress Fundamental Drills

The Wildcat cagers ran through fundamental drills yesterday in their second practice session of the season. Emphasis was placed on individual fundamentals of faking and shooting.

Coach Tex Winter said that the team would progress gradually from individual drills to team fundamentals and finally to scrimmaging. The Wildcat's first game will be December 6 when they meet Texas Tech here.

"We plan to begin with team fundamentals next week and begin scrimmaging during the last part of the third week of practice," Winter said.

"By the time the fourth week rolls around, I hope that we will be able to devote our full time to scrimmages," he said.

The Cats will stick to one-a-day drills throughout November and will cut down to five a week as they approach their first game. Winter said that while fundamentals and scrimmages will be the order of the day conditioning will also be stressed in the workouts.

Frosh Grid Lineup Includes 8 Kansans

When Kansas State's freshman grid team kicks off against Nebraska yearlings at 3 p.m. here Friday, eight of the starting lineup for the young Wildcats will be Kansans.

Freshman coach Ed Cavanaugh has announced probable starters as: ends Neil Dreiling of Hays, and Jim Luzinski of Chicago; tackles Dwight Bennett of Sterling, and Billy Brown of Pittsburg; guards Jaydee Stinson of Lawrence, and Don Martin of Broughton; center Jerry Sand of Beatrice, Neb.; quarterback Leslie Krull of Blue Mound; halfbacks Mike Kinsella of Morehead, Minn., and Ben Groose of Jamestown; and fullback Craig Jones of Larned.

That lineup shows only four changes from the Wildcat squad that opened against the KU yearlings at Lawrence, October 14. Gene McCurdy opened at left end in that game, but has been sidelined with a shoulder injury. Dreiling, teammate with McCurdy at Hays, replaces him in the lineup. Joe Amayo, 6-0, 220-pound tackle from Kansas City, is nursing a knee injury and will be replaced at left tackle by Bennett, 6-3, 197-pounds. The other two switches come in the backfield where Krull and Kinsella start their first game.

Both freshman teams will be looking for their first win, since Nebraska dropped a 14-17 decision to Iowa State freshmen and the young Wildcats lost, 13-18, to KU.

In last season's Wildcat-Cornhusker freshman game at Lincoln, K-State won 19-13 in a seesaw scrap which saw the lead change hands three times.

Mertes Says . . .

Records Mean Little In KU, K-State Tilts

"When KU and K-State meet on the gridiron, their season's records can be forgotten," Coach Bus Mertes said Tuesday night on his weekly television show.

"It is a game in which both teams play their best game of the season and records mean very little. Being the home team has little effect on the final score," he said.

KU has a fine team and they have improved each game, he said. Only Oklahoma has beaten them decisively and in that game KU scored first.

Bus praised the Wildcats for their play against Oklahoma in the last quarter of last Saturday's game.

In that quarter the Cats second unit, made up of nine sophomores and two juniors, moved the ball consistently against the Sooner's first unit.

K-State also gained more yardage in the game than they had in the last two seasons against Oklahoma.

"It was our fumbles that hurt us. Oklahoma fumbled five times but recovered four of them, we fumbled six times and Oklahoma recovered five of them," Mertes said.

Bus said he thought Missouri would give Oklahoma a rough time this Saturday. "If Oklahoma has a weakness it might be on pass defense and Missouri is a passing team."

When asked if the Sooners could be beaten, he said that Steve Owen, one of his former coaches, had told him, "You can shoot them when they come out of the locker room."

Bus does think that Oklahoma can be defeated.

OU Gives In To High Wind

By UNITED PRESS

Wind gusts up to 60 miles per hour drove the Oklahoma Sooners onto the hard-surfaced floor underneath Owen stadium yesterday and put the crimp on Coach Bud Wilkinson's practice plans.

Light workouts primed the Nebraska Cornhuskers for their clash with the Iowa State Cyclones at Ames Saturday. Coach Bill Glassford continued to place emphasis on pass defense but devoted some time to running plays.

Cold weather and injuries caused Iowa State Coach Vince De Francesca to call off a scheduled scrimmage yesterday, but the team engaged in contact work.

Backs worked on pass protection and open field blocking while linemen practiced offensive blocking assignments. Iowa State meets Nebraska at Ames Saturday.

Kansas university Coach Chuck Mather rates the upcoming K-State game "a toss up." Mather said the Wildcats have a better line than his Jayhawks, but that good passing weather would be an advantage to his team.

First string center Frank Black returned to pads for a dummy scrimmage sessions yesterday which emphasized pass defense and offense. Lynn McCarthy, end, was sidelined with a bad arm to balance the gain.

Missouri Coach Don Faurot, seeking to whip up enthusiasm in his Missouri Tigers for the approaching battle with undefeated Oklahoma, pasted cryptic signs on the team's uniforms yesterday.

A short but brisk defensive scrimmage and a movie viewing session highlighted the session yesterday.

Officials Needed In IM Basketball

Anyone interested in officiating at intramural basketball games should be at room 206, Ahearn gymnasium today at 4 p.m., according to Frank L. Myers, intramural director.

First Team Ready for Hawk Game

Two Wildcats missed football practice yesterday, but Coach Mertes has his first team unit available for duty against KU Saturday.

Don Zadnick, second unit end, was released from student health yesterday after being confined with a virus infection. He is expected to be ready for practice today and the game Saturday.

George De Bitetto, former first unit guard, who was injured in the Marquette game is still suffering from a back bruise and is not expected to see action Saturday.

On the brighter side of the picture, Chuck Zickefoose returned to practice after being out with a severe head cold. With the return of Zickefoose, the starting eleven was all in shape for Saturday's big game.

After a short practice session outside on defensive and offensive drills, the squad was moved inside to complete the practice session.

The K-State football expert of the week will be announced Monday.)

Whitehead Gains Yardage Despite His Small Stature

Bob Whitehead, Kansas State's lightweight quarterback, is getting football mileage out of his 155-pound frame that may challenge national records on a pound-for-pound basis. Although the wiry quarterback is among the smallest in major college football, he is averaging 32.5 yards on punt returns, has completed 10 of 32 passes for 130 yards, has averaged 20.4 yards on kickoff returns, and scored three touchdowns.

Doing most of K-State's punting, the St. Louis senior has toed 25 kicks for a 35-yard average, kicking many of them off the side of his foot in his unique soccer-style punt which he delivers on the run.

Only department in which Whitehead does not challenge his teammates is in rushing. Although he has turned in brilliant running at times, he has had to take the loss in rushing when he is trapped back to pass. This, too, has paid off for the Wildcats, however, since Whitehead's policy of "eating the football" rather than throwing blind have limited interceptions of his passes to only 2 in 7 games.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian want ad.

Ace Runner To Be Starter In Track Meet

Washington (U.P.)—Ace runner Wes Santee, suspended by the Missouri Valley AAU, will act as a starter for Quantico's meet at Villanova Saturday, cross country officials at nearby Quantico, Va., marine base said yesterday.

Santee, a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps, withdrew from the meet when informed of his suspension for accepting too much expense money.

Bill Taylor, former University of California team captain, will run as Quantico's number one man in Santee's place.

Santee recently ran in a cross country meet at his alma mater, the University of Kansas, in which he won first place in the meet but the Marines finished second best to the KU team.

He was suspended after a study of his activities during the spring when he participated in meets in California.

GRINNING DEFIANTLY, four KU marauders cool their heels in the Manhattan police station.

Action came thick and fast on the campus early yesterday morning as several KU students invaded the K-State campus to live it up by burning a KU in the football field and painting everything in sight.

Keep busy by the shenanigans of the invaders were campus and Manhattan policemen, Dean of Students Herb Wunderlich, and a Collegian photographer.

The 4 students were escorted out of town from the police station after their names had been taken.

Not to be outdone by KU students, several K-Staters invaded the campus at Lawrence, painted eight buildings, and stole some flags from Frazier hall.

Living Groups Have Parties, New Pledges

Tau Kappa Epsilon celebrated its 25th anniversary at K-State the past weekend. Seventy alumni were entertained at a smoker Friday night and at a meeting Saturday after the game. Speakers at the meeting were Dale Misk, PEM Sr, president of the active chapter; James C. Logan, province president from Kansas City, Mo.; Thornton Edwards and Judd Wolfram, alumni from Manhattan.

Northwest hall entertained Sigma Chi, Delta Tau Delta, and Pi Kappa Alpha at an hour dance Tuesday from 7 to 8 p.m.

Pi Kappa Alpha held its annual Cornjigger party at the Manhattan country club on October 28. Captain and Mrs. Blair were the chaperones.

Sigma Phi Epsilon members entertained the Pi Phis at an informal picnic at the Sig Ep house November 1.

Mrs. Myrtle Correll, associate professor of household economics, entertained the members of her Consumers and the Market class at a breakfast Sunday morning. Color slides of her trip to Europe were shown. The guests were Marjorie Badeker, Doreen Cronkite, Suzanne Dean, Gaye Fryer, Charlotte Henry, Carol Ward, Alberta Johnson, Bev Sargent, Imogene Staadt, Ann Sullivan, and Betty Taylor.

Pledges

New pledges of Phi Kappa are Vacil Sullens, CE Fr, Wichita; Harold Brenner, GA Fr, Bazine; Pat Schmiedeler, ME Jr, Shawnee; and Pat Henry, AgE Soph, Shawnee.

Dwight Adams was pledged by Sigma Phi Epsilon October 29. Dwight is a freshman in agriculture administration from Pratt.

Beta Sigma Psi pledge class officers are Vernon Meinert, president; Bud Kempen, vice-president; Jim Brown, secretary; Howard Erickson, treasurer; Raleigh Meyer, music chairman; and Ted Carney, social chairman.

Shirley Sue Costly was formally pledged into Clovia Wednesday, October 26.

Why Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., reads The Reader's Digest

"I am told that the Digest is now published in 12 languages, and bought each month by more than 18 million people. By strengthening understanding among individuals, the Digest helps people of many different nations to share their experiences and ideals. That is why I, for one, read the Digest—and why I believe it helps create the conditions of world peace which we all seek."—From a statement in November Reader's Digest by the U.S. Representative to the United Nations.

96 Apartments To Be Ready by September, '56

By ROYANNE McMULLEN

Four buildings to house 96 student married couples are to be ready by first semester next year and four more buildings are to be ready by second semester of next year, according to Randolph Gingrich, superintendent of the physical plant.

These eight buildings will contain 192 furnished apartments. They are a part of a 10-year program designed to provide 576 apartments.

Each building will include 24 apartments—8 double and 16 single. Each single apartment will have a kitchen, dining and living room, bedroom, bathroom, and two closets. Each double apartment will have an additional smaller bedroom.

Plans show a utility room in each building for the heating system, domestic hot water system, and incinerator. Separate wash houses will be equipped with washers, dryers, and small lounges. Small playgrounds will be provided near the wash houses.

Probable rent for the single apartments is to be $62.50 a month, and $67.50 a month for the double apartments. This sum includes all utility charges, including electricity up to 140 kilowatts.

The apartments are to be furnished with all necessary living equipment such as dining table and chairs, davenport and chair, bedroom furniture, and kitchen appliances.

The buildings are two-storied with flat roofs. Each apartment has a private entrance. There will be a balcony on the second story with a railing. The buildings will be of frame construction with brick veneer and they will not have basements. The double apartments will be in the middle of the buildings with the single apartments on the ends.

The floors of the apartments are to be of asphalt tile. The walls and ceilings between apartments will be soundproof. Each apartment will have an outlet for a window air conditioner but the conditioner will not be furnished.

Six color combinations have been worked out for the interiors of the apartments.

The apartments are to be west and north of the present trailer court. The street surrounding the apartments will be paved, and parking spaces provided for more than one car per apartment.

The cost of the 192 apartments is expected to be not more than $1,600,000. This would include utility installations to the site, paving, landscaping, grading, and such expenses. Of this total, loan assistance has been requested from the Housing and Home Finance agency for $1,400,000. The College will provide the other $200,000.

Mr. Gingrich said that the opening of bids to contractors is set for November 18, 1955.

The apartments have been designed as economically as possible, Mr. Gingrich said. All designing was done on campus by the physical plant campus planning section and under the supervision of the College architect, Vincent J. Cool.

TO INTERVIEW

ELECTRICAL, MECHANICAL, AERONAUTICAL ENGINEERS ABOUT TO GRADUATE

At Convair, in beautiful, smog-free San Diego, California, you will find the diversity of challenging, far-reaching projects that offers you the unlimited career opportunity you seek.

This is young country, beautiful, exciting country—the very heart of the busy, vital aircraft and missile industries. And good, young engineers are needed now to grow with new, long-range aircraft and missile programs.

You will find the Convair Engineering Department a genuine "engineer's" engineering department—imaginative, energetic, explorative. You will discover the very latest engineering equipment, excellent working conditions, salary, personal job advantages, and opportunities for continuing education.

Remember these facts about Convair: Convair was awarded the Nation's first production missile contract and the first production contract for supersonic all-weather interceptors.

Convair has the greatest diversity of aircraft engineering projects in the country, including high performance fighters, heavy bombers, large flying boats, transports, trainers, seaplane fighters, vertical take-off aircraft and guided missiles.

Convair has a completely integrated electronic development program devoted to advanced development and design on missile guidance, avionic projects, radar systems and special cathode ray tubes.

Now you are invited to get full information about your career at Convair. Talk it over with our Convair Engineers on your campus soon.

GRADUATING CIVIL ENGINEERS interested in the field of aircraft structure are also invited to apply.

Graduate degree candidates in Engineering, Mathematics or Physics are invited to discuss Convair opportunities in the general field of advanced engineering analysis and design.

'Every Man a Wildcat' -- On to KU

By JOE HOLBERT

Three hundred worked-up students staged a semi-riot in the city park last night to pep up K-State spirit prior to the trip down the Kaw tomorrow for the annual KU football clash.

The pep rally started in the Student Union parking lot with cheers and pep songs. A snake dance was then formed by the cheering students who wound through Aggieville to the park.

Approximately 200 students took part in the rally parade including the K-State band, the pep clubs, and even a bicycle built for two, piloted by Dwight Bennett, Ar 01; and David Craig, CE Fr.

Two city police officers lead the parade in a patrol car. One of the officers, S. B. McInteer, said he expects KU to win the clash tomorrow, 21 to 7.

The same score was predicted by Marilyn Adams, a K-State cheerleader, but with the three touchdowns by K-State.

The enthusiastic students were addressed by the Reverend William (Wild Bill) Guerrant, a familiar figure at K-State pep rallies, and an enthusiastic supporter of the Wildcats.

The Reverend Guerrant told the crowd three reasons why the Wildcats are capable of winning the battle tomorrow.

"The students at K-State are not as stuckup as those at KU, and we have the courage to go out on the field and fight," the Reverend Guerrant said.

"The men on the team must, and do keep physically fit, and that is a must before you can have a winning team," the Reverend Guerrant continued. "Always give them hell."

Several other persons at the rally were asked for their opinion of the outcome tomorrow.

Gerry Day, student body president: "I'll take K-State 18-14."

Donald Hamilton, Manhattan police officer: "I think K-State will take the game 14-7."

Paul Nelson, operator of the Orange Bowl in Aggieville, said, "I think K-State will win the game 21-0."

Jean Hedlund, K-State Band director, "No comment."

The only student interviewed who said KU would take the game was Stephen Ahrens, Eng Soph, of the Band. Ahrens favored KU over the Wildcats 21-14.

K-State goes into the game tomorrow with the hopes of winning its third-in-a-row grid win over the Jayhawks. That has happened only once in history when the Wildcats ran on top four years, 1924 through 1927. The yearly scrap started in 1902.

In 52 games, the Wildcats have gained 16 wins and 3 ties, leaving the Jayhawks with 33 victories since the annual clash began.

The biggest point total the Wildcats have run up against KU was last season's 28-6 score.

Approximately 2000 students are expected to go to KU for the game tomorrow.

Two hundred members of the three campus pep clubs, Purple Pepsters, Whi-Purs, and the Wampus Cats will be present to lead the K-State cheers, the three club presidents said yesterday.

Tickets for the game will be available at the KU memorial stadium Saturday.

"There should be enough tickets for all students interested in coming to the game," Barbara Bell of the KU newspaper, The Daily Kansan, said last night.

Potter Analyzes Anglo-U. S. Humor

The essence of American and English humor and their inter-related effects upon each other was discussed by Stephen Potter, English satirist, at the all-College assembly this morning.

"English humor was declining from 1900 to 1925," Potter said. "It had turned to a sentimental niceness as found in Punch. Its later revival was due mainly to the influence of American humor."

Potter said the American influence came in the form of such humorists as Peter Arno, Charles Addams, and publications of the "New Yorker" variety.

What don't people laugh at? Potter outlined four examples.

1. "For myself," he said, "I don't laugh at the things I laughed at 20 years ago."

2. People don't laugh at writings, lectures, and theories about humor.

3. People who are determined to be laughed at are not funny.

4. Humorists who use the language of humor are not laughed at.

The three things that people do laugh at according to Potter are:

1. Situations which bring laughter as a defense mechanism.

2. Their use of verbal brilliance, the beautifully turned phrase.

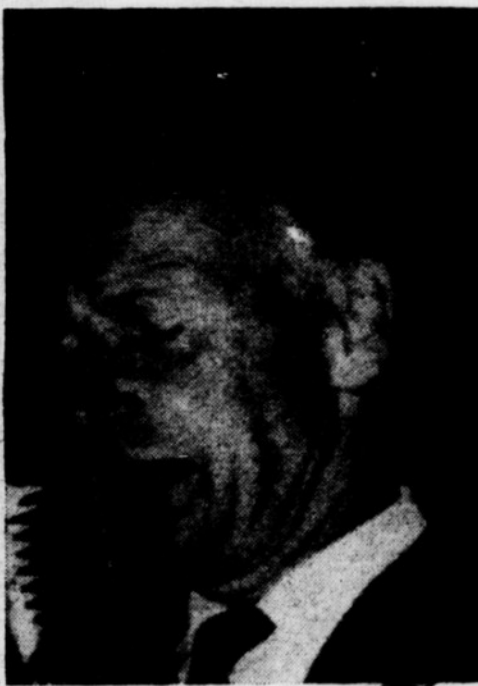

3. Unconscious or "accidental" humor.

"The ability to write simply and humorously about the perfectly ordinary person is the basic characteristic of modern humor," Potter said.

Potter drew a parallel between Chaucer and Mark Twain in the development of humorous writing.

"They both saw it worthwhile to observe the exact character of the people around them," Potter said. "Both were thoughtful of rhythm of speech, wrote of individuals, with a freshness of humor."

"Humor can be a very great game. But it can be allowed to be used as a defense mechanism. It is hard to laugh at people who can laugh at themselves, and people know that," Potter said.

Married Dorm Bids To Begin November 18

Bids on the new married students dormitories will be opened November 18, A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing, said yesterday.

Specifications and plans are in the hands of the contractors now, Edwards said. One of the contract specifications is the dates the dorms are to be completed.

Ninety-six of the 192 units are to be completed by September 1, 1956 and the remaining 96 by January 1, 1957.

The eight buildings which will make up the completed housing program will be located north and west of the present trailer court.

The buildings are to be two-storied, frame buildings with a brick veneer. All of the apartments will be furnished and completely decorated.

The total cost of the project is $1,600,000. Of this amount $1,000,000 has been requested from the Housing and Home Finance agency. The remaining $200,000 will be furnished by the College. The apartments were designed by the physical plant campus planning section.

PEP RALLY—The band is first in line to sample the cider and doughnuts served at the pep rally last night by the Purple Pepsters.

Catnappers Getting Edgy; Amnesty Asked

By LANCE GILMORE

Whoever has Touchdown IV is getting edgy fast. This became apparent yesterday when the editor of the University of Kansas Daily Kansan, acting as a go-between for the guilty party, again contacted K-State officials to request amnesty for the abductors and find out how the cat could be returned.

Dean of Students H. J. Wunderlich said one of two things could be done.

"The cat can either be brought to Manhattan where College officials can take possession of it, or the abductors can contact Gerry Day and members of the student council who will hold a Lawrence Saturday for a luncheon and give them the cat before the game," Wunderlich said.

"One thing is very clear," Wunderlich said. "The group who has Touchdown IV is very anxious to get the cat back in Wildcat territory without being punished for the catnapping."

Asked if any disciplinary action would be taken against the vandals, Wunderlich replied, "K-State officials will take no action but I won't say what the position of KU officials will be."

The Crime—Catnapping; Our Job—Rescue the Cat

To the Editor:

The story you are about to hear is true, we hope.

We are on the nightwatch against catnapping on the night of October 28, 1955. I and my partner, Bus Mertes, are patrolling Sunset zoo at 12 midnight. It's a dark night—one with disaster in the air.

We smell Jayhawkers. That's our job. I'm a cop, my name's McCain.

At 12:30 it happens. Several brave, upstanding youths from down the river catnap the young Mascot, Mr. Touchdown IV. Our job—Find him.

Four days pass, but no evident clues. Then the spell breaks with a call to the hospital from the catnappers, "What do we feed this wildcat; he won't eat." First contact with the villains since that terrible night.

Again no contact until Saturday morning at 8:31. A hot tip that our mayor is starving, but in KU hands. The chief says our job must be handled by plainclothesmen—each to identify himself by a red handkerchief.

It's 2:02 Saturday afternoon. Amid the playing of the National Anthem,

KS Can Have Pep Without Stealing

To the Editor:

In Wednesday's Kansas City Star a story and picture caption told, quoting Touchdown IV's catnappers, that the reason for the deed was to lift KU's all-time-low school spirits.

It may or may not work. But the Wildcat pep rally tonight could really make or break our own school and team spirit. The previous two rallies we had were rather small, with a few make a lot of racket.

But head cheerleader Phil Stiles has planned a BIG rally this time, and it's really going to be big if we turn out for it the way he hopes we will.

So, if we all get together and yell Friday night and have a good time, we should storm on down the Kay and stomp 'em like we did last year. If not, we can all sit back a little farther and complain about the lack of spirit everyone else here has.

Remember—the Union parking lot at 8 p.m. Friday. Bring a date and go to the dance afterward.

Dale Scott,
Alternate cheerleader

our men are well placed. Eleven of our representatives and their colleagues are in direct contact with the villains.

It's 2:08 Saturday afternoon. The hometown people are trying to shout and confuse the lawmen, but the red-scarfed vigilantes drown out the shouts of the fugitives.

Our representatives on the field seem to get tough behind their red-scarfed backers in the stands. The catnappers act humble, and our Mascot is returned, but too late to save the catnappers from a severe beating and great loss of pride.

The criminals have one year in KU penitentiary to mend their ways, once again showing that "Crime doesn't pay."

Saturday there will be a meeting of the red-scarf vigilantes at Memorial stadium in Lawrence, 2 p.m. (Don't forget your scarf.)

Congress of Student Welfare
Vice-president, Larry McDonald Jr.
Secretary Joe Bailey Jr., Ag Soph.

TD IV Is Owned By KS Fraternity

To the Editor:

It has come to my attention recently that the KU catnappers have said they will return Touchdown IV if no disciplinary action is promised.

The schools do not have any jurisdiction in this matter at all. Any jurisdiction concerning the return of TD IV should belong only to the city of Manhattan, which operates Sunset zoo, and to Alpha Phi Omega. Touchdown IV is owned solely by the KSC chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. The wildcat is housed and fed by Sunset zoo through agreement with the fraternity.

To this date, Sunset zoo has not been paid for the three or four large padlocks broken by the KU catnappers in the last four years. This catnapping is not a prank against KSC, but is a crime called "breaking and entering" against the city of Manhattan.

It is my hope that this letter will enlighten the Dean of Students offices, the student body, and the College faculty on all matters concerning Touchdown IV, our mascot.

Dale Knepper, vice-president of Alpha Phi Omega.

Pep Is High

Biennial Migration to KU Will Occur Tomorrow

K-State cars will be pointed eastward tomorrow as hundreds of students will be going to see the Cats clobber KU, hoping to see dear old Touchdown IV once more, and expecting a battle for the goalposts at game's end.

An ardent Wildcat fan has cooked up two new yells especially for tomorrow's game. They go like this:

1. Just prior to the emergence of our team on the field and during time-out periods, chant:

WE'VE GOT OUR STEAM
BEHIND OUR TEAM!
(REPEAT MANY TIMES)

Begin low, and chant with rising intensity and increasing volume to a point—as when the team comes onto the field. Then yell, scream, whistle, ring bells, clap hands, beat drums and cymbals to stimulate a violent explosion. This should be easy and effective. It could be taught and learned at KU stadium.

2. Whenever the K-State teams makes a good offensive or defensive play, including touchdowns, chant four times:

WE THINK OUR TEAM PLAYS WELL!
WE THINK OUR TEAM PLAYS WELL!
WE THINK OUR TEAM PLAYS WELL!
WE THINK OUR TEAM PLAYS WELL!

Then: YAY — TEAM!
YAY — STATE!
Rock 'em! Sock 'em!
Beat KU!

So, the good word for tomorrow is this—forget that your sister or cousin goes to KU! Let's overwhelm the Jayhawks with our yelling.

—Gary Swanson.

Fighting on Gaza Strip; Big 4 Talk German Unity

Jerusalem (U.P.)—Israeli and Egyptians mortar barrages shattered the brief-lived calm on their tense frontiers today after another night of bitter fighting in the Gaza strip.

Egyptian armed forces struck at advanced Israeli positions near the northern tip of the Gaza strip in a moonlit, predawn raid. An Israeli spokesman said the attackers were put to flight.

Afterward, an Egyptian spokesman said, both sides dueling with heavy mortars, United Press correspondent Walter Collins reported from the Sabha area farther south that the crunch of mortars still sounded today.

Geneva (U.P.)—The Western foreign ministers called in members of the West German observer delegation for the first time today at an urgent—and unscheduled—conference to try to break the Big Four deadlock on Germany unity.

The surprise meeting was called at the villa of British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan after Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov intervened personally with MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay in two private morning meetings.

Conference sources later disclosed that, in his talk with Pinay, Molotov raised these three subjects:

1. Future procedures for the Big Four conference.
2. The Indo-China situation.
3. Possible admission of 18 new members to the United Nations.

'Popular' Movie Has Corny Plot

At the Wareham, Today and Saturday "How To Be Very, Very Popular"—

This movie's answer to its own problematical title is about as subtle as a strip-equally as appropriate. In fact, such an improbable occurrence, to the tune of "Shake, Rattle, and Roll," is the film's climax.

Betty Grable plays the corny companion of fellow stripper

Two Staters Land Local Play Roles

Two K-State students, Joel Banowitch, Sp, and Mason Lundelius, Eng Sr, have been chosen for parts in "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent, the next presentation of the Manhattan civic theater.

Dr. James Rosenberg, instructor in the English department is the director.

Others in the cast are, Jordan Miller, instructor in the English department, Nina Davis, daughter of Prof. Earle Davis, head of the English department, and Lynne Fischer, wife of William Fischer, associate professor of music.

Eugene Price, Fort Riley, Ken Chappell, local businessman, and three Manhattan women, Virginia Ronald, Anne Menzie, and Margaret Fairchild, are also in the cast.

Stage crew members are Judith Price, Judy Dearborn, and Adelaide Rose.

The play concerns a young college professor, (Jordan Miller) who is faced with a double crisis on homecoming week end. The professor's rival, a former football star, Eugene Price, is coming home and at the same time a member of the board of trustees (Ken Chappell) is trying to oust him because of a Communist paper that the professor wants to read in class.

A second triangle appears between the professor's young sister-in-law and her two beaux. One is the editor of the college literary magazine, and the other is a current, but dumb, football star.

"The Male Animal" will be presented December 5, 6, and 7 in the Manhattan Community house at 8 p.m.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"It sounded good to me"

Charles Poole, B.S. in Business Administration, Boston University, '52, is working for New Jersey Bell Telephone Company as a Traffic Superintendent. For a young man he has a lot of responsibility. And responsibility is what he likes. He has three New Jersey exchanges under his supervision—Dover, Madison and Washington—which total nearly 16,000 customers, and he manages a force of some 160 operators, including nine chief operators and fifteen service assistants.

"It's the type of job," says Charlie, happily, "where you can never say you're caught up. There's always something to do." Each day brings Charlie new problems, new experiences. And with every passing day his grasp of the telephone business is getting stronger, his value to the company is growing.

That spells the kind of future that Charlie wants: the opportunity to take an ever-increasing part in an ever-expanding business.

"It sounded good to me," Charlie says, remembering what he thought when the telephone interviewer had finished telling him about the company and its future. And, as you might expect, it still sounds good to him.

Charlie Poole is typical of the many young men who are building careers in telephone work. Similar opportunities exist today with other telephone companies, and also with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has the details.

Cats Seek Third Victory in Row Over Jayhawks

K-State meets an improved team of Kansas university Jayhawks in the 53rd game of the Sunflower grid series at Lawrence tomorrow. The Cats will be trying for their third win in a row over the Hawks, something that has been done only once in the history of the series.

That was from 1924 through 1927 when the Cats took four straight. Kansas stopped streaks in 1935, 1938, and 1941 after the Cats had put together two wins in a row.

K-State won 7-0 in 1953 and 28-0 last year to set up the triple killing.

Also at stake tomorrow is occupancy of the Big Seven cellar. The Wildcats have a conference record of 1-3-0 and KU is riding a record of 0-3-1. Both have only fast rising Missouri on their conference schedules after tomorrow.

Both teams have similar records for the season's play. KU has won 1, lost 5, and tied 1 while the Cats have won 2 and lost 5. Most experts agree, however, that you can throw the record book out the window when the Cats and Hawks meet in any sport.

In seven games the Wildcats have netted 912 yards rushing and 315 yards passing for a total of 1,227 yards. Kansas has gained 782 yards on the ground and passed for 647 more for a 1,429-yard total.

Kansas State goes into the intra-state contest with only one man, junior guard George DeBietto, definitely out of the lineup. He suffered a back bruise in practice last week. Jon Walker, sophomore tackle, and Burt Schmidt, senior guard, have been sidelined with leg injuries but are expected to see action.

KU, meanwhile, has been hit hard by the injury bug. Both starting ends, sophomores Jim Lectavits and Lynn McCarthy, will probably miss the game. Lectavits suffered a broken hand and McCarthy injured an arm in the Nebraska game last Saturday. Dick Reich and Jerry Baker, the first two fullbacks, are of doubtful availability.

The Hawks flashed their best running attack of the year as they lost to Nebraska 19-14 Saturday. They piled up 212 yards as they forced the Cornhuskers to the end. They drove 42 yards for one score and 87 for the second. This was accomplished without their regular center, Frank Black, who will start tomorrow, and with Joe Held, fourth-string fullback, at the bucking slot.

COACH MERTES discusses today's freshman game with Nebraska with yearlings Jim Luzinski, end; Ronald Beshk, halfback; and Mike Solatka, quarterback.

Yearling Gridders To Meet Huskers Here Today at 3

The freshman gridders with an injury-thinned line will meet the Nebraska frosh today at 3 p.m.

The yearlings have three line-men and a fullback on the injury list. Gene McCurdy, end, who does all the kicking, is out with a dislocated shoulder. Bill Lalonde, also an end, has a similar injury. Joseph Amayo Jr. tackle, is out of the lineup with a knee injury, and Dick Boyd, fullback has a sprained ankle.

Ed Cavanaugh, freshman coach, says he thinks the game will be "real close" in spite of the injuries.

Both frosh teams lost their first games by close margins. Kansas State lost to KU by one touchdown and Nebraska lost to the Iowa State freshmen by a field goal.

Zickefoose Makes Switch with Ease

By DON MARKER
Chuck Zickefoose, 6-2, 200-pound senior from Wichita, switched from center, his position his first two years in college, to end in spring practice and has become one of the Wildcats leading receivers.

"I think Chuck has made a real quick switch from center to end," said Coach Bus Mertes. Mertes explained that it is a difficult switch to make due to the difference in the offensive and defensive functions required of the positions. "Chuck's long suit is his offensive blocking and his smashing defensive play," Mertes continued.

Chuck attended Wichita North high school where he lettered three years in track and one in football.

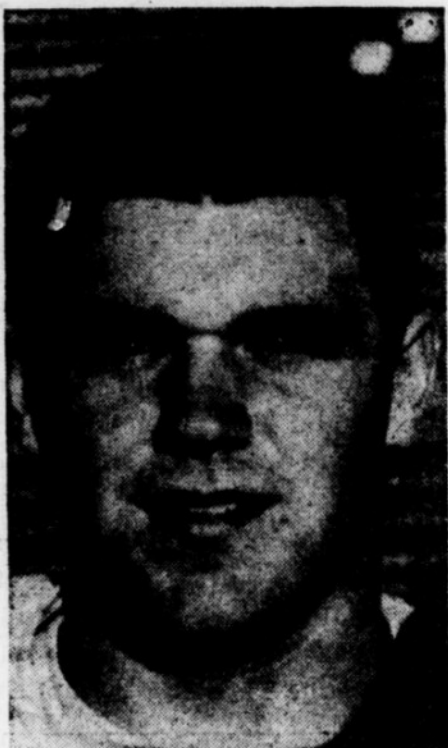

When track season rolls around, Chuck plans to compete in the discus and shot put, with the varsity team.

Chuck is now in the fourth of a five year architecture course. He has maintained high grades since he's been at K-State and this year received the Koefod Athletic Honor Roll award for his 2.5 grade average for the 1954-55 school year. This award goes to the varsity athlete with the highest grades each year.

For recreation Chuck swims and fishes, but he won't confess to being particularly skilled at either.

He thinks the spirit of the Wildcats was good against Oklahoma and predicts that K-State will field an eager team at KU Saturday.

day. "I think we have a good chance of winning and because of the rivalry that exists between the two schools it should be a close game," said Zickefoose.

Zickefoose, Wildcat end.

Bowl Game To Precede Varsity Tilt

The annual Pretzel Bowl touch football game between the Kappa Sigma fraternity chapters of Kansas university and Kansas State, will be held at Lawrence, Saturday with game time scheduled for 10 a.m.

A victory for the Wildcat chapter would be their third in a row and would give them permanent possession of the trophy which is awarded with each victory.

The first contest was played in 1953 with the K-Staters gaining a 1-0 win. There was no score at the end of regulation play, but the local chapter had piled up more yardage than the KU squad, and was declared the winners.

Last year the game was played at Manhattan and the local chapter gained a 44-0 win.

The game is played each year the morning preceding the annual clash between the varsity grid squads.

Wildcat Runners To Meet Buffs, Cyclones Tomorrow

The K-State cross country team will run in a triangular meet with Iowa State and Colorado at Ames tomorrow.

Coach Ward Haylett announced six men would make the trip, they are: Jesse Unruh, Arlan Stackley, Whitney Hicks, Hubert Guest, Glen Taplin, and Terry Turner.

The Cat distance men lost their last meet with Nebraska 14-22, at Lincoln last Friday. In other meets this year they have defeated Drake 15-33, and lost to Missouri 10-23.

The Cats will run in the Big Seven cross country meet at Ames

November 12. The defending champion Kansas Jayhawks will lead the field in the annual meet.

KS Christian Fellowship Has Thanksgiving Retreat

By JUDY WILLIAMS

Kansas State Christian fellowship is a chapter of Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship. It is an international, interdenominational organization designed for the purpose of presenting Christianity to the students here at Kansas State.

Inter-Varsity began in England in 1872 and came to Canada and United States in 1926. Over 500 college campuses in United States have I.V. chapters. The organization is also widespread in Germany, France, and England.

KSCF was established on our campus in 1943 and is co-ordinated and sponsored by the active and interested students on campus.

Bear Trap ranch in Colorado will be the setting for the International Inter-Varsity student conference which will take place during the Thanksgiving holidays.

KSCF will be one of many Inter-Varsity chapters throughout the world to send delegates.

The ranch, located 18 miles from Colorado Springs, will be headquarters from which students may visit Pikes Peak, Will Rogers' Shrine, Garden of the Gods, and other scenic spots.

Each Tuesday at 7 p.m., KSCF meets in recreation center to hear speakers from religious organizations outside of Manhattan, ministers of local churches, and sometimes student speakers from KSC.

This Tuesday night the program will be given by three students who announce their own topics. Election of officers will also be held.

U.S. Steel Executive

Fairless To Speak Thursday At Feed Building Dedication

The new half-million dollar Kansas State feed technology building will be dedicated Thursday at 2:00 p.m. in the College auditorium.

President McCain will preside over the dedicatory ceremonies.

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the executive advisory committee of the board of directors, United States Steel corporation will give the address, "Industry, Agriculture, and Education — A Three-Relationship."

With the completion of the building, K-State becomes the only school in the world offering instruction, a degree in theory and fundamentals, and actual "do it yourself" practice in the production of formula feeds—the ninth ranking industry in the United States, and the largest in the world offering goods and services to agriculture.

Funds for the building and equipment have been donated by manufacturers and suppliers associated with the feed industry. A total of 375 contributors gave $224,362, and $136,517 worth of machinery and services were donated by 97 more contributors.

The building, finished with native stone, has classrooms in the west portion and a feed mixing laboratory in the east portion. A new pilot feed mill, the only one of its kind in the world, is located next to a commercial flour mill that is the only flour mill in the world housed in a college building. Open house and inspection of the building and equipment will be from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Thursday.

Jayhawkers Win Debate

K-State didn't win everything at Kansas university during the past weekend, as is evidenced by a 3 to 1 vote defeat two K-State coeds took Friday evening in a debate with the Jayhawks.

Despite the loss, however, Asst. Prof. Charles Goetzinger, director of forensics said he felt the K-State girls did quite well since it was a KU audience.

The local representatives, Bunny Cowan, Pys Soph, and Anita Grimm, TJ Soph, were debating the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved: That Non-Agricultural Industries of the United States Should Guarantee Their Employees an Annual Wage."

The debate was under the direction of Dr. Kim Giffen, Kansas university director of debate.

Plans call for making the debate an annual affair, to be held every year on the Friday night before the KU-K-State football game at the host school.

Game Charges Set for Union, Kottner Says

Charges to use game equipment in the new Student Union were approved by the Union Governing board last week, Loren Kottner, Union director, has announced.

Prices to be charged are bowling, 35 cents a line or three lines for a dollar for members (those who pay fees) and 40 cents a line for non-members; league bowling, 30 cents and 40 cents a line; bowling classes $7 a semester; billiards, 50 cents and 60 cents an hour; table tennis, 20 cents and 30 cents an hour; shoe rental, 10 cents and 15 cents; and table games and cards, free for members and 10 cents for non-members.

The board also approved charges for rooms. These charges are included in scheduling packets given to all organized houses, clubs, and organizations, Bob Alexander, program director, said.

The packets include a letter from Kottner, a tentative schedule of activities during the school year, several room application blanks and a list of charges for the rooms, food service, and games.

Kottner said the deadline for returning the questionnaires is November 18. The same deadline date will be used for accepting the first group of applications for room usage. Since students are not familiar with the building, he said, applications for space will be assigned at first.

Engineers To Pick Council Substitute

The vacancy left by the resignation of Mackie Murphy from the Student Council, will be filled by the Engineering Council in a meeting on November 17.

Applications for the position are to be sent to Box "N" by noon November 17.

Student Health

Five girls and six boys are patients in the Student Health hospital today.

The girls are Bev Ryman, Cynthia Low, Dorothy Crotinger, Joanne Francisco, and Barbara Niccum.

The boys are Donald Natuszak, Robert Schober, Howard Nishimura, Delbert Jepsen, James Agnew, and Harvey Stephens.

Must Register For English Test

November 10 is the deadline for students assigned to English proficiency to sign record cards in their dean's office, Nellie Aberle, chairman of extension committee, announced. The students will also be assigned numbers to be used in taking the examination, November 15, she said.

Mexican Film In J 15 Today

A Mexican musical film, "Ay Jalisco No Te Rajes," will be shown today and Wednesday, in J 15 at 4 p.m.

This film is one in the series of the foreign film programs sponsored by the modern languages department and is open to all students and faculty members.

Air Honorary To Choose 6 For Royalty

Six candidates for queen of the military ball next spring are to be selected by Arnold Air Society today at 7 p.m. in the student union, George Yapp, president, said yesterday.

The six will compete with six chosen earlier by Scabbard and Blade.

The candidates are Sandra Morissette, Alpha Xi Delta; DeAnn Mackie, Alpha Delta Pi; Genie Munn, Chi Omega; Geraldine Woodward, Clovia; Marilyn Adams, Delta Delta Delta; Dixie Roberts, Kappa Delta; Kay Benjamin, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Charlene Brooks, Pi Beta Phi; Alda Schmutz, Clarks Gables; Dorothy Newton, Northwest; Kathleen Dodd, Van Zile, and Marjorie Olsen, Waltheim. Two other candidates were to be selected today, Yapp said.

8 To Vie Tonight For Speech Honors

Finals in the first annual Delta Sigma Rho extemporaneous speech contest will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the Engineering lecture hall, according to Asst. Prof. Charles Goetzinger, faculty advisor.

Five finalists in the man's division picked last Tuesday from a field of 24 contestants, will compete for the winner's plaque.

The finalists and the organization they represent are: Dan Farrell, PrL Jr, LSA; Ronald Garlow, EE Fr, AKL; Walter Martin, ME Soph, AKL; Bruce Wilson; Hst Sr, ATO; and Jack Wirtz, PrV Fr, ATO.

Barbara Marshall, Sp Soph, Ann Shaw, Sp Sr, and Connie Taylor, EEd Soph, will compete for the winner's plaque in the women's division. All three represent Pi Beta Phi. They were selected last Tuesday from a field of 12.

In addition to plaques for individual winners, a trophy will be given to the organization best represented in each division.

Judges tonight will be John Keltner, head of the speech department; Charles Jacot, assistant dean of students; Robert McCool, president of the Manhattan junior chamber of commerce; and William Davis, Kansas president of the junior Chamber of Commerce. Tom Bowman, ChE Soph, is chairman of the contest.

Arch-Rival Trounced

Happy Atmosphere Prevails on Campus After Joyful Weekend at KU's Expense

By ROYANNE McMULLEN

All seems well on the Kansas State campus and a happy atmosphere prevails.

Why? The arch-rival, KU, was beaten by the largest margin a K-State football team has beaten them in 53 years, the KU triumph of stealing Touchdown IV was ruined by the appearance of a fierce Touchdown V, the KS marching band performed well, and the students got a holiday just before nine week tests.

What was the coach thinking as he recalled the game?

Bus Mertes thought it was a great game, and that the win would help K-State in every way that's good including attitude, recruiting, and spirit.

"The game was a real team effort. No one could be singled out for praise, because it took a lot of everybody," the coach said.

Looking ahead to the Missouri game, Coach Mertes said that it should be quite a ball game. Missouri has their top quarterback in the line-up again, and they gave Oklahoma a better game than the score showed.

Then there were the students who were not only happy because of the victory but because the win gave them a holiday to get ready for nine week tests.

Marylyn McCreedy, Purple Pepster president, just loved the game.

She said, "I was surprised because the score was so large, but the only thing I was disappointed in was that we didn't get the goal posts."

Commenting on the pep of the schools, she said, "KU's pep was terrific before the first touchdown but then it was lost. Comparing the two schools, KU yells loud when they are winning, but we yell when we're winning and even when we're losing."

Sondra Tate, another cheerleader, said, "From the very first when the team came out I could feel it was K-State all the way. Everybody was so happy, and it makes me feel good just to think of it. I think it's the best thing that's ever happened, and I'm sure we'll go on to trounce Missouri."

There were some people on the campus that still had work to do after the game.

Dean Wunderlich had the students who were caught at KU during the week's pregame activities to deal with. Nine names had been turned in by KU, but Dean Wunderlich said he hadn't checked to see if all were K-State students yet.

He said that no decision had been reached as to what would happen to them and the 10 KU students who were caught on our campus.

Touchdown IV was back at home after spending the past days at KU. He probably could tell K-Staters an interesting story about his experiences with the Jayhawks.

But how about the 36 football players who made all this possible? They all were so busy they couldn't be reached for comment. But West Stadium holds some pretty happy boys!

'Catnapped' Is Verboten

KS-KU Tilt Brings Rumblings from Kaw

Rumblings from down the Kaw:

There is no truth in the rumor that Chuck Mather has coached his last game at KU. Latest rumors indicate that Mather will be allowed to finish the current grid season, as J. V. Sikes was allowed to do two years ago.

We feel that Mather deserves a word of praise for his refusal to alibi and for his gentlemanly praise of the K-Staters who gave him a mighty rough afternoon.

The word from Rock Hill is that the word "catnapped" is verboten there, just as the word "dedication" was forbidden here at K-State last spring after the Cats lost the dedication games of Ahearn and Allen fieldhouses.

Also comes to us this word of advice on athletic holidays from no less than the KU dean of students, as quoted in the University Daily Kansan: "K-State students are not getting a free day, as the school's academic calendar is two days longer than the University's."

He added that such a system of floating holidays causes too much confusion in some classes. In certain courses, students who missed a class because of a floating holiday would not be able to make the work up, he said.

Heck!

Yes, Saturday was a great day for K-State down on KU's little mountain (there's no truth to the report that it's only a foothill). Not only did the football team come out on top, but it probably was the first time in the history of Big Seven football that the cheering section of the visiting team drowned out the cheering section of the home team.

At halftime, the K-State band looked so much better than the KU marching unit that even some Hawk fans were convinced. But the KU'ers did have one kind word for their own double-timing band.

"K-State's band may be better than ours," one fan remarked, "but our band is the fastest."

Touchdown IV has settled down in Manhattan again after her harrowing experience. We asked her how it felt to be catnapped. "Harrowing," was the way she put it.

While on the subject of Touchdown, we can only hope that Missouri students will catnap her before next Saturday's game with MU. It seems to bring out something in our team.

And finally, adding insult to injury, we even heard that ol' TD bit one of her captors shortly before she was returned.—Darrel Miller.

'Moon' Ban Was Correct

Dear Mr. Ramblin' Wreck:

By now, we imagine, 99 per cent of the Kansas State college students have seen the gay, delightful, funny, bold, down-to-earth, obscene, indecent, censored and condemned movie "The Moon Is Blue." (What was your cut for writing it up in our "use to be" highly rated College newspaper???)

We agree with you. The Kansas Board of Review should be abolished, BUT a well-paid National Board of Review which could stand on its own feet and not be influenced by politics or Crazy Autos should be inaugurated.

We further agree with you. A gay, delightful, and enlightening movie should not be condemned, BUT we do not see how a movie based upon the clever degradation of sex and virginity could be classed gay, delightful, and enlightening.

We furthermore agree. Our kids should be given a healthy wholesome attitude toward sex, BUT we do not think that the local movie screen is the time, or the place, or the opportunity to enlighten our children about something so personally wonderful as sex. We dare say that in many of our better homes a wholesome sex education is given to the children by none other than the parents. Do you feel that you are not capable, Mr. Auto?

We further agree with you. The word seduce has several different meanings, but we think if you will read the last meaning given in "Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary," it will read something like this: "To induce to surrender chastity."

No Dick, we're afraid that we cannot agree with you this time. Everyone does not have such perfectly good and staunch morals as you and they may be influenced or corrupted.

We agree with you. "The Moon" should be put on a par with such films as "Nag-ara" and "The French Line," and we think you will find that they have been condemned by at least some of the censorship committees.

Well, Mr. Carr, we'll go back to our business. Maybe you should take photography of some "beautiful babes" or something.

'Moon Is Blue' Is Hilarious Comedy

At the Co-ed, ends tonight—"Moon is Blue—this is a hilarious comedy about a boy who meets a girl who is much too nice. They meet on top of the Empire State building and wind up in the boy's apartment.

On the way to the apartment, the girl (Maggie McNamara) asks the boy (William Holden) if he plans to seduce her. Holden is visibly shaken.

While Bill is out scrounging up something for them to eat, Maggie meets David Niven, middle-age playboy and father of the girl Bill has been dating. She invites him to have dinner with them. In the course of the evening, while Bill is settling things with his old girl friend (who should have got in the act sooner) David proposes marriage to Maggie.

Maggie tells him she is terribly fond of him but he just isn't her type. Holden catches them in an affectionate kiss and thinks he has been taken for a ride by a pretentious show of virtue. Realizing that a girl can go too far in convincing a feller that she's a lady, Maggie settles back to earth and Bill is a dead duck.

Price Supports Hurt World Ag Economy?

Rome, (U.P.)—U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson warned today that the protective umbrella thrown over the world's farmers by the American price-support program may be withdrawn.

"In some nations today," Benson said, "many of us fear that present trends are leading toward 'quick return' attitudes, toward singlecrop rather than balanced agricultural economies.

London — The Communist party newspaper Pravda quickly reversed the "peace" line of yesterday's Communist revolution anniversary with an editorial warning of Soviet strength.

"Some already have experienced the strength of the land which has established socialism," the Moscow newspaper said. "We would not advise anyone to have to experience it again." Radio Moscow broadcast the editorial.

Christie Awarded $300 Scholarship

Lloyd E. Christie, DH Sr, is winner of the 1955-56 $300 Borden award for the senior with the highest average grades among students in agriculture who have completed at least two dairy husbandry courses, Arthur D. Weber, dean of agriculture, announced yesterday.

Christie has a 2.65 grade average after three years at K-State.

In addition to getting $300, Christie's name will be added to a bronze plaque in Waters hall with former Borden winners and he will receive a certificate of merit.

Christie is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic fraternity, and Alpha Zeta, national honorary. He has held several offices in the K-State Dairy club, and has won honors in both dairy cattle judging and as a member of the College dairy products judging team.

WATCH YOUR TALK!

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in both social and business advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, self confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a 24-page booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation whatsoever. Simply send your request to: Conversation Studies, 835 Riverway Parkway, Dept. 3988, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

36 Wildcats Are 'Players of Week'

The Wildcat traveling squad of 36 gridders has been selected for this week's "Player of the Week" award by Coach Bus Mertes and the coaching staff for their play in the 46-0 victory over the Jayhawks.

"You can't single out any one player as more outstanding than the rest. They all played well," Mertes said. "It was just a case of 36 guys wanting to play a good game and prove a lot of things to themselves and everyone else," Mertes continued.

Kansas Coach Chuck Mather had special praise for the Wildcat line which completely stymied the Hawk passing attack. "They whipped us all along the line. All of them played well but you just can't say enough for that line," Mather said.

Mertes said the Wildcats played their best game of the season. "Before the game we asked for 90 per cent effort and we almost got it. This was our best game of the year, even better than Marquette," Mertes said.

Mather called Bob Whitehead "the best Split-T quarterback I ever saw, better than Oklahoma's Jimmy Harris." In praising Doug Roether he said "he's a tremendous blocker. He wiped our ends and linebackers completely out of the play."

Activities at the California Division of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation cover virtually every phase of aeronautical endeavor. A total of 45 major projects is in progress.

The expanding development and production program has already resulted in 13 models of aircraft now on production lines—huge airliners, commercial and military cargo transports, extremely high-speed fighters, jet trainers, radar search planes and patrol bombers.

Development projects are even more diversified, include nuclear applications to aircraft, turbo-prop and jet transports, advanced versions of vertical-rising aircraft and a number of other significant classified projects.

This capacity to develop and produce such a wide range of aircraft is important to career-conscious engineers. It means more scope for your ability, more opportunity for promotion with so many projects constantly in motion, more job security—because your career is not restricted to one type of plane.

Lady Colonels

Military Ball Queen Finalists Announced by Arnold Air

Six candidates selected by the Arnold Air society were announced last night by George Yapp, commander of the club, for queen of the Military Ball next spring.

A queen and attendants will be picked from the six Arnold Air candidates and six Scabbard and Blade candidates announced earlier.

The six girls selected by Arnold Air are Marilyn Adams, Delta Delta Delta; Kay Benjamin, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Charlene Brooks, Pi Beta Phi; Kathleen Dodd, Van Zile; DeAun Mackie, Alpha Delta Pi; and Genie Munn, Chi Omega.

The Arnold Air candidates and other finalists will be granted the rank of honorary cadet lieutenant colonels and will march in the formal Wing Review November 21. They will also become members of the "Angel Flight" drill company.

Other finalists were Sandra Morissette, Alpha Xi Delta; Geraldine Woodward, Clovia; Dixie Roberts, Kappa Delta; Alda Schmutz, Clarks Gables; Marjorie Olsen, Waltheim; Corrine Wright, Northwest; Janet Eddy, Alpha Chi Omega; and Helen Lutz, Southeast.

Top Speakers

Marshall, Wilson Are Top Speakers

Barbara Marshall, Sp Soph, and Bruce Wilson, Hst Sr, won the Delta Sigma Rho extemporaneous speaking contest last night.

Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Tau Omega won the house trophies.

Ann Shaw, Sp Sr, won second place and Connie Taylor, EEd Soph third in the women's division. Penn Morton, ME Soph, and Jack Wirtz, Prv Fr, were second and third respectively in the men's division.

Miss Marshall's winning topic was Desegregation, and Wilson spoke on Liberal vs. Technical Education in College.

Other subjects were Political Apathy by Ann Shaw, Marriage vs. Career by Connie Taylor, Right-to-Work Law by Morton, and Desegregation by Wirtz.

The organizational trophies remain with the winning house for one year. The trophy will be retired after an organization has won the contest three times.

Winners are decided on the basis of participation points and points for the winners. In last night's contest Pi Beta Phi was high in the women's division with 53 points and Alpha Tau Omega had 38 points to top the men's division.

Senior Meeting To Choose Gift Thursday Night

The senior class will meet in King lecture hall at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to discuss whether to leave a present for the College when they are graduated and how to finance the purchase of the proposed gift.

In the past, senior announcements have been printed by the College press and an extra 15% has been added to their cost. This 15% has been used by the College to buy a gift.

The seniors this year will decide if this practice should be continued or to handle the printing of the announcements in another way.

The College has previously handled the purchasing of the senior gift, said senior president George Atkeson.

Council Proposes Bylaw Changes

This is the second announcement of a proposed amendment to the constitution bylaws which would permit placing political affiliations on the ballot beside the candidate's name.

Student body President Gerry Day said that according to the Constitution the amendment must be published in the Collegian twice before the final vote is taken.

The first announcement was printed November 1.

Staters May Invite Foreign Students As Holiday Guests

K-State students living in this area may invite foreign students home for the Thanksgiving or Christmas vacation by contacting the dean of students office before November 15, Charles Jacot, assistant dean of students, said today.

"Inviting foreign students home provides an excellent opportunity for American students and families to become acquainted with another country, its people, and its customs. It is a fine opportunity for foreign students in our country to learn about American customs and American families and community life," Jacot said.

Hospitality of this type leads to greater friendship between countries, Jacot said.

Mock Convention Applications Due For Staff Jobs

Written applications for national chairman, secretary, and treasurer of the K-State mock political convention are being accepted by the executive council, Prof. Louis Douglas, faculty advisor, announced today.

Students interested are requested to submit their applications to the executive committee, box 372, College post office or contact Dan Farrell, PrL Jr, phone 8-2954.

Deadline for submitting applications is Wednesday, November 16, Douglas said.

The applications must include grade average, classification, campus activities, position preference, and any additional information that might be important, he said.

Student Health

Three boys and five girls are patients in the Student Health hospital today. The boys are Donald Myers, Pat Gibson, and Tom Arisman.

The deadline for Royal Purple receipts is tomorrow.

The original deadline was extended because of the number of persons wanting pictures in this year's annual, Sam Logan, Royal Purple editor, said.

Photo receipts are available in K-103A today and tomorrow until 5 p.m.

8 ROTC Cadets Honored

DISTINGUISHED Military students in Army ROTC are Duane Ginter, Gary Rogers, Gene Martin, Donald Reed, Edwin Reig, Roger Rankin, and Henry Windisch. Not shown is Frank Farrell.

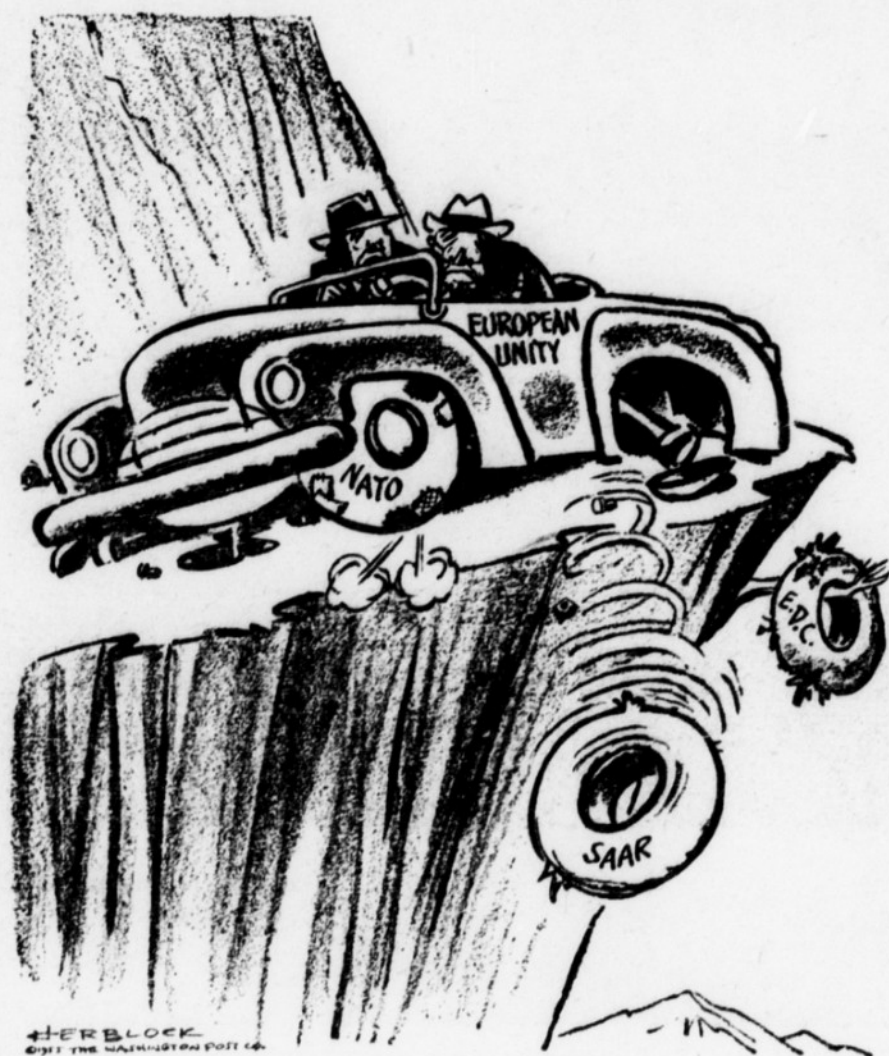

Eight army ROTC cadets have received the Distinguished Military Students award.

The students all received badges and personal congratulations from Col. William W. Harvey Jr, PMST at K-State. In addition, each cadet received a personal letter from the commanding general of the Fifth Army, Fort Riley.

Major Ziggi Grzywnowicz of the military science department, said the requirements of the award were threefold. The student must show outstanding qualities of leadership, high moral standards, and he must be in the upper one-half of his class.

U.P. Poll Finds . . .

Women See Stevenson, Nixon As the Most Likely To Succeed

By Lyle C. Wilson

Washington, (U.P.)—Adlai E. Stevenson rates high with men voters, but higher with the women. He is far in front of the pack for next year's Democratic Presidential nomination.

Vice-President Richard M. Nixon also seems slightly more popular among women than among men voters. But he has no comparable advantage over other Republicans who might be nominated next year.

These conclusions are based on an unusual sampling of political opinion just completed by United Press. Results of a poll among 100 selected male voters were reported on October 26. A poll among women in the same pattern now has been completed.

Seventeen suitably located United Press bureaus made the sampling. Each asked a given number of representative women to state who they believe at this time to be the most likely Democratic and Republican Presidential nominees next year. They were assuming that President Eisenhower will not seek a second term. It was requested that the participants name the individuals most likely to be nominated, rather than their personal choices.

United Press polled 87 women in many fields of women's activity.

Foretelling a scramble among Republicans if Eisenhower drops out, the women scattered their fire among 11 first-choice Republicans who might be nominated.

But they limited the Democratic field to 6 names. That followed the pattern of the men who last month named 13 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

DEMOCRATS

Adlai E. Stevenson .....66
Averell Harriman .....13
Estes Kefauver ..... 3

REPUBLICANS

Richard M. Nixon .....37
Earl Warren .....21
William F. Knowland ..... 9
Goodwin J. Knight ..... 3
George M. Humphrey ..... 3
Henry Cabot Lodge ..... 3
Milton Eisenhower ..... 3

The leaders in the men's poll had been: Democrats—Stevenson 55, Harriman 31, Kefauver 5. Republicans—Nixon 36, Warren 25, Thomas E. Dewey 6, Milton Eisenhower 6, Knowland 5.

The poll was among a cross-section of women voters in all parts of the United States which—for purposes of this poll—were East, Northeast, South, Midwest, Southwest, Northwest, West.

Stevenson, Nixon, and Warren were the only prospective nominees named in all seven areas.

The poll of these women, scattered from coast to coast, suggests some political trends bordering on political fact.

Democratic: The women have narrowed the field to Stevenson, Harriman, and Kefauver and, like the men, seem to establish Stevenson with a long lead.

His strength is the weakness of other Democrats.

Stevenson is an established national figure. The others need some of the buildup that Stevenson acquired in the 1952 campaign and has continued to get since. Stevenson also seems to have a good hold on the women.

Republican: The nomination remains wide open, but with Nixon well in the lead of a large field. Nixon, like Stevenson, rated higher in the women's poll than in the poll of men voters. Chief Justice Warren was second to Nixon in both polls. He has said and repeated that he will not leave the bench to seek political office. His standing among the voters is such, however, that great pressure may be brought on him to re-enter politics. That pressure would come largely in the form of a stop-Nixon movement.

'Guided Tour of Campus Humor'

Shulman Doesn't Digress from Point, Whatever It Is

Hail Shulman! Three cheers for the Sigafoos of modern humor. Especially three cheers for his just-published book of campus humor.

Campus humor Sigafoos was an unusual child. At the age of 6 months he was 1 year old.

But I digress. We were talking about Shulman's new book. It is called "Max Shulman's Guided Tour of Campus Humor," and, believe you me, I liked it so much that I would be reviewing it today even if my editor hadn't ordered me to. He received an autographed first-edition, complimentary copy.

A poem gleaned from this book's golden pages:

"If you love me
Like I love you—
Then shame on us!"

This little gem is typical of the articles, poems, stories, jokes, and nonsense collected by Shulman from nearly 60 college humor magazines, 10 "Old Grads," and not a little from Shulman himself.

Shulman is the author of such hilarious books as "The Feather Merchant" and "Barefoot Boy with Cheek." Some of his material included in this book is new.

The best selection, I think, is a reprint from "Barefoot Boy with Cheek." Its hero, Asa Hearthrug, after enrolling in college, finds himself, before he can say "I digress", a pledge of a funny fraternity which Shulman calls Alpha Cholera.

Another funny one (and clean too) from the book concerns the prominent speaker who in hurrying toward the large college auditorium, where he was to make the commencement address. He received an inspiration for the close of his talk from the word PUSH painted on the auditorium doors.

He said in closing, "Members of the graduating class: you are going out into the cold, hard world of reality where perseverance is necessary in order to get what you want from life. And, to get ahead, you also will need a certain quality which even now is engraved on the doors of this very hall . . ."

At this everyone turned around and looked at the doors. There, engraved clearly on the brass plate, was the single word "PULL."

The book has eight sections and, Shulmanishly enough, the first is "Miscellany." "History Rewritten" is the second section of the collection. In passing, I thing I should quote a short excerpt from one of the tales taken from the Yale Review.

It is entitled "Crossing the Delaware," and its author says it's the true story—based on reputable authority—of Washington's famous and heroic crossing of the Delaware river.

It starts like this:

Washington: Gosh darn it! Stop rocking the boat. My head is killing me.

General Greene: Well, get away from the bow and stop waving that darn flag. Every time you get fried you have to ham it up.

Washington: The people love me.
General Greene: All right, the people love you. Now sit down.

Washington: What river is this?
Adjutant: The Delaware, sir.

Washington: The Delaware! What are we doing on the Delaware? Who gave this order?

Adjutant: You did, sir.

Washington: Why did you let me do it? I'll have you drummed out of camp for this. You, there! Don't row so hard. Can't you see my head is splitting open?" Etc., Etc. . . .

The third part of Schulman's book is verse, from which comes such dillies as the following:

"I'm going to have a little one,"
Said the girl, gay and frisky;

But her boy friend up and fainted
Before he knew she meant whiskey.

Part four of this humor anthology is called "Satire and Burlesque," parodies of science, literature, and the arts. The selections are too long and too individualistic to be excerpted here, but you can imagine what some of the subjects might be.

Part five is about sports, and is funny enough to tickle even the most unsporting reader. Part six is called "Lacerated Languages," and is just that. It consists of quoted foreign language phrases translated into punned American phrases.

Part seven is made up of jokes that are probably, at least in part, familiar to the regular reader of college humor magazines. They are funny in a way that only college humor can be funny.

"The Old Grads" is a collection of stories by some of the great in wit and satire. It makes up part eight and includes writings by James Thurber, Heywood Brown, and H. Allen Smith.

Shulman says that there are three characteristics common to all college humor. They are:

1. An irreverence toward authority;
2. A love for the outlandish;
3. A preoccupation with sex.

He must be right because all his selections fit one or more of these categories and they are all, in my opinion, the best of each. Some are obviously the best because they are used over and over again in college humor mags. If nothing else, this book can serve as a handy reference for college wit and satire.

It also might bring to the fore the fact that Kansas State does not have a humor magazine. A deplorable condition indeed.

Italian Opera Set For Friday Night

By BILL WHISTLER

Boris Goldovsky's Opera Theater will entertain K-Staters with its presentation of Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" in English, Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Auditorium.

The action of the comic opera takes place in Rome, in the early 1800's. The moral of the story is, simply, that it is sheer madness for an old man to take a young wife.

James Joyce will play the part of Don Pasquale, an old, crusty bachelor. Mac Morgan will portray Doctor Malatesta, Don Pasquale's friend and family physician. John McColium will play the part of Ernesto, Don Pasquale's nephew, who is in love with Norina, played by Nancy Trickey.

Don Pasquale proposes to have his nephew Ernesto marry a rich and noble lady. Ernesto refuses, explaining that he is in love with Norina. Don Pasquale decides to punish and disinherit Ernesto by entering into marriage himself.

From that point on Don Pasquale finds himself ensnared in a trumped-up love affair. The disillusioned Don Pasquale runs the gamut of marital emotions to a climax that leaves everybody happy, including himself.

Mr. Goldovsky serves as both conductor and stage director of Opera Theater. In addition to "Don Pasquale" the company's repertoire over the season includes such works as "Carmen," "The Marriage of Figaro," "La Boheme," and "Rigoletto." Goldovsky's "Piano Portraits" has also established him as a concert soloist.

Sooner Back Retains Scoring Leadership

Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma halfback, is rapidly pulling away in the race for individual scoring and rushing honors in Big Seven football, just as the Oklahoma Sooners are closing in on their eighth straight conference championship.

The 169-pound junior from Albuquerque scored twice in Oklahoma's 20-0 victory over Missouri Saturday to bring his scoring total to 72 points in seven games.

Ralph Pfeifer, K-State's sophomore halfback, is in a three-way tie for fourth place in scoring with 30 points.

Conference statistics show McDonald has gained a total of 524 yards in 72 carries for an average of 7 yards a try.

Doug Roether, Pfeifer, and Tony Addeo of the Wildcats rank 14th, 15th, and 16th respectively in the league in rushing.

Harold Burnine, Missouri end, retained his pass receivers leadership with 4 catches good for 53 yards against Oklahoma Saturday. In 8 Missouri games played to date, Burnine has caught 34 passes for a total of 462 yards.

Dave Doane, Burnine's teammate, is the conference's top passer. He has completed 46 passes good for 678 yards. Bob Whitehead, of K-State, ranks 10th in passing with 11 completions good for 145 yards, while Dick Corbin, also of K-State, ranks 13th with 12 completions good for 133 yards.

Ted Rohde of Kansas continues to lead the league in punting with a 42.5 yard average on 19 kicks. Dick Allen, of Kansas State, ranks fourth with an average of 38.1 a kick on 11 kicks for 419 yards.

In the punt return department, Bob Stransky of Colorado, took over the league lead with an average of 17.7 on 8 run-backs. Addeo and Kenay Nesmith rank third and fourth respectively with averages of 14 and 13.7 a return.

Teamwise, Oklahoma continues as the rushing leader with a 311 yard average and in rushing and passing combined with a total of 2,728 yards and 389.7 game average.

Conference Teams Prep for Saturday Football Meetings

By UNITED PRESS

Their strategies an open book after a string of Saturday gridiron appearances, Big Seven coaches took a matter-of-fact attitude toward football drills this week.

Nebraska Coach Bill Glassford showed the sternest attitude by promising rough defensive work for his charges prior to their Homecoming tilt with Colorado Saturday.

The Huskers, already guaranteed a tie for second place in the conference, could keep the distinction to themselves by defeating the Buffs. A win would set the stage for the Oklahoma game the following weekend for the conference championship.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, celebrated its ranking with only a light workout yesterday.

At Ames, Iowa State discovered new fodder in the persons of six players injured and unable to play in recent weeks who will be ready for action against the Sooners at Norman.

Kansas State and Missouri, two good teams with mediocre records, initiated a week of drills leading to their toss-up encounter at Columbia Saturday.

In Columbia, the Missouri Tigers eased back into practice after a bruising bout with Oklahoma. Coach Don Faurot was intent on reviving his team's air and ground attack after a fruitless Saturday against the Sooners.

At Lawrence, the Kansas squad worked out for a home fray with Oklahoma A&M, a team, which like Kansas, has been the victim of a season of gridiron frustration.

162,900 people saw the Wildcats play basketball in the 1953-54 season. This placed them among the top 20 teams in the nation in season's attendance records.

Gym Enthusiasts Asked To Attend Team Meeting

All men interested in trying out for either the freshman or varsity gymnastic teams are asked to attend a team meeting to be held Thursday at 4:15 p.m., in R-101 (Apparatus room) of Ahearn field house.

Experience in the sport is not necessary in order to try out for the team, Coach Frank Thompson said.

The only qualifications needed are a fair amount of coordination and strength, he said.

Doug Roether Showed Power Against Kansas

Doug Roether, Kansas State's senior fullback, gave his latest display of blocking power with a crushing exhibition against Kansas university Saturday.

In his third season as a Wildcat regular, Roether was credited by both the K-State and KU coach as the major reason for success in K-State's wide plays.

"Roether tore our ends and linebackers to pieces, just wiped us out on almost every wide play. He is a terrific blocker," Chuck Mather, KU coach commented.

Rating an honorable mention on the Big Seven all-Star team last season, Roether figures to be leading candidate for all-Conference fullback this year. Through eight games, he has been the Wildcat's defensive standout and has averaged 3.6 yards a try in 58 carries.

Dolsberry Winner Of Pigskin Contest

Charles Dolsberry, BA Sr, is this week's winner of the Pigskin Prognostication contest. Dolsberry was one of 63 per cent of the guessers that picked K-State to win.

All the guessers picked the game to be a close one and Dolsberry's point spread of 17 points was the largest among the entries turned in. His estimated score was K-State 31, Kansas 14.

Nicholas Schroeder, AEd Jr, was his nearest competitor with a 14-point spread. Schroeder's guess on the score was 14-0 in K-State's favor.

Mertes Says . . .

Encounter with Missouri Will Be Battle of Lines

"Saturday's game with Missouri will be a battle between the lines," Coach Bus Mertes said last night in his weekly television show.

"Our pass defense must hold up against Missouri, which is a good passing team, as well as it did against KU," he added.

In commenting on the game with KU, Bus said he would have settled for a one-point win on Friday, "but the breaks kept coming our way in the game as they did for Oklahoma the Saturday before when they played Kansas State." He added that he was glad the Cats didn't have to play KU again this season.

On Monday before the game with KU a sign was put up in the K-State locker room to remind the team of how much time was left before the game. This was continued throughout the week until just ten minutes before game time when the sign was again put up indicating there was 10 minutes left before the encounter. This was done to remind the boys they must not let down, he said.

"We used about the same plays against KU as we have used all season, in fact I think we even ran less plays against them than we had in some other games," Mertes said.

"The only new play we tried against KU was the fake field goal attempt, and they had that play pretty well stymied," he added.

When asked what he thought about Oklahoma being rated number one in the nation, Bus said that all teams have their ups and downs and Oklahoma has had some this season, but they have the man power to make up for what ever lapse they have.

SCHULTZ IS A MANY SPLENDORED THING

Beppo Schultz, boulevardier, raconteur, connoisseur, sportsman, bon vivant, haff fellow well met—in short, typical American college man—smokes today's new Philip Morris Cigarettes. "Why do you smoke today's new Philip Morris Cigarettes, hey?" a friend recently asked Beppo Schultz.

"I smoke today's new Philip Morris Cigarettes," replied Beppo, looking up from his 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car, "because they are new."

"New?" said the friend. "What do you mean—new?"

"I mean modern—up-to-date—designed for today's easier, breezier living," said Beppo.

"Like this 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?" asked the friend.

"Exactly," said Beppo.

"She's a beauty," said the friend, looking admiringly at the car. "How long have you had her?"

"It's a male," said Beppo.

"Sorry," said the friend. "How long have you had him?"

"About a year," said Beppo.

"Have you done a lot of work on him?" asked the friend.

"Oh, have I not!" cried Beppo. "I have replaced the pushrods and rockers with a Rootes-type supercharger. I have replaced the torque with a synchromesh. I have replaced the tachometer with a double side draft carburetor."

"Gracious!" exclaimed the friend.

"I have replaced the hood with a bonnet," said Beppo.

"Land o' Goshen!" exclaimed the friend.

"I have replaced the gasoline with petrol," said Beppo.

"Crim-a-nentlies!" said the friend.

"And I have put gloves in the glove compartment," said Beppo.

"My, you have been the busy one!" said the friend. "You must be exhausted."

"Maybe a trifle," said Beppo with a brave little smile.

"Do you know what I do when I'm tired?" asked the friend.

"Light a Philip Morris?" Beppo ventured.

"Oh, pshaw, you guessed!" said the friend, pouting.

"But it was easy!" cried Beppo, laughing silverly. "When the eyelids droop and the musculature sags and the psyche is depleted, what is more natural than to perk up with today's Philip Morris in the red, white and gold package?"

"A bright new smoke in a bright new pack!" proclaimed the friend, his young eyes glistening with tears.

"Changed to keep pace with today's changing world!" declared Beppo, whirling his arms in concentric circles. "A gentler, more relaxing cigarette for a sunnier age, an age of greater leisure and broader vistas and more beckoning horizons!"

Now, tired but happy, Beppo and his friend lit Philip Morris and smoked for a time in deep, silent contentment. At length the friend spoke. "Yes, sir," he said, "he certainly is a beauty."

"You mean my 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?" asked Beppo.

"Yes," said the friend. "How fast will he go?"

"Well, I don't rightly know," said Beppo. "I can't find the starter."

program can advance

your career.

For interview see your Placement

Officer.

Activities at the California Division of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation cover virtually every phase of aeronautical endeavor. A total of 45 major projects is in progress.

The expanding development and production program has already resulted in 13 models of aircraft now on production lines—huge airliners, commercial and military cargo transports, extremely high-speed fighters, jet trainers, radar search planes and patrol bombers.

Development projects are even more diversified, include nuclear applications to aircraft, turbo-prop and jet transports, advanced versions of vertical-rising aircraft and a number of other significant classified projects.

This capacity to develop and produce such a wide range of aircraft is important to career-conscious engineers. It means more scope for your ability, more opportunity for promotion with so many projects constantly in motion, more job security—because your career is not restricted to one type of plane.

No Class Thursday During Dedication

Classes at 2 p.m. will be dismissed Thursday so students may attend the dedication of the feed technology wing and rear Benjamin F. Fairless speak, Dean A. L. Pugsley said today.

Laboratory classes will remain in session unless dismissed by the individual instructors. The 3 o'clock classes will meet, he said.

Fairless is chairman of the executive advisory committee of the board of directors, U. S. Steel corporation. He will speak on "Industry, Agriculture and Education—A Three-Way Relationship."

Fairless is the son of an Ohio coal miner and taught school to earn his way through college. He started his career as a civil engineer in 1913.

Fairless became president and general manager of Central Alloy Steel in 1928. He was president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel in 1935, and was president and chairman of the executive board of U. S. Steel corporation by 1938.

He retired from the executive board last May, but he still is a member of the board of directors, the finance committee, and the newly-formed committee of board of directors.

Fairless will arrive in Manhattan Thursday morning on a special train from Kansas City carrying approximately 350 representatives of the feed industry and allied trades, John Shellenberger, head of the department of flour and feed milling industries, said.

Speech Quartet To Present Papa Is All' Tonight at 8

The reading quartet of the speech department will present a comedy "Papa Is All" in G 206 at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Reading the roles are Annalou Shaw, Sp Sr, as Mama Aukamp; Bill Patterson, Sp Soph, as Papa Aukamp; Jim Hollis, Sp Jr, as their son; and Nancy Porter, Sp Soph, as their daughter. Paterson will also serve as narrator and will read the role of the policeman in addition. "Papa Is All" is the story of a Pennsylvania Dutch family under the rule of a tyrannical father. Papa Aukamp uses the Mennonite traditions to prevent his family from enjoying the simple pleasures and recreations of everyday life. Mama Aukamp disagrees with her husband and a comical situation results as the family tries to get out from under Papa's thumb. The performance will be given one night only.

Rifle Team Wins Match By Default

K-State's rifle team, composed of air force and army ROTC members, recently won a match by default with Michigan State college.

Kenneth R. Veraska, ME Soph; Richard D. Bair, DH Jr; and Thurston E. Banks, ChE Fr, fired for K-State.

Capt. Richard L. Dineley, Jr., assistant professor of military science and tactics said, "Michigan State failed to satisfactorily complete all stages of their firing, but our score was 1,901 points out of a possible 2,000, which would ordinarily be high enough to win almost any match anyway."

Veraska has turned in the highest practice scores of the team for the past two weeks, said Dineley. Bair rates second in practice scoring. Other high scoring members of the team are Warren A. Sanger, AgE Soph; Larry E. Lowe, Geo. Jr; Lorance C. Blume, BA Fr; Stanley L. Stokes, ME Fr; Lev-aun C. Hall, EE Fr; J. Darrell Arnold, AgE Fr; and John A. Hodges, EE Sr.

Pretty Platter-Picker Plans Discs for Dee Jay Shows

By ORVAL JACKSON

Karen Chapman, Sp Jr, from Oakley is in the not-so-enviable position of trying to please everyone all the time.

Karen is head of the KSDB-FM music department and decides what records will be played on the station's disc-jockey shows.

"This is not always as much fun as it sounds because there are many things to be considered in handling the job," she said.

One of the difficulties is determining the style of music appropriate for each program. Another is listener interest, Karen said.

A file is kept of all record programs, listing records played on each show. Preparing for a record program, Karen checks this file to make sure that records played the day before won't be repeated.

"In this way a more balanced presentation of music is achieved," Karen said.

Records arriving at KSDB-FM are cataloged and filed in a music room. This is part of Karen's everyday job.

Karen is responsible for music played on, "The Dinner Show," "Stacks of Wax," "The Safety Show," and "The Classical Concert."

On Saturday, Karen tells children's stories on "Karen's Kid-die Korner."

She is a member of Kappa Phi, Methodist girls' sorority, and plays clarinet in the K-State Band.

Coed Spends Summer Touring Europe, Gets 4 Hours Credit

By MARY FABIN

Four hours of college credit for spending two months touring Europe sounds like a good deal, doesn't it?

That's exactly what Shirley Deters, HEB Sr, did this summer.

Shirley, along with former K-Stater Cynthia Collingwood, returned to Kansas this fall after touring Scotland, England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and France with a group of U.S. college students.

It all started last December when Shirley noticed a series of guided tours, including college credit, advertised in Holiday magazine.

She and Cynthia wrote to Berry Tours in Kansas City, Mo. They were given a general knowledge test, and were included in a group of 20 U.S. students who qualified for the tour.

The tour paid none of their expenses, Shirley said. But, in addition to the college credit, the tour was more complete than most tours, she added.

The girls flew to New York, spent four days there, then sailed for England June 7 from Montreal, Canada. Shirley said she didn't become seasick, and the trip to England was a pleasant one.

Landing in England June 13, the group had a week on its own before the tour was to start—so the students decided on a side trip to Scotland.

In Scotland, the girls traveled through the countryside where Robert Burns is said to have composed most of his poetry. Other highlights were a visit to tweed-manufacturing and cashmere-processing plants, and a visit to Edinborough castle.

Returning to England, the students began a tour of that country. They visited Stratford-on-Avon, home of William Shakespeare; saw Macbeth performed by Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh; visited Buckingham palace, where they saw Prince Charles; visited Westminster abbey; and saw Parliament in session.

Crossing the English channel, they went by bus through the Continent. They saw cheese factories in Holland and lace mills in Belgium, then went on to Germany.

In Germany, the group visited Heidelberg, attended a wine festival at Koblenz, and made tours through several castles. Shirley said the main parts of most German towns still show the effects of World War II.

While in Switzerland the group went up Jungfrau mountain in a cable car, and went through a watch factory.

The next stop was Italy, the only country where the weather was really warm, Shirley said. The students toured art museums in Florence and Venice, and made a trip down Venice canals in a gondola.

Pope Pius XII blessed the members of the tour in a special audience at the Vatican. The students also saw St. Peter's cathedral.

"To me, the most impressive sight in Rome was the Roman Coliseum in the moonlight," Shirley said. "Climbing the tower at Pisa also was extremely interesting."

Last stop on the tour was France. The French Riviera is a district of luxurious resort life, Shirley said. She also saw the gambling houses at Monte Carlo.

In Paris, the group saw some of the world's greatest paintings in the Louvre.

"The Eiffel tower and Pigalle, Versailles, the River Seine, and the many sidewalk cafes make Paris a fascinating city," Shirley said.

Docking in Montreal August 22, Shirley toured Washington, D.C., then arrived home two days before school started.

"The entire trip was well worth the cost. I hope to tour some of the places again someday," Shirley said.

Staters May Apply Now For Danforth Fellowships

Dr. Earl E. Edgar, head of the department of general studies, will receive applications for Danforth Fellowships, President James A. McCain said.

Dr. Edgar will screen applications and pass on his nominations to the Danforth foundation.

The fellowships are available to applicants from the fields of natural and biological sciences, social sciences, humanities and all field of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college, Edgar said.

The Danforth foundation, an educational trust fund in St. Louis, gives financial aid to students who are preparing for a career of college teaching and who are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1956, Edgar said.

The qualifications of the candidates are outstanding academic ability, personality, integrity, and character, he said.

All applications, including recommendations, must be completed by February 15, 1956, Edgar said.

Any junior, especially in EE or ME, interested in doing scientific research next summer, should inquire at the placement bureau or at the departments of electrical or mechanical engineering.

Summer employment is offered by the board of federal civil service examiners for scientific and technical personnel of the Potomac River Naval command. Employment will be in the vicinity of Washington, D. C.

Tests are required since this is a civil service project, said William Eddy, graduate assistant at the placement bureau. The first test for student trainees is scheduled for December 5. Applications must be made November 15 at the latest.

Summer employment opportunities at the Laboratory are open to approximately 100 graduate students majoring in various physical sciences, and undergraduates receiving their degrees next June who intend to continue their advance studies.

The program provides for well-paid summer work with renowned scientists in one of the nation's most important and finest equipped research laboratories.

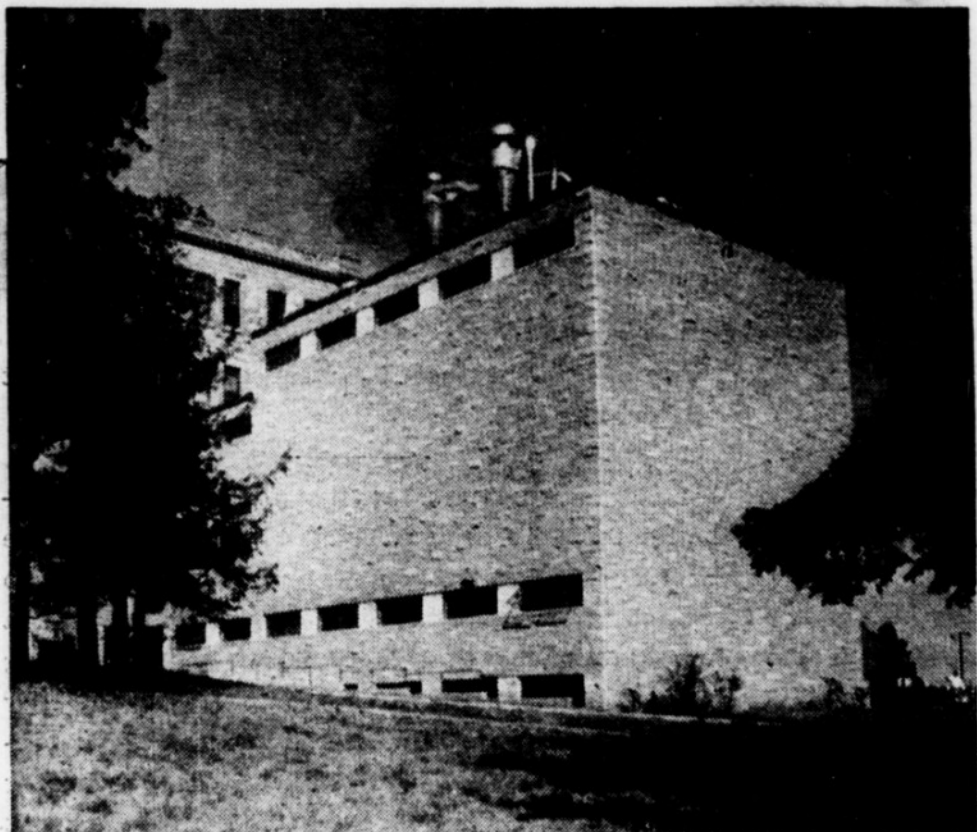

Summer employees will become familiar with several phases of vital scientific research and development activity related as closely as possible to the individual's field of interest. This experience will enable students to appraise the advantages of a possible career at the Laboratory.

In addition to interesting work, employees will enjoy delightful daytime temperatures and blanket-cool nights in a timbered, mountainous area, only 35 miles from historic old Santa Fe.

Interested students should make immediate inquiry. Completed applications must be received by the Laboratory not later than February 1, 1956, in order to allow time for necessary security clearance. Applicants must be U.S. citizens.

Debate Tourney Here Saturday

Fourteen K-Staters will compete in the eighth annual novice debate tournament to be held on the campus Saturday, Caroline Drummond, tournament director announced today.

There will be 25 schools from 5 states competing in the tourney. There will be four rounds of debate with each team competing in every round. All contestants must be beginning debaters with no previous intercollegiate experience, Miss Drummond said.

Kansas State debaters are Dave Nuttle, AH Soph, Larry McDonald, ME Soph, Dan Hahn, Ar 01, Kay Eplee, Clo Fr, Ron Buchanan, ME SP, Larry Meadows, PrL Fr, Cliff Gordon, PrL Sr, John Neff, Gov Sr, Dennis Darnier, Sp Jr, and Nancy Porter, Sp Soph.

Also Dale Livengood, Sp Jr, Betsey Thomasson, Sp Jr, Cal Adams, AgE Soph, and Bob Paulson, ChE Fr.

Students assisting in the operation of the tournament are Tom Bowman, ChE Soph, Gerry Day, VM Sr, Verdel Wilson, Sp Gr, Ray North, PrL Soph, Bunny Cowan, Pys Soph, and Denny Joy, EEEd Jr. Topic for debate will be: "Resolved: That the non-agricultural industries of the United States should guarantee their employees an annual wage."

Registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m. Saturday in Eisenhower Hall. The first round of debate will start at 9 a.m. with the last round concluding at 4:15 p.m.

Out-of-state schools which have entered either one or two 4-men teams are Ouachita college, Arkadelphia, Ark.; Hastings college, Hastings, Nebr.; Nebraska Wesleyan, Lincoln, Nebr.; Creighton university, Omaha, Nebr.; Panhandle A&M college, Goodwell, Okla.; Oklahoma A&M college, Stillwater, Okla.; and Washington university, St. Louis.

Also Southwest Missouri State college, Springfield, Mo.; Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg, Mo.; William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo.; and William Woods college, Fulton, Mo.

Kansas schools participating are Garden City and Hutchinson Junior colleges, College of Emporia, McPherson college, Kansas university, Southwestern college of Winfield, Kansas State Teachers college of Emporia, Kansas State Teachers college of Pittsburg, Fort Hays State college, Ottawa university, Bethel college, and Kansas State.

'Papa Is All' To Be Given Tonight at 8

The reading quartet of the speech department will present a comedy "Papa Is All" in G 206 at 8 p.m. tonight.

Reading the roles are Anna-lou Shaw, Sp Sr, as Mama Aukamp; Bill Patterson, Sp Soph, as Papa Aukamp; Jim Hollis, Sp Jr, as their son; and Nancy Porter, Sp Soph, as their daughter.

Patterson will also serve as narrator and will read the role of the policeman in addition.

"Papa Is All" is the story of a Pennsylvania Dutch family under the rule of a tyrannical father. Papa Aukamp uses the Mennonite traditions to prevent his family from enjoying the simple pleasures and recreations of everyday life.

Mama Aukamp disagrees with her husband and a comical situation results as the family tries to get out from under Papa's thumb.

Big Game Display Placed in Museum

A display of heads of North American and African big game animals has been placed in the museum.

The collection includes 18 heads and several pairs of horns and antlers. "The collection consists of nearly all of the North American horned animals and some of the dozens of representatives of the African types," said E. H. Herick, professor in the zoology department who erected the display.

Most of the heads were donated by Mrs. A. M. Collins of Fort Collins, Colo., from her late husband's collection.

Fairless, Industrialists Arrive On Train Today at 11 a.m.

Benjamin F. Fairless, featured speaker at the dedication of the new Feed Technology building this afternoon at 2 p.m., arrived in Manhattan this morning by special train. Approximately 350 members of the feed and allied industries accompanied Mr. Fairless. Mr. Fairless is chairman of the Executive Advisory committee of United States Steel. After boarding several buses the group proceeded to the campus for an inspection of the Feed Technology building and equipment.

After the inspection, in which Mr. Fairless officially set the milling equipment into operation the assemblage went to Nichols gymnasium for a barbecued beef luncheon prepared by Professor David Mackintosh of the Animal Husbandry department.

Many prominent leaders in industry, agriculture, education, and government have arrived at K-State to attend the dedication ceremonies. Many of the guests include those that were attending the Midwest Feed Manufacturing school at Kansas City.

Out of town guests who will participate in the dedication ceremonies this afternoon are B. D. Eddie, president of the Superior Feed Mills of Oklahoma City and chairman of the Feed Technology Advisory committee, who will make the building presentation; George Andrews of Kanopolis, president of the Kansas Livestock association; and Maurice Johnson, Kansas City, vice-president, Staley Milling company.

Much of the open house and dedication activities will be filmed and used in a formula feed industry documentary film to be distributed widely over the nation in coming months.

President McCain greets Benjamin F. Fairless

The deadline for Royal Purple photo receipts is today at 5 p.m., Sam Logan, Royal Purple editor, said.

The original deadline was extended because of the number of persons wanting pictures in this year's annual, Logan said.

Photo receipts are available in K 103 A.

Feed Activities To Be Filmed

Three movie cameras will be used to film the highlights of the feed technology dedication tomorrow, according to Ken Thomas, director of KSAC.

"The camera will start grinding on the train that brings the speakers and others to Kansas State, and will film most of the day's activities," Thomas said.

The film will be used on TV shows in the future, according to Thomas.

KS Housemothers Attend Meeting

Dean Helen Moore, along with 26 housemothers from fraternities, sororities, and residence halls at K-State, was in Lawrence Tuesday, November 8 for a housemother's workshop.

Two sessions were held on the Kansas university campus. Chief speaker was the associate dean of students at Chicago university. Chief topics discussed were "The Student with Problems," and "Knowledge Behind Kindness." The workshop was held in the Student Union at KU.

This Is 'Putty Tat' Week

By DON MARKER

If you see a cat (four-legged variety) around the campus this week, instead of booting him pick him up and carry him as far as you're going.

Why? The week of November 6 through 12 is National Cat Week, of course. This is the week you can show an extra bit of kindness to a few of the ten and one-half million cats in America that are homeless, ill, and often abused.

Cat week is sponsored by the American Feline Society, Inc. This society has 141 member societies throughout the United States and in 13 foreign countries. There is no local chapter, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

A Manhattan zoo official says that cats make wonderful pets. "There is hardly anything that will set off a home better than a gorgeous silky-haired Persian, he said.

Cats honored this week—even the alley variety

Seniors Should Go To Meeting Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 the senior class will meet in King Lecture hall in Willard to decide whether or not to leave a senior gift to the school.

Last year the senior class officers added 15 per cent on to the cost of senior announcements for a senior gift. This was done without consulting the senior class. So, seniors paid 15 per cent extra for announcements and didn't even know it. Money collected by that fashion, about $250, went to help furnish the new Student Union.

It's okay for 15 per cent to be added on to the cost of invitations for a senior gift—if the seniors have a say in the matter. Tonight they'll decide if they want to leave a gift or not, what kind of a gift, and methods of raising money.

George Atkeson, senior class president, said "the meeting tonight is to get senior feeling on the matter. If they want to leave a gift, we'll make plans, and if they don't want to leave a gift, we'll forget it."

Probably only a few seniors will show up tonight, but every senior should be there to voice his opinion about leaving a gift.

Reds Expected To Filibuster At Big Four

Geneva, (U.P.)—The West braced itself for a new Soviet filibuster on disarmament today and agreed to send the whole issue back to the United Nations at the earliest opportunity.

The foreign ministers conference, bogged down and deadlocked on the liked issues of German unity and European security, plunged without hope into debate on disarmament at the 10th plenary session. It was a question on which East and West have failed for 10 years to agree.

The three Western foreign ministers and their top aides met beforehand in a last-minute effort to patch together something like a united front on disarmament—a question on which they themselves never have attained unity.

Informed Western officials said they agreed to:

1. Press the Soviets for a reply to existing Western disarmament plans.
2. Put forward no new Western proposals at the present conference.
3. Urge that the whole disarmament issue be turned back to the United Nations subcommittee which has been working on it for months.

KS Senior Coeds!! Go to CU; No Hours—Girls Carry Keys

By Ann Weathers

Flash!!

Senior women at the University of Colorado are free to stay out as late as they wish this year. Door keys are given to each senior, and all she has to do is sign out her time and (heh, heh) her destination.

The CU dean of women believes that senior girls are mature enough to be trusted with the new privilege. University officials said that by the time a woman is a senior, she is capable of accepting the responsibility and it is good preparation for the independent life after graduation.

Bully for them!! Pampered K-State coeds are going to need someone to mother them until they are made to feel able to take care of themselves.

rendered the mascot because, as one said, "It smelled like hell."

Compulsory ROTC at the University of California is again under attack by members of the Young Socialist league who are attempting to abolish it on the campus. Seems they've found a loop-hole saying that there is no law compelling the regents to make ROTC compulsory. All they are required to do is offer the courses. This provision is true of all land-grant colleges, according to the league. Wonder what they have against ROTC? It's a wonderful way to fill up all those extra hours in the day, instead of squandering them at Kite's.

At Davis and Elkins college, cuts have been abolished. Now students must pay for each over-cut. Sophomores and upperclassmen have to fork over a fine of $1 for the privilege of cutting and freshmen aren't allowed any over-cuts at all. I know teachers are underpaid, but really . . . . .!!

Baylor university's mascot, a bear cub, was swiped just before a game by University of Texas students much as Touchdown IV was, and caused just as much trouble to its abductors as our Wildcat. The main trouble was not so much what to feed the cub—it settled for sardines and steak—as where to keep it. UT students finally sur-

KS Tribunal Meetings Should Be Open to Collegian Reporter

Dear Editor:

According to Charles A. Jacot, assistant dean of students, the Tribunal meeting held yesterday afternoon was a general "get-acquainted" and picture-taking meeting, and would not be a business meeting.

This reporter was sent to cover that meeting, but I was told that the meeting was closed to reporters and the public, since nothing of news interest was happening.

My question is, does the Tribunal, or any other governing board on this campus making decisions concerning the student body, have the right to decide what may or may not be newsworthy?

I realize that the Tribunal has every right to close its meetings if something is being discussed that doesn't concern the general student body, or if it is something that shouldn't be released until a later time, but why refuse admittance to a reporter if nothing confidential is being discussed?

Why should the Tribunal, which supposedly works in behalf of the students, by punishing those who do not follow the rules set up by the college, be allowed to refuse admittance to a reporter covering their meetings in behalf of the students.

I myself have been before the Tribunal for traffic violations, but I still have felt that it was a fairly-well-run organization, because they gave me a chance to prove my innocence, which I could not do.

After yesterday though, I have had a change of heart, and I consider the Tribunal a basically well-organized board, but one that has taken it into its own hands to decide what the students have the right to be informed of.

In other words, if the Tribunal was just having a bull-session yesterday, why keep it a secret?

Why Not School Holiday Friday?

Dear Editor:

As loyal veterans who are attending KSC, we would like to know why November 11 is not observed as a holiday by KSC.

President Eisenhower recently signed a proclamation which established November 11 as a day of commemoration for those men who valiantly served their country, so peace, once more, would prevail throughout the world.

Science Conference Here This Saturday

Kansas State college's fourth annual conference for teachers and students of chemistry and allied sciences, designed to stimulate among high school students an interest in the physical sciences, opens at 9:30 Saturday morning.

The day-long program includes talks on career opportunities, counseling advice, and laboratory exhibits and demonstrations emphasizing the kind of work scientists do and the kinds of things scientists use.

High school students and their teachers from throughout the state have been invited to attend the special event, which is sponsored by the K-State departments of chemistry, physics, feed and flour milling, and chemical engineering.

Teachers and students will register at Willard hall from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. when the program gets underway with an opening address by President James A. McCain.

The visiting students and teachers will have an opportunity to inspect laboratories and numerous scientific exhibits which have been prepared to whet their interest in science, and to give them ideas for science projects for the classroom and for the science fairs.

In the afternoon there will be separate sessions for the teachers and for high school students. While the students are seeing demonstrations on uses and properties of liquid air and of winning science fair projects, the teachers will be discussing, among themselves, their common problems.

Scout Exec Here Friday For Meeting

J. H. Browne, National Boy Scout executive, will be on campus November 11-12 to meet with directors of placement bureaus from Kansas colleges and universities, to discuss the personnel needs for executive personnel in the Boy Scouts of America.

President McCain, Laurence A. (Moon) Mullins, director of athletics, and Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of the journalism department, are members of the Regional executive committee of the Boy Scouts, and are co-ordinating this scout conference on campus.

Low Scores in IM Basketball Games

Intramural basketball went into its second night last night as a full slate of nine games was played.

The Gammas squeezed by Acropolis 11-10 in the closest game of the evening. Darrell Wallingford was high point man for the Gammas with six points. In other 6:45 games, the Hillbillies beat the Jumpin' Jacks 34-20, and the Jr. AVMA lost to the Highlanders 13-21.

In a 7:30 game, the Rho Alphas stomped the YMCA 29-12. Daune Engle starred for the winners, scoring eight points. George Griegh and Emery Corbett were high scorers for the YMCA with four points apiece.

In other 7:30 games, the Pawnee Riders bowed to the KC Athletics 19-29, and the High Plains Leaguers won 17-13 over the Wesley Foundation.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon beat Sigma Chi 27-20 in fraternity division play last night. Bill Sinderon lead the Sig Alphas with six points and Norvin Stunkel was high point for Sigma Chi with six point.

Other fraternity scores were Pi Kappa Alpha over the Farm House 26-14, and Delta Tau Delta gained a 19-12 decision over Beta Sigma Psi.

Today's 6:45 schedule includes: Kappa Sigma against Phi Kappa Tau on the west court, Acacia against Delta Sigma Phi on the center court, and Lambda Chi Alpha against Sigma Nu on the east court.

The 7:30 schedule includes: Alpha Tau Omega against the 1834 Club on the west court, Beta Theta Pi against Tau Kappa Epsilon on the center court, and Phi Delta Theta against Phi Kappa on the east court.

The 8:25 schedule includes: Theta Xi against Alpha Kappa Lambda on the west court, La Citadel against the Jones Boys on the center court, and the 69ers against DSF on the east court.

Cagers Stress Fundamentals, Offense Drills

Basketball practice moved into its second week with Coach Tex Winter sending his charges through individual defensive drills and team offensive practice.

The Wildcats are experimenting on a new offense designed for the widened free-throw lane. The width of the lane for college and AAU play was changed from six feet to twelve feet this year. This will necessitate some changes in the Wildcats basic offense, according to Winter.

The Cats are continuing to work on individual fundamentals in addition to team drills. Winter believes that fundamentals are all-important and is spending a great deal of time on them.

"To date we are well satisfied with the progress of practice," Winter said. "Considering we have 12 sophomores with little experience, we are looking very good," he said.

Mather Disappointed In His Second Unit

By UNITED PRESS
A scrimmage to "decide who wanted to hit and who didn't" highlighted grid drills at the University of Kansas yesterday.

Coach Chuck Mather expressed disappointment with the second unit, but was pleased with the showing of the first string. It was the first full scrimmage in two weeks for the injury-plagued Jayhawks.

In reference to Saturday's game with Oklahoma A&M, Mather said, "In this game of football, mental attitude means a great deal. If any team is wild, you'll have a hard afternoon."

Play polishing and kicking drills were on tap for the University of Missouri football team today after Coach Don Faurot concluded the rough work yesterday with a short but brisk scrimmage on both offense and defense.

A squad meeting tomorrow completes training for Saturday's Big Seven contest with Kansas State at Columbia Saturday.

Iowa State Coach Vince Di Francesca avoided contact work yesterday in polishing his team's offense and defense prior to Saturday's encounter with Oklahoma at Norman.

The Cyclone team holds a final, light practice session here today, then boards a plane Friday morning for the trip to Sooner-land.

Di Francesca said fullback Marv Walter is lost for the season with a back injury.

The return of veteran end Leroy Butherus after a three-week layoff with an injured hand failed to compensate for the deficiencies of the fullback position at Nebraska yesterday.

Football hopes rose slightly with the announcement the speedy end would return to duty against Colorado at Lincoln Saturday. But the first three players in the fullback slot were regarded as questionable for the homecoming contest.

Workouts yesterday were devoted to "overall improvement," according to Coach Bill Glassford. He indicated the Huskers will be prepared for "anything."

Passing plays were stressed in a long drill at the University of Oklahoma yesterday.

Coach Bud Wilkinson had quarterback Jimmy Harris and halfback Tommy McDonald doing the bulk of the passing as the Sooners entered the final phase of preparation for the game with underdog Iowa State Saturday.

Hayes Sparkplug Of Wildcat Team

JERRY HAYES, K-State halfback, sweeps the left side of the KU line for a sizeable gain, in K-State's 46-0 victory over KU Saturday.

By ORVAL JACKSON

A K-State halfback who saw little action in the first few games, Jerry Hayes, has been termed a spark plug of the team by coach Bus Mertes.

"Hayes has a lot of fire and a tremendous desire to play," he said. "He also has the ability and puts his heart into his play."

Jerry, a transfer student from El Dorado Junior College, is the shortest man on the Wildcat squad, standing 5-5 and weighing 160 pounds.

"I think being small gives an athlete quite an advantage in football because people have a tendency to underestimate them and the opponents leave them in the open a lot. The small man is able to take advantage of a lot of breaks that the big man never gets," Hayes said.

Hayes, pre-dental junior, has been very effective in proving that there is a place on the gridiron for the small man. He was picked on the all-conference Juco football team last year, and in Saturday's game against Kansas, he was leading ground gainer for the Wildcats. He was also on the receiving end of all three passes that were completed in the game. Hayes accounted for 103 yards gained in the Kansas game.

"We played the game that we have ben capable of all season and the breaks came our way," Jerry said in commenting on the KU game.

Jerry considers the KU game one of the most satisfying ones in which he has played. Upon graduating from junior college, he was trying to decide which college to go to, and was denied a football scholarship at KU, so he enrolled at K-State.

When asked what he thought of the upcoming game with Missouri, Jerry said, "If we play the same brand of ball that we played against Kansas, we will win it."

Jerry also plays baseball and has several years experience playing third base in semi-pro ball. He plans to try out for the K-State varsity team next spring.

Hayes would like to play professional ball when he gets out of college, preferably baseball. However, if it should conflict with his career in dentistry he won't play, he said.

Gym Enthusiasts To Meet Today

All men interested in trying out for either the freshman or varsity gymnastic teams are asked to attend a team meeting to be held today at 4:15 in R 101 (Apparatus room) of Ahearn field house.

Cat Gridders Run Against Tiger Offense

With only one player out of action, the Wildcats, with the freshman squad running the Missouri offensive plays, sharpened their defense in their practice session tonight.

Special emphasis was placed on the defensive measures to be used against the Missouri spread passing game, in preparation for this Saturday's tilt with the Tigers.

George DeBitetto, senior guard, missed the practice and will probably miss the Missouri game. DeBitetto is suffering from a stomach infection.

George Laddish, sophomore end, was out for practice but without pads. He is still ailing from a hip injury.

The only other injuries to the Wildcat squad were confined to a few minor bruises here and there.

Studying Is Sure a Big Chore...

Studying is nothing but strain and duress as well as being a blight on the life of a college students, Charles Gibbens, BA Sr, decides.

His reflections on this situation came after he found he was surrounded by several nine-week tests and he was several chapters behind.

But, as college students often do, the night before the quizzes found him at his desk, happily pounding gobs of material into his brain.

He had no sooner slipped into his lethargic study mood when his roomies surrounded him with the latest copy of Playboy. It seems that they wanted to show him the latest pinup Cutie and to read him a few jokes.

In typical college-boy fashion, he spurns their efforts to amuse him because he is thirsting for knowledge.

The hours and the chapters roll by, and his thoughts are soon far away—about six blocks to be exact—at Kite's.

Finally the temptation is too great and he throws his book and begins to read Playboy.

After awhile, even despite the powerful attraction of Playboy, he gives up the ship and heads for Kite's. Always overjoyed at seeing Charley is Kite, who welcomes him with open arms and a bottle of certain well-known beverage.

"I'M THROUGH," Gibbens says (left) as he gives his book the old heave-ho. Curling comfortably in a chair, he drools as he reads his favorite magazine. "It sure is nice to see you again," Kite Thomas says, as Charley starts across the welcome mat.

Two Jobs Keep Student Busy

Being secretary to a congressman while carrying on a college education makes a full-time program for Arlene Fehlman, Jr. in BA from Wakefield.

Miss Fehlman is the secretary to Congressman William H. Avery of the 1st district of Kansas, and maintains his office in the Riley County court house every afternoon. She was one of four secretaries for Mr. Avery in Washington, D.C., during the first session of the 84th Congress, which met from January 1, to August 1.

Miss Fehlman attended George Washington university in Washington, D.C. "The competition was keen, because the students were interested in what they were doing and wanted to learn," said Miss Fehlman. There were 3,000 day students and 7,000 night students. Most of the students being career people from the downtown offices. One of Miss Fehlman's instructors was the brother of ex-Secretary of State, Dean Acheson.

Miss Fehlman visited many important and interesting places while in Washington. She said she was impressed most by the statue of Iwo Jima, and the Lincoln memorial. She met one of the soldiers who posed for the Iwo Jima statue. She also was able to attend the National Theater, and have dinner with the director following the show.

Miss Fehlman said she never ceased to be amazed at the efficiency of the Washington offices. Many transactions were carried on by telephone, from ordering flowers for the office from the Botanical Gardens, to transferring a long distance phone call to a congressman on the floor of the Senate.

Before leaving Washington, Miss Fehlman saw Vice President Nixon in the Senate Chambers. That same day President Eisenhower was guest speaker at a Republican Secretaries meeting which she attended on the lawn of the White House.

Miss Fehlman was glad to get home from the Washington heat, but she will be glad to go back, and is leaving in February for the second session of the 84th Congress, during which she will again aid Congressman Avery, in Washington, D.C.

Religion May Be Added To AFROTC Program

Religion may be added to the AFROTC system in the near future, according to Major Carl W. McGeehon today when he discussed religious coordination with Warren Rempel, secretary for the K-State YMCA.

Major McGeehon said AFROTC is planning to "instill in the minds of future air force leaders, the fact that religion should play a major part of anyone's makeup."

Plans for the new religious system in AFROTC have not been officially finished, according to Major McGeehon. "So far, though, we think there will be a Group chaplain chosen for each ROTC unit. His job has not been clearly defined yet, but it is thought that he will conduct whatever religious coordination there is to be done," the major said.

Major McGeehon indicated the plan may work in parallel with the existing college religious groups, such as YMCA and the various denominational groups. His visit on campus is but one phase of the overall planning for the new system.

'Feast of Nations' To Be Nov. 18

Food from six different countries will comprise the menu for the Cosmopolitan club's annual Feast of Nations, November 18.

The two main dishes are Bathinjan wa Ruz (Iraq) and Cozido (Brazil). Bathinjan wa Ruz consists of eggplant, beef, and rice. Cozido is Brazilian stew with bananas as one of the unusual ingredients.

Another dish, Fun-cheny tsao wandau, is Chinese, and made of tomatoes and peas.

The salad, Naikai, comes from Hawaii, and the dessert, Sira, from India.

The USA is providing rolls and coffee to complete the meal.

The Feast of Nations will be served in the basement of the First Methodist church at 6:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained for $1.25 each, from Warren Rempel, Executive secretary of the YMCA, Jim Craig at the entomology department, Esther Valdes at the dean of agriculture's office, or Surendra Patel at the mechanical engineering department.

Student Health

Three boys and six girls are patients in the Student Health hospital today. The boys are Tom Arisman, Donald Myers, and Merlin Smith.

The girls are Cynthia Henning, Natalia Johnson, Elizabeth Glace, Virginia Forbes, Marcia Schiefen, and Joan Guyer.

Engineering Open House was begun at K-State in 1917. The first open house feature a parade and demonstration of engineering ability.

Pinnings and Engagements Remain in Social Spotlight

Pinnings

Milner-Graves

Chocolates at the Pi Beta Phi house and cigars at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house announced the pinning of Karen Milner and Jim Graves Thursday, November 3. Karen is a speech sophomore from Belleville. Jim is a business administration junior from Wichita.

Porter-Attwater

The pinning of Nancy Porter and Paul Attwater was announced recently. Nancy is a sophomore in speech and dramatics from Mount Hope and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Paul is a sophomore in pre-law from Wichita and a member of Beta Theta Pi.

Engagements

Nichols-Mendenhall

The engagement of Veon Nichols and Lt. James A. Mendenhall, USMC, was announced Tuesday night, November 8, by the passing of chocolates at the Chi Omega house. Veon is a sophomore from the Panama Canal zone, majoring in psychology. Jim is from Otterville, Mo.

Officers

Pi Beta Phi pledge officers are:

Marcia Boyd, president; Kirsten Peterson, vice-president; Judy Fisher, secretary; Jo Ann Lydick, treasurer; Karen Milner, song leader; Carol Bliss, assistant song leader; Sandra Arnold, social chairman; Janis Broman, scholarship chairman; Dianne Koon, activities chairman; LuAnn Burnette, historian; Carol Schoenfeldt, censor; and Carolyn Eby, IPC delegate.

Parties

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity members are having their annual sister-sweetheart dinner and dance Friday night. The dinner will be held at the chapter house and the dance will be at the country club.

The Chi Omegas were guests of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity members at an hour dance Wednesday, November 2.

The Kappa Deltas and Alpha Kappa Lambdas had an hour dance at the AKL house Thursday night.

Members of Kappa Delta and Alpha Kappa Lambda had an hour dance Thursday.

Pledges

HUGHES

COOPERATIVE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

FOR MASTER OF SCIENCE DEGREES

This program is designed to enable outstanding graduates in Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering or Physics to obtain the Master of Science degree while acquiring experience in an industrial research and development environment. The program is comprised of full-time summer employment at Hughes under the guidance of experienced scientists and engineers, and part-time work at Hughes during the regular school year arranged to permit the student to maintain a half-time university schedule of graduate study.

Tuition, books and fees will be provided by Hughes. The income provided will enable the participant to enjoy a reasonable standard of living while pursuing his advanced studies. Travel allowances will be made to those living outside the area.

Applicants must be able to meet the entrance requirements for graduate study at the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Southern California, or the University of Arizona. Because of the classified nature of the work at Hughes, applicants must be U. S. citizens for whom appropriate security clearance can be obtained. As many as 150 awards will be made.

Application forms and instructions may be obtained by writing to Committee for Graduate Study.

THE HOWARD HUGHES FELLOWSHIPS

IN SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Eligible for these awards are U.S. citizens who have completed one year of graduate work in Engineering or Physics and who can qualify for graduate standing at the California Institute of Technology for study toward the degree of Doctor of Philosophy or post-doctoral work. Each fellowship covers a twelve-month period which includes a ten-week advanced development project carried out during the summer at Hughes Research & Development Laboratories, followed by a full-time program of study and research at California Institute of Technology.

Each appointment provides a cash award of not less than $2,000, a salary of not less than $2,500, plus $1,500 for tuition and research expenses. In case of financial responsibilities that might preclude participation in the program, suitable adjustment may be made. Moving and transportation expenses are provided for those living outside of Southern California.
